LIQUOR AND MEN IN COURT TODAY

Pair Arrested by State Prohibition Commissioner Near St. Paul

Arrested yesterday with about 15 gallons of moonshine in their possession, Julius Schmit and Frank Opitz, both of St. Paul, ware arraigned in the justice court, and took until today to plead. Their case will come up for hearing this morning at 10 o'clock before Brazier C. Small, justice of the peace.

William S. Levens, state prohibition commissioner, and W. F. Duckworth, state operative, made the raid. Although no still was found on the place, located about two miles west of St. Paul, officers seized a 15 gallon keg of liquor and two jugs. The plant was found in the woods, and officials declare the two men were about to make a delivery. An automobile in which the liquor was said to have been found is held by the state department.

In the justice court two counts were placed against the men. One was for transportation of liquor, and the other on a possession charge. Schmit has been arrested for the same offence before. At that time State Officer Culbertson was discharged from service by George L. Cleaver, then state prohibition commissioner, when he was charged with treating Schmit brutally.

MEMORIAL DAY IN SCHOOLS BOOSTED

Pamphlet Containing Suggestions for Program Are Mailed Teachers

Memorial Day annuals for 1925 are being distributed to the schools of Oregon by A. J. Churchill, state school superintendent. The pamphlet contains a sugegsted program for the observance of May 30, a brief history of Memorial Day, poems and prose selections in honor of those who have given their lives in the service of their country, a section devoted to the patriotic poems of Oregon authors and a section on peace-time patriotism.

"Patriotism may be as truly demonstrated in time of peace as in time of war and it is expressed in every form of service whereby man proves that he places love of country above love of self," Superintendent Churchill says in the foreword. "I hope that every school in Oregon will participate in an observance of Memorial Day worthy of the service and sacrifice of those whom we honor on this day—an observance from which each child will go forth with a determination in his heart to so live 'that these dead shall not have died in vain'."

A little Polish boy, without telling his parents, changed his name the first day in an American school. He had a fine Polish name, but he was in America, in a new world, and he wanted a name that would symbolize his great change.

European women, upon coming to America, quickly revolutionize the manner of things they buy for their tables and their homes. An authority has estimated that foreign-born women ask for goods by their advertised names within two weeks after they have begun housekeeping in America.

They are quick to sense that in the new world the good things are advertised, and that unknown goods in unknown stores are likely to be of unsatisfactory quality.

As the European woman quickly learns, American advertising is for the buyer's protection.

An advertised product bears a proud name. It has a reputation to uphold

MOTOR TRIPS ABROAD

The Historic City of Namur

TWELFTH OF A SERIES OF TRAVEL TALKS

Namur still bears the marks of the war. It is one of the most interesting cities in all of Belgium and each year sees more and more American motorists stopping there to view the famous old citadel.

AMERICAN motorists who travel from Brussels in Belgium to Paris invariably go to Namur, the capital of the province of Namur in Belgium. This historic city is most picturesquely situated at the junction of the rivers Sambre and Meuse, the town lying on the left banks of the two rivers, while the rocky promotory forming the fork between them is crowned with the old citadel shown above.

The original bridge at Namur was constructed in the 11th century and rebuilt in the reign of Charles V.

It will be recalled that the Germans entered Namur August 23, 1914. In the defense scheme of Belgium, Namur, with Liege and the small intermediate fort of Huy, barred the line of the Meuse against attack from the east.

HEALTH WORK TO GET UNDER WAY

Examination of Public School Children Begins Monday Morning

Active work will begin in Salem's public schools by Monday morning when a health examination will be offered to 600 or 800 pupils of the various schools. This part of the general plan of work offered the school board at a recent meeting and will be under the direction of George W. Hug, city superintendent of schools, and Dr. Ross, health officer, in co-operation with the Marion County Child Health Demonstration.

The proffered service is a medical examination of the schools which has good health as the objective. The examinations are to be conducted by those whose business it is to know all about health.

The examinations will be given to the children, whose parents desire it by Dr. Ross, city school doctor; Dr. Guldbransen and Dr. Warner, noted child health workers in the northwest.

In a letter directed to the parents of the community, Dr. Walter H. Brown, director of the Child Health demonstration here has outlined the plan in a few words.

No child will be examined unless he is accompanied by one or both of his parents or unless he has their written request."

Examinations are to begin Monday and Tuesday at the Garfield school with the 4A, 4B and the 6A grades.

SCHOOL BUILDING SITE HELD LEGAL

New Teachers' Training School at Independence Can Be Constructed

Though located at Independence, the new training school for the Oregon normal school at Monmouth is still under the jurisdiction of the institution and under the law can be legally constructed at Independence, according to an opinion of I. H. Van Winkle, attorney general. The 1925 legislature appropriated $125,000 for the building, which will serve for regular school purposes for Independence will also be used as a training school for the teachers.

The opinion holds that the constitutional amendment of 1908, providing that all state institutions must be in the county where the seat of government is located, unless otherwise voted by the people, applies, as the Independence schools is part of the Monmouth normal which was located by the people. The law has never been construed as preventing other state buildings from being located several miles away from Salem.

Mill City School Now Has Week-Day Bible Study

A Bible school has been organized at Mill City with a membership from the public school which is voluntary. Bible instruction is given two hours each week under direction of the Presbyterian minister there, according to a report made by County Superintendent Fulkerson.

She reports that a new school building has been completed at Detroit and is considered one of the best one-room school buildings in the county.

Two pupils at the Taylor school made two grades this year under the direction of Mrs. Leora Stevens, teacher. At Gates, Mrs. Fulkerson states, the teachers have been retained for another year.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Mark and Mrs. R. A. Gilbert and son Luther, were in the city from McMinnville

TRAFFIC IN ARMS STIRS CONFERENCE

Control Sought by Southern Nations; Exportation to be Curbed

GENEVA, May 5.—(By Associated Press.)—Through the voice of Dr. Justavo Guerrero of Salvador, noted jurist, who spoke before the international conference on the control of the traffic in arms and munitions today, Latin-America has told the world that arms should henceforth not be exported freely to countries in the throes of a revolution but only to governments which have been chosen by constitutional means.

The opinion is thought to represent the views of many South and Central American states, and if put into effect, implies an important amendment to the draft convention before the conference which permits the exportation of arms as soon as the manufacturing country has recognized the government of the purchasing country.

W. H. Fulkerson, Pioneer, Dies at Home in Seaside

Word has been received of the death of W. H. Fulkerson, a pioneer of 1847, at the home of a daughter in Seaside. He is the father of A. N. Fulkerson, president of the Marion County Community federation and the father-in-law of Mrs. Mary L. Fulkerson, county school superintendent. For the past few years he has been dividing his time between Salem and Seaside, spending one half of each year here.

According to arrangements, interment will be made in the family plot in the cemetery near Crowley station, in Polk county. The remains will be accompanied by A. N. Fulkerson, who was called to Seaside.
