

GOGGINS MEETS DAWSON AND TAKES JAUNT OVER K. O. ROUTE

BILL HUNT IS ALSO VICTOR

Opponent Floored in Third Round; Only One Event Goes Full Limit

Charley Dawson, Eugene fighter, added another victim to his list last night when he administered a "rabbit punch" to Johnny Goggins, of San Francisco, in the start of the fourth round of the main event at the Army. The fight was Goggins' 65th, a fair proportion of which had been won by the knockout route.

Only one of the five matches went the full scheduled number of rounds and this was the first, a four one-minute event featuring the Watson twins, 71-pound fighters, of Eugene. The bout was refereed by the lads' father and declared a draw.

Big Bill Hunt snapped out of it last night and appeared in excellent physical condition for his battle with Chan Butler, of Portland. Bill got right down to work and took Butler off his feet in the first round. Though not hurt, Butler rested for the full count. Both men showed the strain in the second round and in the opening of the third canto Hunt again felled Butler, who was out for good. Bill managed to come through the encounter without his usual trouble with his nose. Hunt weighed 190 pounds and Butler 181.

In the special event, Babe McCormick, of Oregon City, found too much in Billy Robbins, of Portland, and took the count in the second round. Robbins, the lighter man of the two, was the aggressor as long as the fight lasted. McCormick weighed 110 pounds and Robbins 107. Kid McCormick, the Babe's brother, who was slated to meet Robbins but who was kept out of the ring due to an injury, received while playing baseball, is seeking to restore honors to the family and challenged Robbins for a match in the near future.

Fee-wee Bond, of Eugene, knocked out Jimmy Fenor, of Portland, early in the second round of a four-round preliminary. Bond weighed 110 pounds and Fenor 112 pounds.

Enough challenges were issued last night to fill another good card, several aspiring fighters seeking to meet the winner of the Dawson-Goggins match. Larry Boyd, 142 pounds, and Slow York, 136 pounds, both of Eugene, and Frankie Lewis, of Salem, 138 pounds, all are anxious to meet Dawson at an early date. Jack Collins, late of Toledo, Ohio, announced that he was ready to meet any 154-pounder that could be found.

Tom Loutitt, of Portland, was the referee, with L. H. Smith making the announcements and introducing the fighters.

Webfooters Lay Claim to 130 Pound Championship

The Webfoot basketball team took another scalp last night by defeating the Baptists 15 to 14 in one of the closest games of the season. The last half of the third quarter was tied and up to the last three minutes, the Webfooters took the lead and managed to retain the victory.

This closes the season for the Webfooters who have played 25 games and four of these were losses, although, in each instance the losers managed to make a good showing. They managed to take a victory from the victors at a later game in all instances, except one when the Webfooters went up against a much heavier team.

This gives the Webfooters the city championship in the 130 pound class and there is no one in this vicinity that is able to wrest the honor from them.

The team however is looking for honors at Tillamook and Clatskanie, which is close to the coast.

DELANEY SCORES K. O.

OAKLAND, Cal., March 25.—Jimmy Delaney, St. Paul heavy-weight, stopped Fred Sullivan, local fighter, in the fourth round of their scheduled eighth round contest in the Mound auditorium tonight. It was Delaney's fight all the way and the contest was stopped by the referee at the end of the fourth session.

The world moves, and each year there are fewer people who know how to spell Hohenzollern.

THINGS THAT NEVER HAPPEN

BASEBALL IS BIG QUESTION

Salem High Has Excellent Prospects and Hard Schedule Already Made Out

Baseball fans are interested to know that the chances for the Salem high school nine are about the same this year as they were last year, according to the report of Coach Huntington. However, the experience gained last year will be offset by the lack of coaching they will receive under the hand of the regular mentor, who is to be east for several days attending the national meet of the basketball games.

To offset the change, Les Jirod has been appointed captain of the nine, and under the tutelage of "Frisco" Edwards, well known baseball expert, the team will prepare for the coming season. Every opportunity is utilized in the warm days in practice and it is expected that the team will be whipped into shape before long.

Despite the fact that nearly all the veterans are back in suit, there are some changes. John Caughill, star catcher for the Salem team, will not be back, neither will Harold Busick.

What is another bad factor is the four men who are on the championship basketball team also are members of the baseball nine. They will lose the practice and will cause the team to fall behind to some extent.

C. Rogers is booked at first, with Varley running a close race for the place, while at second base Paul Jirod, Heenan at third and Louis Jirod at short. These lettermen are in the field, and they are Drager, Gould and Kitchin.

However, the main feature turns around the pitcher. With Fabry, last year star in the center plate, and with Ellis, who showed up well in Portland, it is expected a combination will be reached that will work fine.

In solving the problem of getting some one to hang on to the balls that come hurtling through the air, Coach Huntington has Coughill, Drager and Kelly, and if it is necessary he can shift the doughty baseman, Paul Jirod and put him in big mitt.

The schedule for the year is a heavy one, but the Salem high boys are equal to the occasion from the way they are hitting into the harness.

The schedule as arranged to date is as follows:

- April 11—Chemawa Indians, at Chemawa.
- April 24—Silverton, at Silverton.
- April 25—Albany, at Salem.
- May 1—Newberg, at Newberg.
- May 2—Chemawa at Salem.
- May 9—Eugene, at Eugene.
- May 12—Newberg, at Salem.
- May 15—Silverton, at Salem.
- May 16—Corvallis at Salem.
- May 19—Amity, at Salem.
- May 22—Albany, at Albany.
- May 23—Corvallis, at Corvallis.
- May 29—Amity, at Amity.
- June 6—Eugene, at Salem.

Several other games are being arranged. Heenan has written to Lincoln, and they want a game with the high school next week. Franklin high school of Portland and Washington, also of Portland, have failed to answer Heenan's letters for games. He is also making efforts to get games with Commerce of Portland.

BASEBALL CALLS PRISON INMATES

Preliminary Organization of Team at Penitentiary Now Under Way

Preliminary organization of a baseball team at the state penitentiary is under way, according to Warden A. M. Dalrymple, who has received the names of 14 men who have either played on previous prison teams or who are seeking a berth on the squad this year. Games will be played on Saturday afternoons, Sundays and holidays.

It has not yet been decided whether or not Guard Carey will have charge of the team again this year. Such a position calls for putting in much extra time on off-hours. Members of the baseball squad are unanimous in their demand for Carey as manager.

Several inquiries asking for games next month have been received and as soon as a team is selected efforts will be made to line up a complete schedule.

and repeated effort. His power to save a drowning person is the result of self-denial and self-discipline. The Christian's cross is his power to serve. You can't have the cross till you know self-denial. The cross for Jesus Christ himself was and is the power of God to save. Christ saves us by the cross.

"Follow not Poling or any other preacher, but Jesus Christ alone," continued the speaker. "Where the preacher goes, the religion of a lot of folks goes also. A preacher fails who doesn't get people to follow Christ instead of himself. No man is safe to follow. But to follow Jesus Christ is the only safe way to take. What must you do to be saved? Jesus made it plain. Listen to Him and you can't miss your way. Deny yourself, take up your cross, and follow Him."

The Rev. Mr. Poling spoke to a well-filled house last night. He preaches like a rapid-fire gun. He wastes no time and dismisses his audiences each night before 9 o'clock. The 3 o'clock afternoon services at the First Evangelical church continue to be much appreciated.

GOVERNOR PIERCE INSTALLED BY LIONS

luncheons, if unavoidable; that I shall contribute copiously to the treasury of the club; that I may lighten the burden of the 'Tail-twister'. I further more solemnly affirm that as a loyal cub in this den I shall do all in my power to aid mankind—especially my fellow lions, financially and otherwise—that I shall, among other things, work to defeat both the gasoline and the income taxes.

"Realizing the value of good fellowship, and my duty as a Lion, I here affirm that I shall court the closest friendship of C. C. Chapman and Tom B. Kay, if that be possible. I here renounce my profound admiration of all bald-faced steers. To the solemn discharging of these obligations I here pledge my broad brimmed hat—so help me bob-tailed lion!"

Mr. President: In view of the seriousness with which this neophyte has taken this pledge, I recommend that he be fined a dime and granted all other privileges of this organization.

when the jurist arrived Thomas would give him unknown amounts of money. She said Judge English was in Thomas' office nearly every day.

She said also that Thomas gave English's son Virgil money on different occasions and that it was generally understood that Thomas bought Judge English an automobile.

It was understood in the office that whenever any of the Englishes needed financial assistance they got it from Thomas, Mrs. Thayer told the committee.

SHEPHERD IS ORDERED HELD WITHOUT BAIL

"such as has been presented here without any defense or contradiction would, in my judgment, if it was submitted to twelve men in a jury box, result in a death verdict in just the time it would take the jurors to sign the verdict."

Attorney Stewart tonight announced that he would go to the supreme court with a writ of habeas corpus to obtain bail for Shepherd. State's Attorney Crowe announced that he would seek to make an agreement with Mr. Stewart as to the state of arraignment Shepherd.

Shepherd was taken back to the county jail where he has been detained since March 18.

"Well, boys, I guess I'll be with you a long time," he said to jailers. The prisoner has been kept in cell 13 due to the possibility of his release and jail officials said that it would be decided tomorrow whether to transfer him to murderers' row. It was said that this might not be done as most of the prisoners confined on the "row" are young men and it was feared that Shepherd might be subjected to insults and even physical abuse.
