

BROTHER OF OREGON CITY BOXER WILL FIGHT WEDNESDAY

'BABE' NOT 'KID' MEETS ROBBINS

"Kid" McCormick Receives Injury That Will Prevent His Appearance

Because of an injury to his back, "Kid" McCormick, 105-pound Oregon City scrapper, will not be able to meet Billy Robbins, of Portland, in the special event at the Armory Wednesday night, it was announced Monday by Matchmaker Plant. Boxing fans are not to be disappointed, however, for Matchmaker Plant has lined up the "Kid's" brother, "Babe" McCormick, some little scrapper himself, to meet the Portland fighter. "Babe" weighs 110 pounds, which is only three pounds more than the fighting weight of Robbins. He has appeared in many fights at Elks' smokers and is as clever as his brother, according to those who have seen him in action.

Johnny Goggins, San Francisco 128-pounder who meets Charlie Dawson, of Eugene, at the same weight in the main 10 round event has a fine string of fights to his credit. Before Sewell Deane came to Salem he met Goggins in Seattle with the result that Deane was floored for the count in the fourth canto. Deane and Dawson fought one draw and in a second meeting Dawson received a decision over Deane. As Goggins administered the K. O. to Deane, the encounter between he and Dawson should be interesting to say the least.

Bill Hunt, the Salem fireman, is ready for his 6-round battle with Chan Butler, of Portland. Hunt outweighs his opponent by nine pounds. Two snappy preliminaries will open the show.

The first bout will begin promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

BEARCAT SPORT MEN REPORTING

Track and Baseball Men Appear for Their First Workout Monday Afternoon

The initial workout of the Willamette university track and baseball squads was held Monday afternoon. Due to the spring vacation a small number of men were out for each sport although most of the men will be back before the end of the week. The men were given a light workout by Coach Guy L. Rathbun and it is not expected that any heavy work will be given before next week.

Three letter men reported for baseball. Buck Towner, veteran catcher; Francis Ellis, star pitcher of last year, and John Fasnacht, third base and utility pitcher. Other players who showed up well in the initial workout were Mast, Herman, Hansen and Zachery.

In track two veterans of last year's squad reported, Aubrey Fletcher, middle distance letterman, and Lee Crawford, distance runner. A large number of men are expected to report during the week, including George Adams, star weight man of last year.

It is too early to know definitely how many veterans will be reporting this year or what caliber the new men will be. Prospects look better, however, than they have for a number of years.

Tails will be held at the Porter school house on March 28. A program has been prepared and refreshments will be served at this meeting.

BASEBALL LEAGUE PLANS PROGRESS

Four Teams Lined Up for Series; Others Are Expected to Join Soon

Interest in the twilight baseball league is becoming keener and already four teams have been lined up for the summer tournament. Those who will participate are the American Legion, winners of the last two series, the Valley Motor company, YMCA and the National Guard.

Both Spauldings and the Bankers had teams in the league last year and while nothing definite has been heard from these, it is believed that they will be represented again this year. There is also some talk of one or two other organizations entering the league this season.

Playing will begin as soon as the evenings are long enough to permit the playing of five or seven innings before dark.

Willamette Debaters to Meet USC Squad Tonight

The second debate of the trip taken by the Willamette University debate squad will be with the University of Southern California, at Los Angeles tonight.

The question will be "Resolved: That Congress should have the power to override the decisions of the Supreme Court declaring Federal Legislation Unconstitutional by a two-thirds vote."

The Willamette men, Charles Redding and Joel Berreman, will uphold the affirmative of the question. This involves the necessity of changing sides of the question from the last debate in which they defeated the College of the Pacific while upholding the negative.

Germany would be bound to agree to such a program, it is believed here, because her admission to the league of nations must be accomplished before that body will undertake the reconsideration of the Polish frontier dispute.

CONDIT FUNERAL TODAY

(Continued from page 1) of the state and later finishing his higher education in the University of Oregon, of which institution he is a graduate with the class of 1884.

In 1891 he was admitted to the bar of the state and has been actively engaged in the law practice at Salem, Oregon, for more than 32 years, being for the past six years associated with Ronald C. Glover in the Oregon building. He has borne a reputation for unquestioned integrity and has an extensive practice in the courts of Oregon as well as the federal courts.

From his youth Mr. Condit had taken an active part in civic, political, educational and religious affairs. He taught school for a number of years and in 1888 was elected to the office of county treasurer of Marion county, Oregon, on the republican ticket, and was re-elected to succeed himself. Later he served as the deputy of the late James G. McCain, then serving as district attorney of the local judicial district, having special relation to criminal work in his home county. He also served as city attorney of Salem for a number of years and on the Salem school board. For a number of years he was active in military affairs, serving as adjutant of the Oregon regiment with the rank of lieutenant.

Mr. Condit possessed a deep and abiding faith in humanity and was active in fraternal and religious work most of his life. Fraternally he was a member of the Independent Order of Oddfellows and of the Woodmen of the World.

As a Christian he was strong in faith and deep heart experiences. He joined the Presbyterian church at Pleasant Grove near Aumsville, in Marion county, Oregon, which is the oldest Presbyterian church west of the Rocky mountains now standing, and of which his grandfather, Philip Condit, was at one time a minister. He has been a consistent member of that church during his entire life, having been for 21 years clerk of the session of the First Presbyterian church at Salem, and being twice honored by election as a delegate from Oregon to the national or general assembly of the church.

Funeral services will be held from the First Presbyterian church at Salem at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon with Rev. Ward Willis Long in charge and interment will be had in the family cemetery at Pleasant Grove, near Aumsville, Oregon. The active pall bearer will be chosen from the Marion County Bar association, the Independent Order of Oddfellows and from the Woodmen of the World, and the honorary pall bearers will be the entire session of the First Presbyterian church, of which decedent was so long a member.

M'CLINTOCK SUIT TO START CLAIMS

Other Court Actions to Follow Attack on Ladd & Tilton Says U'Ren

Filing a complaint of Madge McClintock of California against the Ladd & Tilton bank and other defendants involved in the sale of stock of the King's Food Products company, for the recovery of $5100 invested in the stock, is only the beginning of a series of claims to be filed later by Californians, W. S. U'Ren of Portland, attorney for plaintiff, said.

Grant R. Bennett of San Jose, who is associated with U'Ren in the suits, expects to file the remaining claims for recovery as soon as the various legal skirmishes and objections over the first complaint have been completed. U'Ren said a few of the claims would be filed in federal courts in the California district, but that most of them would be filed in the Multnomah county circuit court.

The complaint filed by U'Ren for Mrs. McClintock names as defendants the Ladd & Tilton bank, S. L. Eddy, Isaac D. Hunt, Cameron Squires, F. N. Clark, E. A. Clark, Mary A. Wittenberg, Mason Wittenberg, Ralph S. Wittenberg, Walter D. Whitcomb, William J. Piepenbrink, the National Commercial company, A. L. Dundas, G. F. Martin, the Multnomah Lumber & Box company, F. A. Douthy, George F. Judd and the King's Food Products company.

The complaint charges sale of the stock in an insolvent concern, the King's Food Products company, and states that through the appearance of the Ladd & Tilton bank, with its financial reputation, stock of the company was made to appear to be of more value than was actually the case.

According to the complaint, the dividend declared by the Delaware corporation of the King's Food Products company in 1921 on the preferred stock was obtained from sale of stock, and not from earnings, and that Mary A. Wittenberg, Mason Wittenberg, Ralph S. Wittenberg, E. A. Clark, F. N. Clark, F. A. Dou, the Multnomah Lumber & Box company, the F. C. Stettler Manufacturing company and the American Lifeograph company waived the dividend.

The complaint alleges that of the $1,000,000 worth of stock sold, none of the money reached the treasury of the Delaware corporation, but went to private owners of stock received in the trade of stock in the Oregon corporation.

It also is alleged that Eddy and Clark represented the Delaware corporation as a going concern to those making inquiries, and used the letterheads of the Ladd & Tilton bank to do so, thereby misleading those who sought to ascertain the true status of the firm's financial standing.
