

SHOW EXPANSION SPRING SEASON TO

Business Interests Show Favorable Reaction, Dun's Bulletin States

NEW YORK, March 6.—Dun's tomorrow will say:

"After several months of business expansion the chief interest now centers in the probable results during the spring season soon to open. On the whole the outlook is distinctly favorable and prospects for the longer futures have been strengthened by the stress laid on the need of tax reduction in the president's inaugural address. There is a solid basis for further commercial progress this year, wholesome conditions having been maintained since the trade recovery began last autumn and confidence having become firmly established. The absence of a rapid rise of prices, except where special causes have brought about sharp advances, as in the grain markets, is reassuring because there is a strong resistance among consumers to higher prices for commodities. This phase is also being evidenced in primary channels, and in certain quarters a decided easing has recently occurred."

circles as a daring pilot. The fact that he has been for several years an active flier and also that he made his way up from the ranks are believed to have had considerable weight with Secretary Weeks in formulating his recommendation to President Coolidge.

The selection was said to have the approval of Major General Mason M. Patrick, air service chief, and to be satisfactory to Major General John L. Hines, chief of staff, and other high officers of the general staff. It can be said, however, that Mr. Weeks does not know and has not sought to find out what Lieutenant Colonel Fehet thinks about the controverted questions.

STOKES TRIAL BRINGS CLASH OF ATTORNEYS

Stokes left?" Mr. Stokes angrily shouted, "No," although an objection by his attorney was sustained. Judge Gemmill's bombshell then was exploded. "If this line of questioning were to be continued, no matter what the verdict would be, I would have to set it aside," said the court. "The reading of those postal cards has destroyed this case already in my opinion. It was wrong in any court on earth. You could hang any man on evidence like that."

"I am not certain, but what it already reached a point that would make it necessary for me to set aside the verdict."

"Very well, I'll cease that line of questioning," said Mr. Smith. "I'll bet you will," returned the judge sternly. The cross examination was a battle between giants from the outset. Mr. Stokes and Prosecutor Smith, the largest man in the courtroom, belted at each other in excited tones, the aged defendant repeatedly shouting replies after his counsel, C. F. Rathbun, of Chicago, had objected and had been sustained.

Mr. Smith asked if Mr. Stokes' first accusation had not been

M'COLLOUGH SPEAKS BEFORE LIONS DEN

Need for Participating in Community Affairs Pointed Out Friday

"Every person should take a part in the community work, whether he be in some club or Chamber of Commerce. A man is not a good citizen unless he renders service to his community in some manner. In a few words, he is side-stepping his job when he fails to get busy," declared C. B. McCullough, state bridge engineer, at the meeting of the Salem Lions yesterday noon.

"Can a man who is making his living in Salem and who may own property in the city, truthfully say he is a good citizen if he stands aside and permits others to maintain the only organization in the city devoted entirely to community work?" was the query advanced by the speaker.

It was the contention of the speaker that the upbuilding of confidence in the community was the greatest need at the present time.

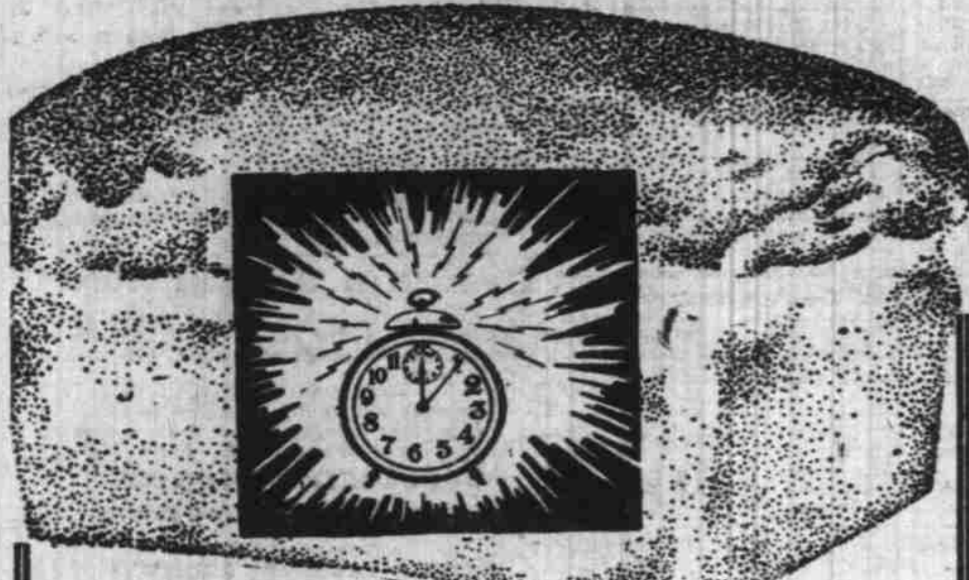

"This very thing can be accomplished by cooperation with civic bodies and with every individual doing his utmost to further himself in the giving of service to humanity," he said.

John Orr, known as the silver-throated sheriff of Polk county, accompanied by his daughter, Charlotte Orr, sang two numbers. The limerick contest, which has been conducted by the Lions club, died a quiet death when the members voted to discontinue the practice. The final prize was given by Les Springer to Dr. W. Mott.

made against Mrs. Stokes just before she was to become a mother. "Never," replied Mr. Stokes over the sustained objections of Rathbun.

"As a favor to me," the defendant said to Judge Gemmill, "let them go ahead. I'm here to be examined. I have nothing to conceal."

Mr. Stokes denied that his Long Island home had been deserted by a tenant because it was unsanitary and unfit to live in. He previously had testified it was an elaborate estate.

GOP COMMAND MAJORITY IN UPPER HOUSE

ject of separate votes in the senate as was done two years ago when a democrat, Smith of South Carolina, finally was made chairman of the powerful interstate commerce committee.

In reorganizing the senate the republicans elected Senator Moses, New Hampshire, president pro tempore, to succeed Senator Cummings of Iowa, who was not a candidate. George A. Sanderson was re-elected secretary and David S. Barry sergeant at arms.

When Senator Moses' name was proposed Senator Robinson of Arizona, the democratic leader, moved to substitute the name of Senator Pittman of Nevada, but the motion was rejected, 36 to 50. Senators Brookhart, Frazier and Ladd voting with the solid republican delegation. Senator Shipstead, Minnesota, the single farmer-labor senator, did not vote, and Senator La Follette was absent.

With the organization of the senate completed, republican leaders will proceed with a program for the special session agreed upon today, which contemplates action first on the nomination of Charles B. Warren to be attorney general, and then consideration of the Isle of Pines and Lausanne treaties.

After those two treaties have been disposed of, an effort may be made to reach an agreement with the leaders to take up the world court proposals unless there is a disposition of senators to force an adjustment by breaking the quorum.

In opening the democratic conference Senator Robinson told his colleagues the minority "should stand by and refrain from participation in clashes among the republicans concerning committee assignments."

He added that the democrats would "do well to let the majority fight out the issue without interference."

The funds that the American War Mothers secure by the sale will be devoted to the relief and use of indigent service men of Marion county. Already the War Mothers have secured accommodations that will provide for a needy veteran, and they plan to do many other things. One outstanding contribution the American War Mothers of Salem have done is the donation of the statue, "Over the Top to Victory," which is now on the Marion county court house lawn.

"Wave" Doesn't Mean Marcel To Girl Who's Radio Expert

Being a Scientist, She Prepares Her Food According to Scientific Standards; Luncheon Salad Recipe

Although a wave does not necessarily mean a Marcel to her, and "reception" is something besides a social gathering, Miss Marguerite Livingston, 24 year old New York radio expert, is nevertheless very feminine and charming, and interested in the things which appeal to most young women.

As service manager of the eastern branch of the Federal Telephone and Telegraph company, Miss Livingston is in charge of the technical adjustments of thousands of federal receivers throughout this territory. However, her friends enthusiastically broadcast the fact that she is also a most excellent cook. As might be expected from a scientist, Miss Livingston prepares her food according to the latest scientific standards, and therefore she frequently uses gelatine in her recipes, since recent scientific research has shown that it is a very valuable aid in the digestion of other foods with which it is combined. Here is her recipe for a quick luncheon salad:

Luncheon Salad
2 tablespoonfuls Gelatine
1 cup cold water
1 1/2 cups boiling water
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup sugar
3 tart apples
1/2 cup Pecan nut meats
1 cup celery, cut in small pieces

Soak gelatine in cold water 10 minutes, and dissolve in boiling water. Add lemon juice and sugar. When mixture begins to stiffen, add apples, cut in small pieces chopped celery and broken nut meats. Turn into mold, first dipped in cold water, and chill. Accompany with mayonnaise dressing. This mixture may be served in cases made from bright red apples. Small pieces of sweet red pepper may be added.

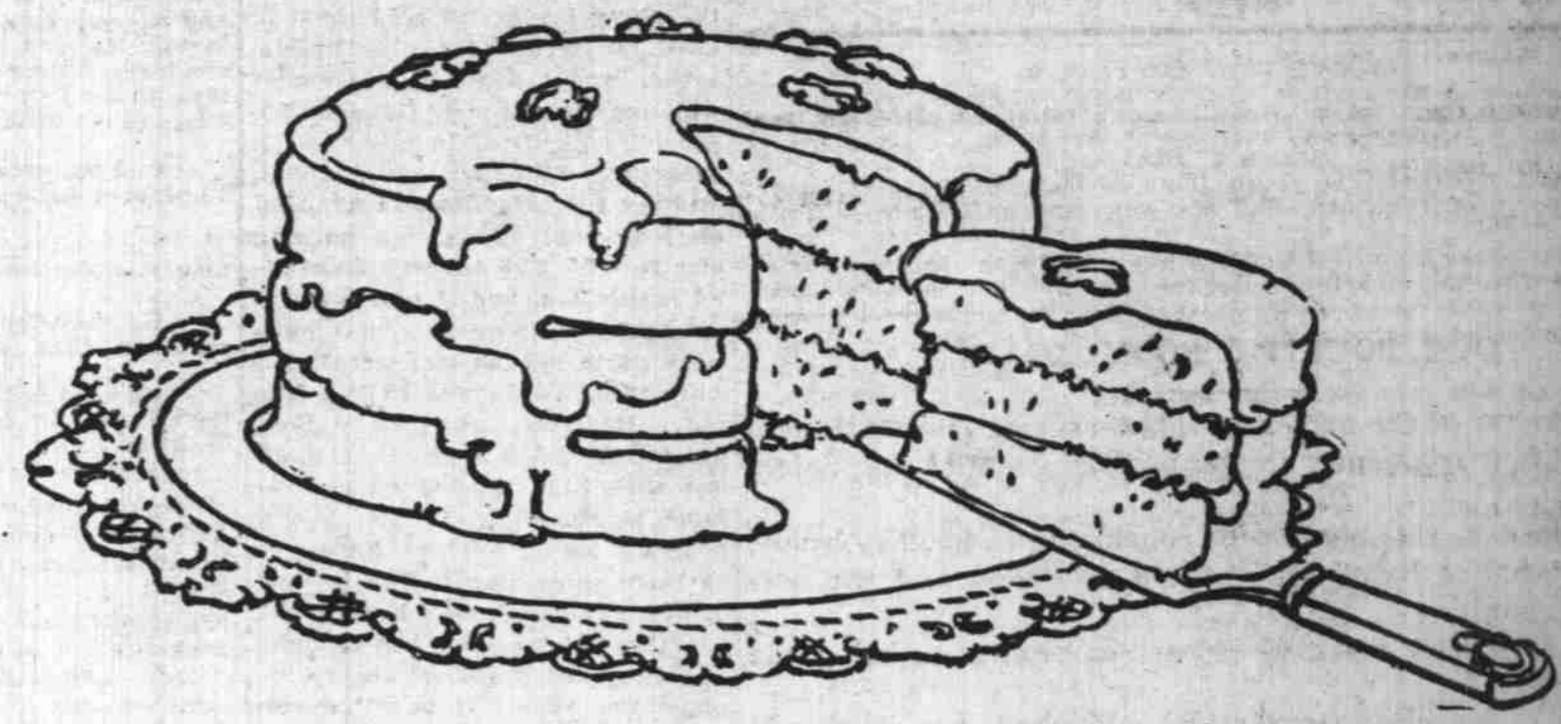

BOY SCOUTS HELP AT P-T MEETING

Silverton High School Auditorium is Packed to Capacity on Thursday

SILVERTON, Ore., March 6.—(Special.)—The largest attended meeting of the Parent-Teachers' circle so far this season was that of Thursday afternoon. The high school auditorium was packed to capacity, many standing who were unable to find seats and others leaving because standing room was at a premium.

Being National Boy Scout week the association enjoyed a visit and demonstration of Boy Scout work by the troop under the leadership of Rev. S. Hall. The boys were in uniform and ably illustrated their work. The boys gave a first aid and life saving demonstration. They also demonstrated knot-tying and code signalling.

Miss Chappell of the Oregon Agricultural college extension department was present and spoke on the Smith-Hughes work. Miss Chappell explained that Smith-Hughes work was useful employment and that the extension division was considering bringing this work to Silverton if enough women were interested. Miss Chappell indicated that most girls went to home making with out any preparation whatsoever and that this was at the root of so many home failures. "No one," she
