them." She said their actions in taking Shepherd from his home at midnight without a warrant and putting him in jail was reminiscent of the days of barbarism, according to the witness.
Miss Gladys Roberts, the girl detective, told of eavesdropping while her employer, John E. Jones, private detective, admonished Shepherd to keep on one story and "they won't let you." She said she sent a file of papers to a friend's vault lest it be seized in a raid on his office. She said she had previously seen a file on the Shepherd case in the office.
The hearing on the McCintock will be continued until May 26.

fendant asked. Barker replied that the truck had been trailed to the farm. According to the testimony Dickson declared that "there had been too much traffic around there," and that "the truck driver pulled a boner."

The declaration of the defense counsel that in making the raid and arrests, the officers acted entirely without authority of law, will be made the basis of argument when the case is appealed.

Bits For Breakfast

Up to the hustlers—

The linen mill is still up to them—

But the people on the side lines are wishing them well, and doing some good boosting, and all this helps.

Oregon is going to improve her lead, this year, as the greatest strawberry state. She led all the rest last year in her canned strawberry pack, and she was only just getting a fair start. The Salem district, furnishing most of the Oregon canned strawberries, can furnish ten times as many, and then have plenty of land for all the rest of the fifty-seven varieties of fruits and vegetables and other things on the land in which she excels, or may excel.

Everything comes to him who waits, but it is generally second-hand.

A good mother is one who feels neglected if she isn't worrying about something.

Henry Ford has arranged with Yale University to school 50 students at $5 a day, in industrial research. He expects them to find out how many kinds of creatures, besides the horse and fly, his Lizes have banished from the highways.

The Masonic grand lodge in Kentucky has ruled that no Mason within its jurisdiction may have a drink of whiskey in his possession or on his person. That is a vast change from the Kentucky of our historians. There was a day when the Kentucky grand lodge might have been safely opened with mint juleps.
