

WILLAMETTE TO ENTER IN DEBATE

University Women's Team to Meet Linfield and Albany on Joint Basis

The Willamette university women's debate team will meet the representatives of Linfield college and Albany college in a triangular debate to be held next Tuesday. The question will be, "Resolved, That the Japanese should be admitted to this country on the same basis as the citizens of those countries now allowed a quota."

The Willamette affirmative is composed of Caroline Tallman and Hazel Newhouse, and will meet the Linfield negative team here, while the Willamette negative, Elaine Clower and Elizabeth Fairchild, will go to Albany to meet the affirmative.

RAILROADS HAVE MADE THEIR REPLY ON RATES

60,000 pounds.
"The rates will not be published until there is a showing of tonnage and it is understood that in the event of publication they will expire on December 31st."

Very truly yours,
EDWARD R. MORRIS,
Manager Industries Department,
Portland, Or., March 6.

Quick Action Needed

Mr. Morris writes from the Portland Chamber of Commerce. He is manager of the industries department for that organization. When the matter of raising sugar beets in the Willamette valley in an experimental way, for shipment to Bellingham, was first taken up it was thought a rate of $2.25 per ton might be secured, with the Utah-Idaho Sugar company ready to absorb $1.25 of this, leaving a charge to be borne by the producers of $1 a ton.

The reader will see that the result is not as good as was expected, though it is more favorable for the lower valley; for the Salem district, than for points further south.

If anything is to be done, quick action will be necessary.
More to Be Heard
The matter has been referred to interested parties. It is expected that the authorities of the Oregon Agricultural college will, if they think the rates sufficiently favorable, assist in securing acreage this spring.

The Utah-Idaho Sugar company is building a new factory at Bellingham, Wash.

The idea of getting experimental plots planted in the Willamette valley is partly with a view to establishing a factory or factories here.

On this account it is to be hoped that the freight rates may be considered sufficiently favorable to allow of the program to go forward; to have 750 or more acres in sugar beets here the coming season.

It would seem that many acres might be secured very near to Salem, in a very short time, with the right kind of work.

Those who can do things, do them. Those who can't wave their arms and yell "Whoa!"

Salem Sanitary Milk Co. Adds Guernsey Milk of High Quality to Supply

Announcement is being made in this issue of the Statesman by the Salem Sanitary Milk company that they will be able to supply the people of Salem with high grade Guernsey milk in addition to the supply of Jersey milk they have been furnishing to their patrons.

The supply of Guernsey milk which this company will offer their patrons comes from the Gilbert registered Guernsey herd, east of Salem near Shaw. The milk has a very high test and is especially recommended for infants, invalids and those who desire the greatest amount of food value.

The Gilbert herd is one of the leading herds in the state, containing about 70 registered Guernseys. This herd has a good reputation and is known to be producers of high grade milk.

The Salem Sanitary Milk company is located at 1857 State street and is owned by the Austin Brothers, C. H. Austin being the manager.

New Gold Cure For Tuberculosis

It is not remarkable that gold has been considered since remote antiquity to have curative qualities. Its rarity, its luster and above all its incorruptibility or in modern terms, its resistance to oxidation, make it the perfect metal. Many famous physicians have used gold in the attempt to cure disease.

The theoretical cure of a germ disease is simple. To effect it all we have to do is to find a substance that will kill the germ without killing the patient. Unfortunately, most disease germs cannot be destroyed in the patient's body without endangering the life of the patient. Up to present time these efforts have reached their culmination in the brilliant results secured by Ehrlich and his co-workers in the use of arsenical compounds in syphilis and sleeping sickness. Compounds of antimony, bismuth and silver have also been found to be effective. A very large number of attempts have been made to poison the tubercle bacillus within the human and animal body.

In 1894 the gold cure had a run of popularity. The results were decidedly conflicting in regard to the value of gold as a curative agent, but it was definitely shown that gold compounds have a strongly inhibiting effect upon the growth of the bacillus of tuberculosis in the test tube. The most recent experiments on gold in tuberculosis are those coming from the laboratory of Prof. Holger Moellgaard in Copenhagen. He injects a gold compound which he calls "Sanocrysin," a double salt of gold and sodium thiosulphate. The salt is entirely harmless provided the tissues are healthy, a violent reaction, if they are tubercular. This reaction is a result of liberating large quantities of poison derived from the bacteria following their destruction by the gold salt. To counter-

Private Automobiles in England One to 80 Persons

LONDON, Mar. 7.—England began the year 1925 with nearly 80,000 more private automobiles than were in use a year ago, according to recent announcement of the ministry of transport. This brings the total number of private motor cars to more than 450,000, making one person out of every 80 the owner of an automobile.

At the beginning of 1924 there were 384,000 cars on the road in this country, the proportion being one owner out of every 100 of the population. The increase in the number of cars will, through increased taxes, add approximately $7,000,000 annually to the government's revenues.

France Moves Fast in Collecting War Records

PARIS, Mar. 7.—The historical service of the French war department has beaten all records in the preparation of its first collection of documents relating to the World War. It took the same service 40 years to complete the compilation of the history of the war of 1870; in this case it has done an equal amount of work in about one-tenth the time.

Documents were collected and classified as the war went on, and this work still continues. The documents already fill four floors of the big Babylon barracks in Paris, and General Girard, who directs the work, anticipates that larger quarters will eventually be needed.

this New high grade OPAL Buffet Type RANGE with French Cooking top

The firm that manufactures this splendid range has been designing and manufacturing ranges for Pacific Coast use for over forty years. They know just what the conditions out here are and they build ranges to meet them. They know that a wide, shallow firebox is better adapted to Western fuel than any other type of firebox. This very feature is sufficiently important in itself to recommend it as the range for you to buy.

Note these other "value" Features of the BUFFET Range:

- Body, shelf, and splasher back of "Armco" iron, famous for its rust-resisting qualities.
- Superior porcelain enamel of the most durable quality.
- Sturdy construction. Highest grade cast iron.
- Plain, sanitary design and finish. Heavily nickel-plated parts. No blacking required.
- Duplex grates for wood or coal.

This French cooking top is indeed a desirable feature.

This style of top, universally used in hotel ranges, has advantages that readily adapt itself to home use. Heats quickly and holds more heat than the partitioned top; consequently is more economical. Being very smooth, and with large flat surface, cooking utensils fit snugly to it. Steaks, chops, fish, eggs and hotcakes can be cooked directly on the French top, as in hotels and restaurants, particularly where the home is equipped with a hood. The French top is shown on the accompanying illustration of the Buffet range.

BARMAT REVELATIONS THREATEN 'UPHEAVAL' IN GERMAN POLITICS

BERLIN, Mar. 7.—Germany is paying considerable attention just now to a financial scandal. It is called the Barmat affair, and is casting its shadow over the political life of the country. Some high officials already are involved and nobody knows who next will be dragged into the limelight. Public hearings are being held in an endeavor to ascertain facts, and the trails evidently lead into more than one political camp.

Four brothers of Russian birth, Julius, Solomon, Herschel and Isaac Barmat, came into Germany a few years ago by way of Holland, voyaged for, it is alleged, by the German foreign office and certain prominent politicians. They formed a company to import furs, but gradually branched out into banking, the buying up of paper and artificial silk factories, iron and steel mills, sawmills and pottery works, and various other activities. They prospered exceedingly.

Then some one started an investigation of the Prussian State Bank, one of the oldest financial institutions of Germany, as a result of which it was revealed that the bank had liabilities in excess of its capital and reserve, and that it had loaned large sums without proper collateral. A man named Kutisker was a party to these transactions.

Then almost over night the whole affair was given a new aspect. While Kutisker confessed to his irregularities, it soon developed that there was a concern which had apparently gone in for even wilder financing, the Barmat corporation. Kutisker was presented with an order for his arrest on Christmas day, and the Barmat brothers received similar warrants as a New Year's greeting, their arrest taking place on the afternoon of December 31.

The affiliations and friendship of the Barmat brothers are coming to light. The trail leads to the doors of prominent Socialists; a Communist deputy and a Clerical deputy appear to have been involved, and a cabinet minister resigned under the fire of charges in which the Barmats figured.

Several different investigations already are under way, and the Barmat affair is being made the football of German politics. Charges that the Socialists were on close terms with the Barmats are matched by countercharges that Nationalist officials were so lax in their credit policy that millions of marks were loaned to them even after the Reichsbank had rigidly shut down on credits, and after rumors were current in exchange circles that not all was well with the Barmats.

The investigations include probing into the deals in furs by the Barmats as quasi-official agents of the government; a searching investigation of the terms under which credits were obtained, and an examination of the multifarious undertakings of the four brothers from Russia.

Women Grow Tired of Hues

LONDON, Mar. 7.—A leading West End hairdresser has said recently that hair-dyeing is now one of the most lucrative parts of his trade. Many women are asking for their hair to be dyed white because of the distinguished effect snow-white hair gives the owner. Others are seeking a steely-grey color while others want the "pepper and salt effect"
