MINE TRAGEDY EXACTS HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE

disaster were that the explosion occurred when miners either cut into abandoned workings or a slight cave-in opened old workings in which gas had collected, the miners' lamps setting off the gas. The explosion occurred in entires off the main east entry on both sides.

Men who had been in the mine said the explosion seemed to go in gusts, some being suffocated, others horribly burned beyond recognition while others were but slightly burned.

Many were hurled about the rooms and entries. The rescue work was impeded by the gas which was being forced from the workings as rapidly as possible, the mine fan being undamaged by the blast. Fumes of gas escaped from the main shaft as the air was pumped through the mine and two bystanders were overcome.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.—Adv.

HUNDREDS TURNED AWAY FROM SERVICES

ing for some of the older songs and the choruses for some of the new ones. They have a new hymn, just off the press, with 50 of their new songs never before published. In playing the piano score for her husband to sing, Mrs. Demarest pitched it in too high a key. She apologized, saying, "Isn't that humiliating for the composer of a song to do it wrongly? I've always played it from memory, but tonight with the music before me to read, I read it wrongly."

That's the secret of the Demarests' wonderful hold; their genuineness. They actually live their own lives, thinking and saying the things that are themselves with the clean spirit of Christian kindliness to temper every word. Mrs. Demarest preaches that way. There is no ponderous theology that wears one out like carrying a load of stone or pig iron; it is the easiest way, the kindest way, the loveliest way they point out. "Only trust and pray, and leave the issue with the Master," is the substance of their gospel; it was the theme of the sermon last night, with the story of Philip and the Ethiopian pilgrim to whom he was sent to preach the gospel.

"My message tonight is the same as Philip's," said the speaker. "It is the message of belief and of trust and of the blessing that is sure to come. Wealth and power and position and education will not save the world or satisfy the heart; only Jesus can do that."

A number of persons went forward to the altar for the evangelist's help at the close of the service.

As far as there was room, all the wonderful choir that made the 1924 campaign such a success were seated in the choir loft. The Victory Girls, a band of devoted young girls who have been keeping up the home missionary work they started a year ago, were seated in front. Rev. Ward Willis Long introduced the evangelists in a fitting manner, and Miss Eugenia Savage was at the piano.

The Demarests made thousands of friends while here last year, but there wasn't room for more than a fair fraction of them were able to get in to the church to see them at this time. The party may be invited to come back to Salem again this spring for an extended series of meetings.

Dr. Brown to Address Auburn Community Club

The Auburn Community club has arranged for two very special features Friday evening, February 27, at the schoolhouse. Dr. Walter Brown who recently came from the east with a staff of helpers and who will be head of the Marion County Health clinic for the next five years, will have charge of the first part of the evening.

The latter part of the evening will be a radio demonstration and radio concert from radio headquarters in Salem. No admission will be charged, and all are invited.

What a pity that Herrin doesn't hold a disarmament conference of its own.
