on Friday next week. That the one-act play is a firm deservingly its own place in undisputed. Little theaters and college groups throughout the state are using it extensively.

Three outstanding plays are chosen for presentation next Friday night. These are: "The Rider of Dreams," by Ridgley Torrence; "The Man on the Kerb," by Alfred Sutrow, and "The Four-Fushers" by Kinkeed.

An unusually pleasant meeting of the Capital bridge club was held this mid-week in the Chinese room at the Gray Belle when Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Baker entertained.

Red Carnations with pussy willows were effective in art baskets. Special guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Watson of Portland, Miss Nean West of Portland, Mrs. Charles Ramp, Mrs. Jessie Jones of Gervais, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gillingham. Aside from the hosts Mr. and Mrs. Baker, the club members included Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Olinger, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Locke, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dancy, Dr. and Mrs. L. F. Griffith, Dr. and Mrs. W. Carlton Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Durbin.

Mrs. Charles Ramp and Dr. W. Carlton Smith were winners of the high scores for the evening.

There was a large attendance at the women's society of the First Baptist church yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. J. Mathis, 161 South Fourteenth street. Mrs. O. B. Neptune, president, gave a Bible reading on "The Wise Women of the Bible." Most encouraging reports were read from all departments of the work. Following the reports, an excellent musical program was given. Mrs. W. F. Foster's piano solo, "Kammennol-Ostrow," by Rubinstein, and a second number, "Impromptu," by Carl Moter, were especially enjoyed by those present. A violin solo entitled "Repent Ye," by Scott, was played perfectly by Miss Betty Siddall.

The new officers who were installed by the retiring president, Mrs. A. E. Simpson, with an attractive service were: President, Mrs. Louis Priem; vice president, Mrs. A. P. Van Slyke; secretary, Mrs. James Herren, and treasurer, Mrs. Charles Walker.

Mrs. George M. King entertained at a charming luncheon of the week when Mr. and Mrs. John A. Bush of St. Louis, Mo., were in town. In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Bush, covers were placed for Miss Rose Wolgamott, and Mr. F. L. Wisner of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Gile, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. George M. King. Red tulips centered the table with red candles completing the decorative effect. Oregon grape foliage was used in the living rooms.

An interesting tour of the city was made for the pleasure of the guests after the luncheon.

The Kensington club met on Thursday of this week at the invitation of Mrs. Paul Hauser. A special guest of the day was Mrs. J. A. Krebs. The afternoon was busily spent with sewing. Delightful refreshments were served late in the afternoon, with the following club members present: Mrs. George Griffith, Mrs. F. S. Anunson, Mrs. C. E. Crandall, Mrs. G. S. Pratt, Mrs. Albert C. Smith, Mrs. I. M. Doughton, Mrs. Herbert Hauser, Mrs. N. C. Kafoury, Mrs. George M. King, Mrs. Otto J. Wilson, and the hostess, Mrs. Paul Hauser.

Mrs. Otto J. Wilson will be hostess when the club meets again February 12.

Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatic fraternity on the Willamette university campus, will present with Miss Gladys Kern at the piano. A delightful group of "Rose Songs," with "Four-Leaf Clover," as an encore by Mrs. Earl Pearcy, added much to the musical program. A cleverly given reading, "Aunt Jane," was presented by Mrs. George King, and for an encore "Her First Marketing."

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Theo Turner, Mrs. Earl Gregg, Mrs. Floyd White, Mrs. Ethel Walker and Mrs. A. J. Mathis.

LIONS HEAR NEW DISTRICT LEADER

Frank Neer Tells of Impressions of California Lions During Recent Trip

Addresses by Frank Neer, district governor of the International Lions of Oregon, and Mark McAllister, local Lion, who is a member of the state legislature, were the features of the regular meeting of the Salem den of Lions yesterday at the Marion hotel.

Representative McAllister briefly outlined the major points of the child labor amendment, which is to be acted upon by the Oregon legislature soon. "The act," he stated, "will enable the federal congress to enact legislation regulating child labor in the various states. The main objections were based upon the fact that many people did not want to give congress the power to control such matters."

This enabling act would allow congress to specify legislation which would be of benefit to children in the southern states, where labor conditions, it is stated, are deplorable. It would enable legislation to be passed which would prevent persons under the age of 18 years being employed in hazardous occupations and during long hours of labor.

Oregon has such a law already, declared the speaker, and the benefits resulting therefrom have been shown during the past. The child labor amendment to the constitution is for the betterment of the children of the United States.

Frank Neer, district governor of Oregon for the Lions club, has just returned from a tour of California and the theme of his address was "Lions I Have Met."

"Oregon needs the same spirit of cooperation which is manifested by the Californians," declared the district governor, in commenting upon the activities of Lions clubs in Sacramento, Pasadena and Dunsmuir, Cal. He compared the civic affairs of those cities with the activities of the Oregon clubs. It was his opinion that the Oregonians have a better chance to put things across than the Californians, but that the spirit of working together must be developed.

The Salem Lions went on record as favoring the roll call of the American Red Cross, and have volunteered to enter the field in order to put it across. Committees are to function in plotting the city into districts to solicit the membership for the roll call.

Another motion favored by the local organization was the presenting of a radio program from KGW broadcasting station in cooperation with the Portland Lions club. The date has not been selected but will be announced soon.

Additional Divorce Fee Proposed By Mr. Bennett

An additional fee of 50 cents, in addition to fees prescribed by law, would be required in suits to dissolve marriage contracts under provisions of a bill introduced in the house yesterday by Representative Bennett. Fees so derived will be added to the general fund to pay expenses of the state board of health in the registration of births, deaths and marriages.

The height of impudence is to peek through a keyhole when a man says he is "in conference."

The Fun Shop

MAXSON FOXHALL JUDELL

OH, FOR THE GOOD OLD DAYS!

By Arthur O. Hrice

Backward, turn backward, Oh Time, in your flight, I've got to get a hair cut tonight; Take me again to the old barber shop Where in a chair I could very soon hop. I'm sick and tired of women I see Waiting to get a hair cut before me; I don't like modern shops, they are not right; I want an old-fashioned barber tonight.

Give me the days when the men, old and young, Had an escape from the feminine tongue; Where we found freedom our thoughts to express While we played seven-up, checkers and chess; Where we could gather to cuss and discuss Candidates, politics, wars and such fuss.

That is all changed now, since women have bobbed; Man of his very last sanctum they've robbed. Many's the battle that's been fought and won; Many's the race in the barber shop run; Many elections have been settled here, Waiting our turn in the old barber's chair.

Now the talk's changed to the latest in clothes, How long shall sleeves be and how short the hose; So backward, turn backward, oh Time, in your flight.

Find me an old-fashioned barber tonight!

And the Old Rule Holds True Yet
"Ladies now wear skirts to their knees," said Grandpa. "Yet when I was a boy it was forbidden in good society to even mention a leg."
"It is bad manners to mention 'em now," said his grandson. "Legs should be seen and not heard."

LANGWIDGE
By Kid Boots
Among the things babies are born without is langwidge, so all they can do is cry and laff, generally crying more than they laff, because that the way they can get the most attention.

Dogs haff to be watched at both ends to understand their langwidge, but horses can only move their ears to show wat they are thinking about, and even then they are often the only ones that know.

Among the animals that havent any langwidge are snakes, flies, and oysters.
Sheep maa, goats baa, and cows moo, being how you can tell them in the dark wen its necessary, which it seldom is.

2 or more people cant understand each other if they say different things to each other all at the same time, even if they speak the same langwidge, but ladies often do it enyways.

Eny langwidge sounds too fast if you dont understand it, especially Cheez.

TURNER NEWS

Mrs. England took her junior high pupils to visit the legislature Wednesday. Those assisting the teacher with autos for transportation were A. R. Apple, Mr. Schirmin and C. A. Bear.

Twenty-five of the young people of the Epworth League gathered at the C. A. Bear home Tuesday evening for a social. The hours passed all too swiftly, with games, music and refreshments. All departed saying, "What a splendid time and in just a month we'll have another party."

Mrs. J. F. Lyle returned from Portland Tuesday. The special services held at the Methodist church for three weeks closed Sunday night with a number of additions to the church and a general good feeling in the community.

Miss Avalyn Delzell of OAC will spend the week-end at home. Turner club basketball team lost the game with Salem stars Wednesday night, but won a game

Saturday evening at the state training school.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Heath, Mrs. Guy Chapman and son, and Miss Doris Barnett, all of Portland, spent Sunday with Turner relatives.

The Turner Booster club held a big meeting Tuesday night. Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Bond were Salem visitors Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Small entertained their children and families Sunday.

Mrs. C. Bones celebrated her birthday Sunday with all of her children and their families present who with friends made a gathering of over forty.

S. H. Baker is installing a radio. S. A. and W. T. Riches were Salem visitors Tuesday.

Mrs. F. Delzell will entertain her young people's Sunday school class at her home Saturday evening.

When the old-time business man took a nap he was asleep instead of in conference.

The number of the present Congress doesn't matter. The important question is, who has its number.
