LEWIS-MUNN BOUT PLANNED FOR MAY

Purse of $60,000 Offered By Promoter; Lewis Anxious for Match

CHICAGO, April 2.—(By the Associated Press).—Billy Sandow, manager of Ed "Strangler" Lewis, former world's heavyweight wrestling champion, tonight signed with Floyd Fitzsimmons, owner of the boxing arena at Michigan City, Ind., to meet Wayne "Big" Munn, heavyweight title holder, in a match to a finish for a purse of $60,000.

The contest, if Munn accepts, will be staged in the Sky Blue open air arena on the afternoon of May 30, Decoration day. Fitzsimmons said he hoped to sign Gabe Kauffman, manager of the giant Nebraska collegian, at a conference with him here Monday. The Michigan City promoter posted $30,000 in cash with a Chicago bank to meet Wayne Munn. He agreed to post an additional $10,000 the first week in May and the remaining $20,000 twenty four hours before the men go into the ring. Sandow accepted Fitzsimmons' terms in a telegram from Kansas City. He assured Fitzsimmons that he would sign articles as quickly as Fitzsimmons ordered Kaufman's signature and that he would turn over to the Michigan City promoter the $20,000 diamond championship belt emblematic of the championship, the belt to go to the winner.

Noon Day Services to Be Held During Passion Week

Arrangements have been made for noon-day services in The Oregon Theater during Passion Week. The pastors of the downtown churches with the approval and endorsement of the Ministerial association have arranged for these services. Beginning Monday and continuing through Friday of next week at the noon hour a fine inspiring series of services will be held.

A musical program that will be a rare treat will be put on from 11:50 to 12:20 each day with Homer McDonald, the organist at the Oregon Theater, presiding at the organ. This will be followed by a short address by one of the pastors. The meetings will be just one hour and will prove very popular.

Counterfeiters Flooding Country With Bad Notes

MONTREAL, April 2.—Police today redoubled their search for counterfeiters who have flooded the country with spurious notes of the Banque Canadienne Nationale and the Imperial Bank of Canada.

The arrest of seven men in a farm house at L'Assomption last night, with $150,000 in counterfeit $10 Banque Canadienne Nationale notes, will not solve the problem, Beaudry Leman, general manager of the bank, said today. Leman said the notes produced by the L'Assomption plant were such a crude imitation that "not even a child" would be deceived. Counterfeit Banque Canadienne

Nationale notes, executed so cleverly that all but highly competent tellers are deceived, have been in circulation for the past two weeks.

Class Decorates Church For Revival Services

The Live Question class, which is the young married people's Sunday school class, was responsible for the opening exercises at the Jason Lee revival service last night. The members of this class decorated the room in ferns and wild flowers so that it presented a delightfully cheerful and pleasant appearance.

Rev. Mr. Miles, backed by the orchestra and choir, led the congregation in a number of rousing songs and Mrs. MacAlvina sang a song appropriately in harmony with the subject of the evening. The pastor continued the discussion of sin. The night before he had discussed sin's relation to the individual, while last night, taking the third chapter of Genesis as his text, he discussed the question of sin and God's relation to man.

Tomorrow evening the Wesley league will take charge of the opening service and their mixed quartet will sing. This will be family night, and family groups are asked to come and sit together.

Civilian Military Camp Will Be Held This Summer

A one thousand foot film depicting the activities of the civilian military training camp at Camp Lewis, Washington, in 1924 will be shown at the Bligh theater today.

The 1925 camp of instruction will be held during July and August under the direction of regular United States army officers. Men between the ages of 17 and 24 are eligible to enter. A successful completion of the course entitles the man to take examination for a commission in the reserves, forces of the United States. Military tactics and athletics, as well as the general routine of army life, are taken up in detail.

All expenses are paid by the government and attendance does not carry with it any compulsory service at a later date. The film will show only manly sports and activities that are experienced at these civilian military camps.
