THE MISSIONARY SOCIETIES of the First Methodist church, the Leslie Methodist church, and the Jason Lee church will all meet this afternoon for important meetings.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the First church will meet at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. A. Lee, 1515 State street. At the same hour Mrs. DeVore will entertain for the Jason Lee Aid society at her home, 3075 Portland road. The Leslie society will meet for the afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. T. McIntyre at 140 Superior street.

Mrs. John H. Carson, Mrs. Clifton Irwin and Mrs. Hollis Huntington were special guests of the afternoon.

Club members playing at the tables, with the afternoon's guest prize going to Mrs. Clifton Irwin, were Mrs. Harry Hawkins, Mrs. T. A. Roberts, Mrs. Connell Dyer, Mrs. Prince Byrd, Mrs. Arthur Rahn, Mrs. Ercel Kay, Mrs. R. M. Hofer, Mrs. Frank Spears, Mrs. Keith Powell, Mrs. Dan J. Fry, Jr., and the hostesses, Mrs. Cross and Mrs. Slade.

Mrs. Florence Garver of Portland, newly elected president of the Oregon War Mothers, was in town yesterday to confer with the retiring president, Mrs. E. J. Hendricks. Accompanying Mrs. Garver was Mrs. John S. Eubank, head of an important committee in the organization. The women, all of whom are prominent in the work of the club, made a special inspection of trees on the state house grounds in the interest of selecting a variety for a memorial lane between Salem and Portland.

Between 2:30 and 5:30 o'clock this afternoon Mrs. F. W. Steusloff and Mrs. W. H. Steusloff will entertain their friends at a formal tea at the F. W. Steusloff home, 607 North Commercial street.

The intermediate girls of the Jason Lee church entertained in a most delightful manner on Monday evening in honor of their mothers. Covers for 14 were placed at the banquet tables with the entire three-course dinner served, as a surprise, by the girls themselves. The table was decorated with appointments in pink, hand decorated May baskets featured as place cards.

Mrs. H. T. Love has had as her house guests during the first days of the week Miss Georgia Ekstrom and Miss Winnie Van Dusen of Astoria.

The home of Mrs. Harry M. Styles was the scene of an unusually delightful observance of Mother's day on Monday when members of Chapter A.H. of the PEO Sisterhood met for the evening honoring the mothers among their number as well as their own mothers.

The toastmistress of the evening was Miss Valeria De Vault. Mrs. Nona White was the speaker of the evening. Interesting readings and musical numbers made the occasion a delightful one. A helpful round-table discussion of mothers' and daughters' problems was held at the dinner hour, with a social hour following.

Mrs. L. N. Meyers, as program chairman of the day, arranged for a program fraught with the personal experiences of the guests that was as unique as it was delightful. Many were the responses in this questionnaire for mothers.

Among the special guests of the evening were Mrs. Barrett of Lebanon, Mrs. Martha A. Freeman, Mrs. W. H. Steusloff and Mrs. P. D. Kibbe.

The color scheme of purple and gold roses and Scotch broom, lilacs and flags, carried out in the main rooms, purple, lavender and orchid in the dining room, tiny May baskets in the chosen tints being found at each cover, as souvenirs of the lunch. A table for the juveniles, who gave the program of readings, also seated a dozen youngsters in addition. A centerpiece of yellow blossoms as decoration, had in addition May baskets of shades of gold, the confection still further emphasizing the color note.

For the Mothers' day meeting guests in the group were Mrs. W. D. Smith, Mrs. H. E. Barrett, Mrs. A. E. Reeves, Mrs. Harry M. Styles, Dr. McCulloch, Mrs. E. C. Richards, Mrs. Alice Thompson, Miss Lena Belle Tartar, Miss Grace Elisabeth Smith, Miss Dorothea Steusloff and Mrs. W. E. Kirk.

Mrs. W. D. Smith left yesterday morning for Elms, Wash., where she will be the house guest for a week or ten days of her cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Chester Smith.

Two pleasing musical contributions of the evening were songs by Mrs. Alice Thompson and by Miss Lena Belle Tartar. At the refreshment hour Mrs. Styles was assisted in the serving by Dr. Angie McCulloch.

For the second meeting in May Mrs. W. E. McCroskey will be hostess.

Probably the newest patriotic society to be organized in Salem is the auxiliary to Marion post No. 616, Veterans of Foreign Wars, which was organized some weeks ago with a membership of 15. Since that time several new members have been enrolled and the auxiliary hopes to soon have on its rolls all ladies of the city who are eligible for membership. This includes the mothers, sisters, wives and daughters of soldiers who have seen foreign service in wars fought by the United States—in Cuba, the Philippines, China, or in Europe during the World war. The purpose of the organization is to cooperate with Marion post in any work they may undertake. In this connection the first opportunity the auxiliary will have will be to assist in the poppy sale which the veterans will hold just before Memorial day.

The Zena Community club will meet for the last meeting of the season on Friday evening at the school house, with a diverse program by talent both from the community and from Salem, O. J. Hull and J. J. Moritz will both have charge of numbers. Free refreshments will be served to all guests. A general invitation is extended for the evening.

The Dramatic club of St. Joseph's Parish went to Mt. Angel college last Sunday to present the play, "The Green-Eyed Monster's Touch," which was so successfully given in the St. Joseph's auditorium on May 1. The young players did exceedingly well and the play was heartily applauded. The last performance will be given in the evening.

Mrs. and Mrs. Ralph Shepard entertained last evening honoring Mr. J. R. Shepard of Goldendale, Wash.

Mrs. W. C. Kautner of Salem, who has served for several years as chairman of the Near East Bundle Day for Marion County, is busy appointing committees and arranging for the collection of clothing for the Near East sufferers for Bundle Day, May 20.

STOCK INCREASES

Local Cooperative Plant Shares Rise From $40 to $114.43

The Producers' Cooperative Canning & Packing company stock now has an appraised value of $114.43 on par value of $1 per share, after being appraised at $40 a share four years ago. The company also owns and controls a modern up-to-date plant, which handled 1,350,404 pounds of fruit last year, returning good prices to the growers, Frank Gibson, secretary of the organization, reported to the stockholders.

Mr. Gibson also recommended the establishment of dried prune packing plants to cost approximately $25,000, to handle the tonnage which now exceeds the capacity of the company's plant.

GIRL LOSES SUIT

Portland Will Contest Is Decided By Oregon Supreme Court

Only two opinions were handed down by the supreme court Tuesday, in one of which Greta Moore Thompson, Portland, lost her contest of the will of her father, the late Lawrence K. Moore. The opinion, written by Justice Barnett, affirmed Judge George Tazewell of the Multnomah circuit court. Undue influence by her stepmother was alleged.

An action to recover money was won by John Sharp against McGarner, Bates & Livesley, law firm. The opinion, written by Justice Belt, affirmed Judge Gilbert W. Phelps of Multnomah county.

Throngs of Garden Enthusiasts Visit Clements' Gardens at First "At Home"

Salem Floral Society Hostess to Public; Garden in Interesting Phase of Development; New Varieties

By AUDRED BUNCH

Flower lovers, not only from Salem, but also from out of town, gathered in large numbers yesterday afternoon at the attractive grounds surrounding the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Clements for the first garden "at home" of the season, arranged under the direction of the Salem Floral society.

The Clements' gardens, covering a space of two acres, including descending stream banks, are at the end of approximately five years in an interesting phase of their development. Dr. Clements' garden as it is found now, is distinctly a "garden in the making" though few enough are the estates that go through the transition periods with such a glory of color and with landscaping, that, though temporary, is so pleasing. And it remains, that through many of the desirable garden ideals are still undeveloped that this garden, located as it is on the west side of North Fourteenth street, between Chemeketa and Center, is one of the show places in a city that takes pride in its civic beauty.

The entire front garden is all grown from seed. Beyond the brilliant poppies add a splash of color, as will the great bed of penicums on the other side of the walk, before many days. Because it is primarily iris time in all gardens, the iris borders were sources of the greatest admiration during the afternoon. The Siberian iris, the German, or bearded iris, as well as the Spanish and English are all at the height of their beauty now. The English water iris, probably the only specimens in town, gave interest to the edges of the stream, with its deep golden bloom. The Japanese iris is a later variety, of delicate beauty, that will come out in a few weeks.

A garden of 50 rose seedlings, in which Dr. Clement is experimenting interestingly for new and pleasing varieties is altogether as interesting as the beds of iris seedlings, which in spite of the lavish manner in which they are growing are arranged only that they may be available for later planting. In the end Dr. Clement's plans, in general, on an increase of grassy expanses and a rolling lawn. In time a low English fence may take the place of the great seedling beds in front.

The section of the grounds farthest to the east has been given to an interesting experiment relating to the water supply in the garden. Nearer to the house, a cove at the edge of the stream will be reserved for a bog garden and the plants that frequent such make the wrists, and 84,000 square yards of split leather. The local plant is able to turn out about 275 dozen pairs of gloves a day, although the output varies with the kind of glove being made. The main demand for the local gloves comes from the logging industry, with demands from the apple packers in the apple centers.

GLOVE FACTORY SHOWS GROWTH

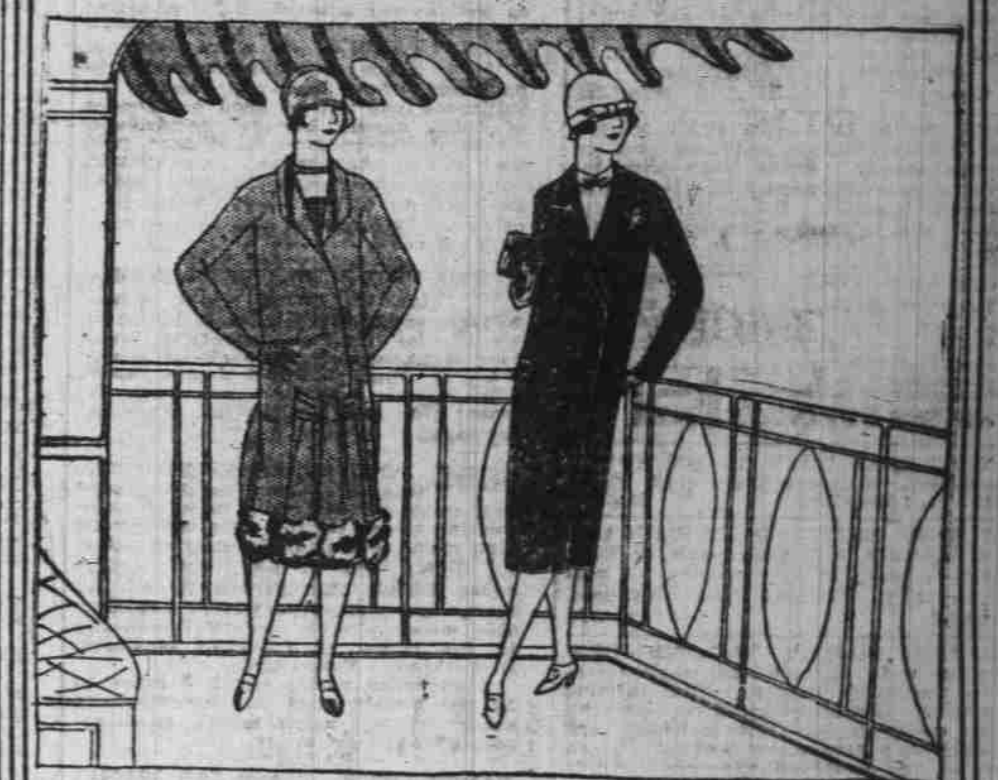

Local Plant Now Employs Nearly 30 People According to L. W. Gleason

The commonplace canvas glove became an interesting thing Tuesday noon, when L. W. Gleason, president of the Gleason Glove company, described its manufacture in a brief address before the Kiwanis club.

"The local plant has been in Salem during the past 15 years, starting with a capitalization of $5,000, and now with an increased capital of $30,000 is able to turn out goods valued between $60,000 and $75,000 per year," he said. "Our gloves are sold principally on the Pacific coast, although we send orders to Alaska and Hawaiian Islands and other states."

Between 20 and 30 people are employed continuously at the local plant, engaged chiefly in making the leather faced glove. He also brought out the fact that the so called canvas glove was a misnomer, as a high grade cotton flannel was used. He stated that 75,000 yards of the material was used, 12,000 pounds of tubing to Plan now to attend Rosaria!

IF THERE is a place in your life for big things—big spectacles, great music, high emotions—you will want to witness Rosaria. It is a magnificent pageant of the rose—the feature of Portland's 1925 Rose Festival. Plan now to attend!

Doris Smith, of Portland, author of the epic-story, has created breathless moments in some of which 5,000 persons appear in episodes of great artistry and soul-stirring human interest.

Charles Wakefield Cadman, one of America's greatest composers, has written the operatic score to be rendered by a magnificent choir of 2,000 trained voices and a grand symphony orchestra.

Montgomery Lynch, noted producer, has trained the cast and chorus perfectly to interpret this wonderful story and beautiful music.

The seating accommodations of Multnomah Stadium are limited. Crowded audiences are expected every night. To avoid disappointment, and insure getting the seats you want, mail your reservations now. Prices: $2.00; $1.50; $1.00; 75c. Remit to 605 Oregon Bldg., Portland.
