MAKE SALEM THE MODEL HOME TOWN
Warren Nurseries Offer "First Aid" Material for the "City Beautiful"

This is "Oregon Mouth." Everybody at all interested in developing Oregon resources and Oregon industries, is putting forth an extra exertion to make it a worth while month. All the big transcontinental railroads entering Oregon are specializing on Oregon products in their dining car service. Their programs and menus are planned to advertise Oregon as widely as possible.

Very appropriately the Statesman takes up as its slogan this week "The City Beautiful." Salem as the state capital, is a city that can not be hid. It is always greeting company and must of necessity be on dress parade with its homes, lawns and grounds.

The Warren Nurseries, with offices in the rear of the Tabernacle, at 655 Ferry street, and whose advertisement appears on this page, is one of the important factors contributing to making Salem the most beautiful city in the world. Nature has provided scenic location of unexampled adaptability. It remains for man to cooperate with the handiwork of nature to accomplish the desired results. The Warren nurseries have selected stock with special view to its adaptability to the purpose of making Salem lawns, grounds and parks of such beauty as to attract the admiration of the thousands of strangers passing through as well as appealing to the home-loving and artistic instincts of those who reside here.

We hope to assist in making Salem so beautiful that every one who sees it will desire to come here for a home and a business perence, the one going into it should do so on a small scale and let the business make itself.

It may seem simple to one on the sidelines to stick a bulb in the ground and let 'er grow, dig it out and sell it. But there are far, far more ramifications to the game than that, as one will discover after a year or two at it.

"Last night I dreamed that I had died."
"What woke you up?"
"The heat, of course."—Chanticleer.

COLORFUL ART IN HOME DECORATION
Gilbert Studio and Craft Shop Meets Demand for High Art in Homes
(By EDWARD T. BARBER)
The modern home is vastly more than a structure to project its occupants from the weather and from public gaze. Every room and nook is made to harmonize in form, color and decorations with the artistic temperaments of the owners. The tendency is towards colorful decorations requiring the skill of experienced interior decorators.
The Gilbert Studio and Craft Shop is prepared to serve Salem homes with the latest and best in this line. In addition to their line of pictures, hammered copper and brass, bridge prizes, etc., they have just received a line of imported pottery from Spanish, Italian and Czechoslovakian artists that will make a strong appeal to Salem's many artistic homes. The Czechoslovakia ware carries out the traditional motifs used by the peasants in their embroidery work. The daisy, the apple, the bleeding heart, the tulip and numerous other symbolic designs were conceived centuries ago by the peasant artists fond of beauty and color.
Utilitarian lines are followed in artistic designs; a colorful pitcher for pouring waffles; tiles for tea pot instead of mats; pen trays, cigar rests and even a decorated bread board.
From Italy comes Deruta pottery and Gubbio lustre ware all appealing to the artistic sense of the user as well as being highly utilitarian.
A visit to the Gilbert Studio will well repay those interested in making the home an artistic expression of individuality.
