MAY DAY FETE IS DECLARED SUCCESS

monies, and an address of welcome was given by the professor. The coronation of Queen Lucia followed. The queen's train, led by the four heralds, made its appearance at the east end of the inclosure, and the procession, which included the queen, her maids of honor, all of the senior girls, and the May dancers came slowly up the queen's platform.

Prof. Mathews Gives Crown

Queen Lucia received her crown from the hands of Professor Mathews, one of the Willamette professors best liked by the students, and the queen and her party took their places in the court. Miss Fay Spaulding gave a vocal solo immediately after the crowning of the queen.

The May dances which followed the crowning of the Willamette queen were a representation of the four seasons doing homage to Queen Lucia. The features of this event were the Autumn Leaves, the Winter Snowflakes, and the solo dance given by Miss Lois Moorhead.

Pageant Is Presented

The four seasons were, first the Autumn, which included asters and leaves, and the north wind in the person of Mildred Herwig; the Winter, which included the snowflakes and a rather unique snow man; Spring, which included forget-me-nots, spring beauties, violets and the spirit of Maytime in the person of Lois Moorhead; the Summer, which included the cornflowers, roses, butterflies, and the sun goddess in the person of Lillie Christopherson.

The winding of the May pole followed the season dances. In this event boys as well as girls took part, and it was perhaps one of the most complicated dances given at Willamette for some time. The boys were dressed in white with colored sashes and ties of pastoral shades, and the girls had becoming dresses that matched the ties and sashes of their partners.

Event Is Well Received

The dances as a whole were well given and showed that a great deal of practice had been given in their preparation. The winter snowflakes were especially good in this respect, although the autumn leaves were probably the best received of any of the events.

The Willamette baseball team secured a 5-4 victory over the Pacific university squad in the game which started at 3:30 p. m. The largest crowd to witness a baseball game on Willamette field this year were present.

The annual junior play, "Mr. Pim Passes by," was presented at the Grand theater by a competent cast chosen from members of the junior class under direction of Mrs. Smith of Portland.

Features of tomorrow's program will be the return of Dr. Doney from his stay in the east.

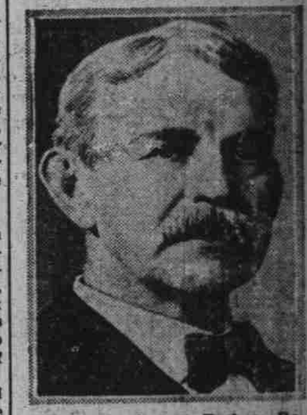
CONGRESSMAN REFUSES SALARY RAISE, FOLLOWING GRANDFATHER'S EXAMPLE



Henry St. George Tucker, Representative from Virginia, has announced that he will not accept the salary increase of $2,500 voted by Congress. He is following in the footsteps of his grandfather who declined an increase of $8 a day voted by a Congress of which he was a member. Comptroller General McCarl has ruled that Congressmen must accept the additional salary but may return it to the government.
