

TWO BOXING FAVORITES WILL BE SEEN IN ACTION AT ARMORY TONIGHT

LEWIS-GARDEAU IN MAIN EVENT

Bill Hunt, Husky Salem Fireman, Will Meet Portland-er in Semi-Finals

Unless fight fans express their desire to the contrary, the big boxing bout at the armory tonight will be the last one of the season, according to Matchmaker Plant.

Final workouts were held last night by Frankie Lewis, of Salem, and Billy Gardeau, of Portland, who will meet in the main event. Both are in the pink of condition and unless stopped, will go the entire 10 rounds at top speed. Gardeau and Lewis have a little argument to settle, as it has never been definitely decided which is the better man. They have had one previous meeting, at Reedsport, which resulted in a draw.

Big Bill Hunt, husky Salem fireman, has been developing rapidly and will give "Speed" Murphy, of Portland, a run for his money. Hunt is advancing in the heavyweight division and is scheduled to fight in Portland next Thursday night.

In addition to the main event and the semi-finals, 16 rounds of real stuff, two 4-round snappy preliminaries, will be offered.

The degree team, which is to stage the initiation has been drilling here during the past weeks and have a surprise to offer their comrades Saturday night. The ritual which they have is impressive and brings a message to the veterans. As an introduction to the program and to show what the veterans have to offer, Earl Kennel, member of the Kennel-Ellis studios, will appear in a solo number which has been specially arranged for the occasion.

Miss Katherine Kirk will present the violin obligato with Miss Mildred Jaeger at the piano.

WHEELER TRIAL IS REACHING CLIMAX

Final Stages of Oil Graft Against Senator Are Now in View

GREAT FALLS, Mont., April 23.—(By The Associated Press.) The trial of Senator Burton K. Wheeler reached its final stages here today when the defense rested its case after both prosecution and defense council agreed to forego the calling of witnesses intended to controvert testimony previously offered by witnesses for both sides.

The Montana senator is charged with appearing illegally before the department of interior in behalf of Gordon Campbell, Montana oil operator, after his election to the senate. Earlier in the day Senator Thomas J. Walsh, chief of Wheeler's counsel, announced that the defense had examined every available witness and asked the prosecution to allow a stipulation as to what the testimony of four witnesses, hastily summoned from the east would be.

However, a conference between the attorneys and federal judge Frank S. Dietrich, resulted in the announcement that neither side would call further witnesses and that final arguments probably would begin tomorrow. Defense witnesses, summoned from the east, were to offer testimony in an effort to impeach the government's star witness, George P. Hayes, New York attorney, Senator Walsh said. Hayes testified that Wheeler approached him in New York in March, 1923, and asked him to appear in his place before the interior department to prosecute oil prospecting permits being sought by Campbell.

On the stand yesterday, Senator Wheeler denied that he conferred with Hayes and an extended trial loomed when both sides announced their intention of bringing in impeaching witnesses. After all available witnesses had been heard, Senator Walsh said that he might ask for continuance pending the arrival of eastern men, who were under subpoena. The conference ironed out all differences and the defense announced that it would rest.

Both prosecution and defense attorneys announced tonight that argument to the jury would be permitted some time tomorrow and that it would be possible for Judge Dietrich to instruct the jury by time of adjournment of court tomorrow night.

LASTING PEACE GOT BY TRUE FRIENDSHIP (Continued from page 1) at the Pan-American conference should be of aid to the greater movement.

He enumerated the differences inherent in conferences; the obtaining of unanimous action, the necessity of ratification of all governments concerned, the inevitable long delays, political difficulties on a multitude of questions and a dozen other obstacles to rapid progress. As a result, the way to international law conference must be well prepared, he declared, saying that "it would be idle to call a conference without the preparation of proposals well thought out; such a course would probably lead to a few plous resolutions and a long sleep."

INCOME TAXES MAY RESTORE MONEY VALUE

All Classes to be Taxed In a businesslike manner the financial minister attended to affairs in the upper house, then returned to the chamber. "Millionaires will pay just like other taxpayers," he informed the chamber when an interruption from the right broke in—"the rich men have escaped taxation." "I will also enforce the law against the export of capital," the minister continued. "The law is
