THE NEW FRONTIER OF THE SUBSOIL

Too Many Newspapers Are of Tearing Down Rather Than Upbuilding Type

Editor Statesman:— May I offer a word of appreciation for the article published on Slogan page of The Statesman of February 5th, entitled, "The Kind of News That Would Open to the People a Whole New Frontier." As Dr. Morris says, "We can not get along without the press," yet we sometimes wonder if the majority of daily papers are not too full of reading matter of the tearing down rather than the upbuilding type. We like The Statesman. There are not so many glaring headlines of scandal. There is more of the kind of reading that will help us to live better.

—FLORENCE E. GALE NEAL
Turner, Oregon, February 7, 1925. (As the reader will remember, this refers to the article of Dr. Robert T. Morris of New York, showing that if the newspapers of the United States would give a tithe of the space they devote to crime and scandal and other less important news, to the dissemination of development news, the country would be better off—and especially a whole new frontier of the subsoil might be opened up with the growth of the nut industries.—Ed.)

SOME TIMELY FARM REMINDERS

Extra Eggs in Fall More Than Pay Extra Cost of Good Chick in Spring

(Following are paragraphs from a current bulletin of the department of industrial journalism of the Oregon Agricultural college.) Applications of land plaster in March increases the growth of Oregon vetch, says the experiment station. At the rate of 75 pounds an acre it will help out the weak stands of all and spring planted vetch which were damaged by the cold weather last winter. When fertilizers are applied to the normal stand there will be an increase in growth but not so noticeable as when put on the weak or thinner stands.

A chick costing a little more than the average may lay a dozen or two more eggs as a pullet, according to Professor A. G. Lunn, of the Oregon station. One or two eggs in the fall will more than pay this additional cost of the chicks. Bee keepers are urged to see that the entrance to the hives are open so that bees may come out on sunny days, says the Oregon experiment station. By lifting the back end of the hive the beekeeper is enabled to determine by the weight the amount of stores the bees have. The spring rush may be lessened by getting equipment ready for use now.

Application of commercial fertilizers to be most efficient on this grain stands should be made in the early part of March, says the experiment station. A light application of nitrate of soda or sulfate of ammonia—50 to 75 pounds an acre—stimulates stocking of thin stands of small grains in western Oregon.

Automobile Top Ruined By Children at Play

SILVERTON, Or., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Statesman.)—Fire set by children ruined the top of a Ford automobile Monday afternoon. The Silvertown fire department which was called out responded but arrived too late to be of assistance as the fire had been extinguished. Damages were estimated at about $25.
