RENEWAL

April, when I heard
Your lyrical low word,
And when upon the hawthorn hedge your first white blossoms stirred,

Something strangely came—
Something I cannot name—
And touched my heart, and cleansed my soul with a reviving flame.

Heal me, if you will;
Bathe my heart until
I am one with your first primrose or the shining daffodil.

—CHARLES HANSON TOWNE.

street. Mrs. R. L. Farmer will have charge of the lesson, taking the last chapter of the study book. Devotional leader will be Mrs. M. C. Halbert.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan J. Fry, Sr., was the scene of a delightfully appointed birthday dinner on Wednesday, celebrating the birthday of their son, Orris Fry. Spring flowers were attractive on the table.

Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Orris Fry, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Hixson, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Young, Mrs. Kitty Graver, Miss Priscilla Fry, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Dan J. Fry, Sr.

Mrs. Claudius Thayer will entertain the members of the Modern Writers' club at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening at her home, 255 North Capitol street. Miss Eleanor T. MacMillan of Portland will be a special guest.

Ruth Fargo (Mrs. W. F.), a successful Salem author, has placed a short story "Cougar Kittens," with the People's Home Journal. The story is a third of an interesting western series, the first two of which appeared in the Delineator.

The many Salem friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Eldridge are welcoming them back to Salem after a winter spent in southern California. Mrs. Eldridge and Mrs. William Brown, who left Wednesday for Neskoquin, are expected home today.

Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Scofield motored to Sheridan to spend the week-end with Dr. Fogan, local chiropractor of that city.

Miss Marie Bennett of Portland was an out of town guest at Miss Joy Turner's announcement luncheon last Sunday afternoon at the Colonial Dame Tea Shoppe.

On Friday afternoon the home of Mrs. Frank Spears was the scene of a beautifully appointed 1 o'clock luncheon with covers placed for the members of the Monday bridge luncheon club and a group of special guests, with Mrs. Hugh McCammon the inspiration for the delightful affair. Tulips and jonquills were the seasonal flowers used about the rooms where bridge was in play.

Housewives who watch their budget carefully are among our best customers.

They realize that the small amount they pay to have the family washing burden transferred from them to us saves so much of their time, their health, and their looks, that it is a real thrift.

Our Wet Wash service, for instance, washes and rinses everything carefully, removes excess moisture, and returns the bundle damp, sweet and clean, ready to iron or starch and hang up to dry.

17 at St. John's auditorium, the first performance coming on Wednesday and the other on Friday, both at 8:30 o'clock.

The drama is an Indian love story, replete with authentic tribal song and legend. The Choral class will be assisted in the colorful presentation by the Sacred Heart orchestra, featuring Indian tribal melodies. The audience will have the opportunity of hearing the actual music from such tribes as: Zuni, Cheyenne, Omaha, Red Willow Pueblos, Arizona, Sioux, Minnesota and Apache.

Leading parts in the production will be taken by Miss Josephine Barr, as Kamiakin, the prince, and by Marion Boyle, as Wallulah, the princess. Leonora Mickel will take the role of Toika and Eva Albrich of Chego, a medicine man. Miss Nancy Thielson, a charming young vocalist and danseuse will add to the success of the production with her Indian melodies and her interpretation of The Indian Huntress.

Ida Scafield, Winifred Albrich and Edna Snyder will take the parts of an Ambassador group. Kenada, father of Kimiakin, will be represented by Esther Zimmerman, and Wauket, father of Wallulah, by Alice Ziellinski; Irene Breckmeier will support the cast in the role of Grizzly Bear, while Retainers will be Lorena Leibold, Evelyn Emory, Alice Duval and Margaret Lucy.

Full houses are expected for both presentations.

Miss Conifred Hurd, an instructor in the West Seattle Night School, arrived in Salem Saturday evening to spend the Easter vacation with her parents at 1215 Marion street.

Mrs. Charles A. Park will meet her Bible class at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening at the public library.

Mrs. T. S. Roberts has been called to Los Angeles on account of the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. Minnie Harding. Mrs. Roberts left Salem yesterday morning and will arrive in Los Angeles today.

Mrs. B. E. Sisson entertained at an enjoyable eight o'clock dinner on Wednesday, honoring her husband on the occasion of his forty-second birthday. A yellow color scheme was featured, the hostess using yellow daffodils and yellow candles. Yellow candles were also used on the elaborate birthday cake.

Covers at the 6:30 o'clock "stag" dinner were placed for: E. L. Baker, S. E. Keith, Byron Llewellyn, Abbie Graver, Frank Dewitte, F. E. Kirk, F. O. Miller of Portland, F. M. Sisson of McMinnville, F. S. Dow, M. H. McGuire, William Sisson, Mr. Brown, A. L. Campbell, Fred Duncan, Mr. Rockenfellow, Mr. Prgett, J. O. Miller, and the honor guest, B. E. Sisson.

Among the activities of the American Association of University women for April will be a concert on Wednesday, April 22, at Waller Hall. The artists, all of unusual talent, will be: Professor William Wallace Graham, instructor respectively in voice, piano, and violin at Willamette university.

The regular April meeting of the University women will be on Saturday, April 18.

The Lone Star club met on Friday evening for an enjoyable meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Biver at their attractive new home on North Capitol street. Apple blossoms and daffodils were used in a delightful floral motif. Easter favors were used on the tables where delicious refreshments were served. The playing honors of the evening went to Mrs. F. N. Woody and to A. E. Seeley.

Those in the group were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. R. Magee, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Skeels, Mr. and Mrs. R. O'Leary, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Seeley, Mr. and Mrs. William Yarnell, Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Woody, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Biver.

For Easter Sunday

Miss Joy Turner was hostess at an attractive Easter luncheon, Sunday afternoon in the Colonial Dame Tea shop, when she entertained 16 guests, most of them being members of the Quince Jours, a former University club, which used to meet regularly a few seasons ago, when the girls were in college.

The Easter motif was adapted in a novel manner to the occasion with a mammoth Humpty Dumpty centering the luncheon table attractive with orange lilies.
