The city federation of interdenominational missionary societies will be privileged to hear a speaker of national renown. Miss Parker of New York, who is chairman of the interdenominational federation of women for home missions of North America, will speak to the women of this city on migrant labor. The whole city was interested in the work that was carried on in the hop fields and apple orchards of the Willamette valley last fall and more interest and a larger work is expected for this year. The national federation has two boards—one foreign and one home board. The foreign board is carrying on a work in several countries, the principal of these is in China and South America, while the home board is directing many departments of community service throughout the United States. An invitation is extended to every woman interested in the welfare of our community and state to attend this meeting and learn of the splendid work that is being done over the country for the betterment of those who harvest the crops that are so essential to the development of any district. Mrs. F. A. Elliot is president of the Salem organization, Mrs. John L. Brady is vice president, and Mrs. John O. Humphreys secretary-treasurer. The migrant labor work last year was under the direction of Miss Louise Shields of Portland, who has done extensive social service work.

The Royal Neighbors' Sewing society will meet at the home of Mrs. F. A. Elliot, 700 N. Commercial street, at one-half miles north on the Pacific highway today for an all-day meeting. Those who are not going in private cars have arranged to take the 10 o'clock stage.

Mr. Wade has been away from Oregon for a period of fifteen years.

The F. H. Bentley home on Kingwood Heights was the scene of a merry gathering last Saturday afternoon, when Mrs. Bentley asked fourteen girls to a party, celebrating her daughter Bernadine's fourteenth birthday. The rooms were attractively decorated for the occasion with Scotch Broom, yellow iris and California poppies.

The afternoon passed quietly while the girls played games and solved puzzles. Mrs. Bentley was assisted by Miss Groszman and Miss Bentley.

Guests were invited for six tables of the diversion, with Mrs. Max Page and Mrs. C. E. Bates assisting at the tea hour. Mrs. Earl Fiegel won the prize of the afternoon while the consolation award went to Mrs. F. W. Brock. Spring flowers in pastel shades decorated the rooms.

A delightful evening of five hundred was enjoyed at the closing meeting of the Lone Star club which was held at the home of marking one of the most enjoyable affairs held by the club during the entire season.

The first prize of the evening took the form of a souvenir of Texas—an Armadillo basket—which was won by Richard O'Leary. Roy Woodhill was the delighted recipient of the humorous consolation award.
