PRISON SHOW

evening.

The Oregon state penitentiary syncopators, truly the jazz exponents, caused feet to start tapping the auditorium floor and carried the audience along with their fantastic music. Yet the prison orchestra, under the direction of Fred Williams, showed class in the rendering of the fox trots, marches and waltzes.

"Shadow" Jimmy Valentine, Brinkley and Johnson brought heavy applause by their offerings. The farce comedy in three acts,

When Crime Waves," was the knockout of the evening, and the presentation of the comedy was replete with humor, touching, hilarious and oft time filled with pathos.
