

HUSBAND CURSES HER, WIFE SAYS

Profanity Believed Necessary; Other Couples Tire of Marital

"I have to give you a good cursing now and then so that you will know your place."

This, according to Mrs. Elsie Papefus, is the philosophy expressed by her husband, Paul Papefus, whom she is suing for divorce. They were married in Salem in 1905, and have two children, one of whom is grown.

Mrs. Papefus declares in her complaint that her husband is morose, sullen, sulky, domineering and brutal, and that he calls her and the children vile names, and flies into a rage at trivial matters. She also states that lately he has provided no money on which to manage the home, and that the language he uses around their home is "too odious and infamous to repeat."

Mrs. Papefus asks the custody of their minor daughter and $50 for the support of the child, as well as a share of their property in the University addition.

Zelma Godwin, suing James C. Godwin for divorce, declares that he has developed a decided tendency towards jealousy, and that when he is eating he sits at the table in a grouch and will not speak when spoken to. Mrs. Godwin also declares that her husband ordered her to leave their home and not to return.

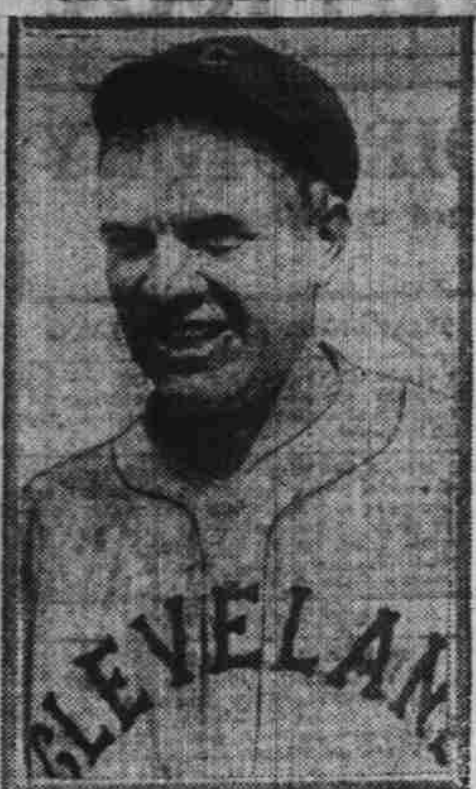

The complaint states Godwin's sister has called the plaintiff vile names on several occasions.

Asserting that her husband assaulted her and forcibly took a diamond ring away from her, Lucilla Waldespehl is seeking a decree of divorce from Carl S. Waldespehl. She asks $150 for attorney fees and $75 for suit money.

Charles G. Croy is suing for a divorce from Inez Betty Croy, alleging desertion. They were married in Salem in 1922. Croy alleges that his wife abandoned him about a year ago.

Charging cruel and inhuman treatment, Millie Frost is asking for a decree from Oliver Frost, according to the complaint filed with the county clerk. They were married in Pendleton in 1918. In 1923 Mrs. Frost instituted a suit

VETERAN TRIP SPEAKER SAYS HE CAN'T QUIT, CAN'T FIND MAN TO FILL PLACE

Denying rumors that he was preparing to gradually eliminate himself from the line-up of the Cleveland Indians, Manager Speaker declares, "There's nobody on the club good enough to replace me." He believes that he has no one but himself to blame for his indifferent work in 1924 and that he knows the remedy. At that, the great outfielder who entered the majors in 1907, hit .344 last season. But only two other American League outfielders, Ruth and Goslin, made more errors. This photograph was taken recently at the dedication of the new $125,000 athletic field at Lakeland, Fla., the Indians' spring training camp.

for divorce, which was refused by Judge Kelly. She declares that her husband has a high and uncontrollable temper, and that he told her to leave home. She also charges that he has cursed and abused her, and that he calls her vile names, and forces her to do a man's work on their farm.

Mrs. Frost asks the custody of a minor child, three years old, and $25 a month for the child's support.

Court of Honor is Planned For Next Thursday Evening

Court of Honor for the Salem Boy Scouts will be held Thursday evening, at the supreme court auditorium for the purpose of conferring merit badges to the scouts of this community. The Boy Scouts have been working for the merit badges during the past weeks, and the court is held for the conferring of the degrees to the candidates.

Each applicant for a merit badge must make a statement in writing and present to the scout master, previous to the court, in order that proper credit may be made of it.

Harold M. Ware, scout executive of the Cascade division, is to be in charge of the ceremonies.

For sale: Good plain cook. Telephone 3218 after seven evenings.—Muskegon Chronicle.

FLAX BUYERS ARE COMING TO COAST

D. M. Sanson Meets Several of These While on Trip to Los Angeles

D. H. Sanson, president of the Dominion Linens, Ltd., who is sponsoring the establishment of a linen mill in Oregon quoted Henry Ford, from an article published in the Country Gentleman on March 28, in that the "linen mills should be where the flax grows."

"As a result of this policy Henry Ford is using 100,000 acres to produce flax to be used in the manufacture of the covers for the cars that he produces," continued the speaker.

During a recent trip to Los Angeles where Mr. Sanson was on a business trip relative to a market for the product of the new linen mill, he met 13 buyers who were of the opinion that Oregon could grow and produce the linen necessary to supply their demands. Only one buyer gave a different opinion. He was a Scotchman and had relatives in the old country, and favored them with his buying. He too would favor the Oregon product, if the producers here could give him the right price, it was stated.

"It is due to the reductions in the Canadian tariff that I am coming to the United States. The money I bring here must return a handsome profit, it is a purely business investment," was the statement of the speaker.

Oregon has an opportunity to rank foremost in the flax producing world at present, is the contention of Mr. Sanson. The disappearance of the Russian flax production gives this state a chance to attract the eyes of the world. Linens can be manufactured cheaper here than in Canada, due to the climatic conditions even though the wages paid were higher, it was declared.

Rocky Mountain Fever May Yield to Vaccine

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15—The State Board of Health reports that the outlook is encouraging for the production of a vaccine to make people immune from Rocky Mountain fever, a dreaded disease in the plateau regions of the Far West.

The board quotes this report from Montana: "The research laboratory of the United States public health service at Hamilton is doing valuable work in its attempt to solve the whole Rocky Mountain spotted fever problem. Drs. Spencer and Parker have devoted their best efforts to the perfecting of an immunizing vaccine. At the present time the outlook is almost encouraging. Dr. Spencer, with the courage of his convictions, administered to himself the first dose of this vaccine ever administered to a human. A recent report from the doctor indicates that he has been able to immunize guinea pigs with his own blood serum. This would tend to show that the doctor has succeeded in producing a vaccine of very great value.

ROCKEFELLER GRANDSON WORKS 10 HOURS A DAY IN FATHER'S FACTORY

Fowler McCormick, son of Harold F. McCormick and Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, is working as a factory hand in the International Harvester plant in Milwaukee. Young McCormick, who is learning the business "from the ground up," swings great 200 pound pig-iron ingots for ten hours a day. Mrs. Fin Potter Stillman, who is his godmother and whose son James Stillman is a pal of Fowler's, first suggested that he start at the bottom. She visited him recently in Milwaukee.

The disease is spread by ticks. It has a high mortality percentage. Recent figures show a gradual diminution in the number of cases.

Patient Tepic Pleads For Peace and Order

TEPIC, Nayarit, Mexico, April 15.—This city, capital of Nayarit state, is enjoying, or rather enduring, two sets of "presidentes" or mayors with their allied officials and assistants.

The recent election was contested by the "ins" on the ground of irregularity, and they refused to turn over the keys of the treasury to the other faction, which claimed victory in the balloting. The result has been administrative chaos, and business men are hoping that one side or the other soon will be ousted, so the city can settle down and enjoy its usual calm.

Since the advent of the dual administration, two sets of lean and hungry tax collectors have been besieging the stores and business houses, presenting their respective demands. At first, through a practice evolved of wisdom during the revolution, both sides were placated by donations. But the Tepic farce has continued so long and money is so scarce that the leading houses refuse to come through with more "tax" contributions to either faction. An appeal has been sent to President Calles to straighten out the tangle.

The new regime recently scored one smashing victory. By sheer force it drove from the streets all policemen of the old administration. Thus, the fittest having survived, the new policemen are patrolling beats.

M'KENZIE NAMED VICE-COMMANDER

Successor to Dr. Wanner Selected Last Night; Legion Drive Explained

Vic McKenzie was elected vice commander of Capitol Post No. 9, American Legion, at a special meeting of the executive committee last night. He succeeds Dr. Carl Wanner, who recently moved to Portland. Carl Moser, formerly of Silverton and state adjutant of the American Legion, and Paul Davis, national field secretary of the American Legion child welfare endowment commission and representative of rehabilitation work, were present.

The American Legion throughout the country is raising $5,000,000 as a principal to take care of and educate the 40,000 orphans of ex-service men, Mr. Davis said. Of this number, 5000 have no blood relations and are alone in the world. Efforts are being made to have these adopted into homes of ex-service men.

This drive is the first in the history of the nation to be endorsed by the president of the United States, Mr. Davis said. The principal will not be touched and only one drive will be staged. Interest from the principal is estimated between $225,000 and $250,000 a year. The movement is meeting with great success throughout the country.

Mr. Davis, together with Mr. Moser, met with the executive committee, George Griffith, state commander, and Clifford Brown, post commander, in order to explain the work that is being carried on along this line throughout the country.

Influenza has wonderful vitality. It survived an attack on Muskegon.

Good references required

YOU would not like to hire anyone without a good reference.

Why not extend the same plan to the servants you buy for your home—the servants that sweep your floors, that wash and iron your clothes—that play music for you—that feed your family?

You can buy such servants—vacuum cleaners, washers and ironers, phonographs and food—with or without references. When they are advertised, they are vouched for by a responsible person—the merchant or manufacturer. You can buy them with confidence—knowing that they must live up to their references.

That's why it pays you to read the advertisements. Through advertising you learn not only what is good, but what is trustworthy.

An advertisement is more than a reference—it is a certified check of satisfaction
