

CHERRIANS VOTE AGAINST DANCE

Event May Be Held in Future; New Headgear Sought for Dr. Epley

At the monthly meeting of the Cherrians, held last night at the Chamber of Commerce, it was unanimously voted not to hold any dance, at least for the present.

It is probable, according to statements made, that when the Oregon Hospitality club stops over a night in Salem Wednesday, June 17, that the Cherrians will entertain members of the club with a dance before accompanying them to Portland Thursday, June 18.

W. M. Hamilton, chairman of the gravel committee for Blossom day, reported that the Salem Sand & Gravel company had donated the gravel to improve a short stretch on the Glen creek road and that Chris H. Ringwald had done the hauling, also in the way of donation. A vote of thanks was tendered each.

Hollis Huntington, coach of the high school basketball team that went to Chicago, said that players of heavy weight had the best chance in the Chicago games as the play was pretty rough at times, and that a team had to survive five or six heavy games to get anywhere near the top. He recommended that in the future, should any Oregon team be sent east, that they should be allowed three or four days rest before entering a game.

W. M. Hamilton was appointed by King Bing Perry as a committee of one to take up the matter of providing Dr. H. C. Epley, drum major of the Cherrian band, with an appropriate slypiece that would add two or three feet to the doctor's altitude.

Kiwanis Go On Record As Favoring Investigation

Without much discussion the Kiwanis club voted Tuesday to approve the report of the committee composed of F. W. Durbin, Sr., Percy Cupper and Scott Page, which favored the move asking the district attorney to investigate the removal of the state banking department to Portland. The committee also stated that if conditions warranted, the district attorney was to bring man-

The Willamette university freshmen inter-collegiate debate squad will meet the Albany College woman's team at Albany tonight. The Frosh will be represented by William McAllister and Earl Pemberton. This is the initial debate for the freshmen squad this season and will be followed with a dual debate with the Pacific University Freshmen.

The question will be, "Resolved: That the Japanese should be admitted to this country on the same basis as the citizens of those nations now allowed a quota."

McAllister and Pemberton both have credible forensic high school records and both are very good speakers. McAllister is from Gresham and Pemberton is a local boy and a graduate of the Salem High.

A three-judge decision will be rendered. Willamette will uphold the negative.

REALTORS BACK OF THE LINEN MILLS

Hoover, secretary of commerce and a former Salem man, asking that machinery needed in the first linen mills in Oregon be admitted without duty. The machinery in question was that purchased by B. C. Miles for his plant, now under construction, and also to include equipment for the proposed $640,000 plant. Upon receiving the letter, Senator McNary telegraphed that he was taking the matter up through the proper channels and the telegram received Tuesday announced the result of his efforts. Senator McNary is expected back in Oregon in the next two or three weeks.

Saving Is Effected
The present tariff upon textile machinery runs from 30 to 40 percent, depending upon the classification. No duty exceeds the 40 percent mark. The withdrawal of the duty charge upon the machinery for the Miles' plant, which is expected to arrive during the summer, means a saving of approximately $15,000 while R. O. Snelling, using the estimate of $190,000 needed for machinery of various types given by Lt-Col. Bartram, flax expert, said yesterday that the proposed plant would be saved about $60,000 by the withdrawal of the tariff. Through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce and Senator McNary, a total saving of $75,000 has been accomplished.

Teams sent out by the Chamber of Commerce this week to canvass the business district are expected to meet tonight and make a preliminary report of their activities.

LINEN MILL PLEA MADE TO KIWANIS

T. B. Kay is Speaker at Tuesday Luncheon; Flax is Main Subject

"For the benefit of Salem, support this linen mill project; work for it, because you can do more for the city in that way than in any other," was the plea made by T. B. Kay, state treasurer and president of the Rotary, before the Kiwanis at their regular meeting Tuesday noon.

"With the establishment of the linen plant in this city, the industry will be started and Salem made the centre of the many mills that will be drawn here.

"The business men of Salem must co-operate in bringing industry here which will give employment to our working people 12 months of the year," he said. "It is necessary that we bring people here to care for the surplus agricultural products that are raised."

"The flax pulling machine introduced here has solved the labor problem of the grower. He is able to raise flax as cheap as he could a cereal crop, and he stands the chance of making greater profits.

"Prices to be gained for the flax fibre make it an attractive investment and the profits from the linen products are still greater. We are in a position to take advantage of all these things. In addition the free trade policy of Canada has shut down many of the linen mills and this will help out the industry here."

In commenting upon the proposal which the Dominion Linens, Ltd., have presented to the people, Mr. Kay stated it was the fairest one to all. Not only will the company wait until the mill is put on a sound financial basis before they make anything for themselves, but in addition are putting up hard cash for part of the required money.

Mrs. Gordon McGilchrist entertained the Kiwanis with a solo number. She was accompanied by Mrs. Frank Churchill.

Notice to my friends to come to the jail at 2 o'clock p. m. Tuesday, which time I will dispose of all confiscated liquor in my possession. J. H. Ballinger, sheriff.—Hendersonville Times.

BLINDFOLD DRIVE TO BE MADE HERE

Murdock 'The White Mahatma', Will Answer Questions in Statesman

Owing to the keen interest that is being manifested in the forthcoming engagement of Murdock, the "White Mahatma," at the Bligh theater, The Statesman has arranged with him to answer a limited number of questions through its columns for the benefit of its readers.

You may ask in regard to any matter which may be of interest to you; business or employment problems, health, travel, the whereabouts of missing friends, who is true or who is false; in fact, any question except those of a more personal nature.

In sending your questions we ask that you please aid us by observing the following rules: Write your question plainly, sign your full name. Address your envelope to Murdock, care of The Statesman. In printing the answers only the initials of the questioners will be given.

Murdock wishes it distinctly understood that he makes no claim to supernatural powers and that, though undoubtedly possessed of inherent psychic mentality, his attainments are due chiefly to his lifelong study of occult science and the development of those human senses which are dormant in most of us.

The sixth sense or that of intuition, thought transference and projection, telepathy through mental concentration—these faculties mean little to the ordinary person, yet they are unconsciously used to a more or less extent by all of us every day.

Murdock claims that the development of these latent human powers is the real secret of success; that every great man in history utilized these powers in a degree comparative to his greatness and that the same is true of the men we know today in our own community, in our nation, throughout the world.

Murdock and his company will appear at the Bligh theater for four days beginning Monday afternoon.

Murdock has agreed to drive a car through the streets of Salem while blindfolded. The drive will be staged Tuesday noon and stops will be made at various business houses. The complete route and stops will be published in Sunday's Statesman.

Murdock has chosen the Moon car to drive. Arrangements for the drive has been made with Mr. Fred Delano of the Salem Automobile company, who recently added this car to their lines. Frank Bligh, manager of the Bligh theater, shows his confidence in Murdock by guaranteeing to stand for all damages to the car. See Sunday's Statesman for complete details of the blindfolded drive.
