SALEM-CHEMAWA GAME IS SLATED
 Baseball Team Will Meet on Indian School Grounds Barring Rain

After many attempts, the Salem high school and the Chemawa Indians will meet at Chemawa for a baseball game today, providing, of course, rain does not interfere.

This will be the first game of the season for the local nine, but will be the third game for the Indians. The delay has given the Salem players an opportunity to whip into shape and they think they can give a surprise or two to the Indian players, who have trimmed the locals before.

The Indians really have a clever team, despite some of the new material in their ranks. Bushert, Abraham and ... are out of the game, but the others are able to put up a clever scrap on the diamond.

Independence Team Claims Aumsville Baseball Game
 The manager of the Aumsville baseball team had the operator at that town phone The Statesman last evening about the game there yesterday afternoon, and the way the reporter got it was this:

The Aumsville and Independence teams crossed bats, and the Independence team played till they had the larger score, and then, at the end of the sixth inning, claimed the field was too wet to play, and walked out. The reporter got the idea that this was not regarded as good sportsmanship.

LAYMEN ENTERTAIN NOTED UNITARIAN

William L. Barnard Will be Honor Guest at Dinner Here Tonight

William L. Barnard, executive vice president and secretary of the Unitarian Laymen's league, will be the guest of honor at a dinner at the Spa tonight at 6:30 o'clock. Rev. Redfern, of Liverpool, England, will also be a distinguished guest.

Mr. Barnard was engaged in the practice of law in Boston for 15 years. On America's entrance into the World War in April, 1917, he was commissioned as an ensign in the U. S. naval volunteers. He saw service on the torpedo boat "Dupont," as an aide to Admiral Bensen, chief of naval operations, Washington, D. C., and as signal officer of the destroyer "Delphy." During the war he was twice promoted and remained in active service until June, 1919.

He is a director of the New England hospital for women and children, Boston, of which he was vice president for several years prior to the war. The famous Unitarian clergyman, Rev. Charles Francis Barnard, founder of the Children's Church, in Boston, later Barnard Memorial, was his grandfather. Mr. Barnard's early life was spent in Savannah, Ga. Subsequently he entered Harvard college and Boston University Law school.

Mr. Barnard came to the Unitarian Laymen's league in November, 1919, and the following May he was elected secretary. In this capacity he took a leading part in the Unitarian campaign of 1920, in which $2,400,000 was subscribed for the work of denominational agencies of the Unitarian church. He was elected executive vice president of the Laymen's league in 1923.

Profit by the experience of those who know. Use McCLAREN CORD

The highest estimate that has been made as to the cost of growing flax per acre is $30. This includes costs of plowing the land, harrowing, discing, spring tooth-ing, rolling, seeding and the cost of seed. It includes also the cost of loading and hauling to the nearest scutching mill, as well as the costs for pulling the mature flax by machinery. $6 per acre is allowed as interest on the investment of the land.

Returns Are Good
 In discussing the returns per acre, it is stated the average flax crop per acre has been one and one-half tons, and on irrigated lands, two and one-half tons an acre. With a little experience in growing, it is estimated the two tons an acre should be grown in the Willamette valley.

The prices fixed by the state of Oregon for flax are given as follows:
 Flax more than 20 inches, $38;
 flax between 20 and 30 inches, $28 a ton and cut flax under 20 inches is sold at $22 per ton.

Nothing less than an Amendment could have made a fruit jar a drinking cup.

BEARCATS TO PLAY AGGIE TEAM TODAY

Only Rain Will Prevent Crossing of Bats at Corvallis

If weather conditions permit, the Willamette University baseball squad will meet the Oregon Aggies at Corvallis this afternoon. The Bearcats will be in fair condition for the contest as they have taken full advantage of the few days that weather conditions have been such that they could work on the field.

Ellis is expected to start the game as pitcher although it is expected by the Willamette fans that Kaishan will be given a chance to try his stuff before the end of the game. The only definite change in lineup that is expected will be placing Robertson at second and sending Poling into the field to relieve Kalahan. Several men will probably be tried in the field before the end of the game although the infield will probably be left intact.

 THEY say a tight man squeezes his dollar until he makes "the eagle scream."
 A wise man makes his dollar stretch. He buys — but he buys wisely, making every dollar go a long way.
