DEFINITE ACTION TO BE TAKEN SOON

Successor to Carl Gregg Doney to Be Selected in April, Is New Plan

New developments concerning the presidency of Willamette university were disclosed at the regular meeting of the board of trustees in Portland this week. The office of president to the university will be left open only until April 1, it was announced, and after that date active steps will be taken towards securing the new executive.

Dr. Carl Gregg Doney, president of the Willamette university was given a year's leave of absence, with the five-year contract that was entered in between himself and the trustees. During the leave of absence in the past months many rumors have developed about the securing of a new president. In the absence of President Doney, Dean George H. Alden, is acting-president of Willamette university.
