MAY IS BUILDING HER HOUSE

May is building her house. From the dust of things she is making the songs and the flowers and the wings; From October's tossed and trodden gold she is making the young year out of the old; Year! out of winter's flying sleet she is making all the summer sweet, And the brown leaves spurned of November's feet she is changing back again to Spring's.

—Richard Le Gallienne.

MRS. GEORGE H. ALDEN was re-elected president of the American Association of University Women at the last meeting of the season held yesterday at the Woman's club house. Other officers were elected as follows: vice president, Mrs. C. A. Downs; secretary, Miss Lella Johnson; treasurer, Mrs. Horace Williston; and trustee of the scholarship loan fund, Mrs. E. C. Richards. Full committee reports, and reports of the many activities of the association throughout the year, were summarized. In relation to the Better Films committee report it was announced that the fourth of the Yale University chronicles will be shown on next Sunday and Monday at the Oregon theater, with a special children's matinee on Saturday, and the pre-viewing, with club presidents asked to send representatives, on Tuesday at 10:30 o'clock. With this chronicle—"Daniel Boone," Jackie Coogan will star in "The Rag Man."

The association will resume full activities again in the fall with those expecting to affiliate themselves with the organization at that time especially asked to hand in their names immediately in order that they may have the opportunity for early planning as far as special work is concerned.

A MAYTIME BRIDE

Mrs. Arthur Frank Kerchoff, nee, Constance Elizabeth Yantis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Rochester Yantis of Detroit, Mich., former Salem residents, whose marriage was solemnized at high noon at the Metropolitan church on May 6.

The news of the marriage of Miss Constance Elizabeth Yantis, a former Salem girl, has been received locally with special interest. The family having lived in Salem for many years, is exceedingly well known in the vicinity. David Rochester Yantis, the father of Miss Yantis, is a sister of Mrs. Linn C. Smith, with Judge and Mrs. Elmer of Portland also relatives.

Miss Yantis' marriage to Mr. Arthur Frank Kerchoff of St. Louis took place on Wednesday, May 6, at high noon, in the chapel of the Metropolitan church of Detroit. The ceremony was unusually beautiful in its simplicity. The bride was given in marriage by her father, while Richard Kerchoff, a brother of the groom, acted as best man. Others were Jerome Benjamin and Bronson Allen.

The bride was gowned in a sandalwood shade satin, striped bengaline ensemble with bands of ostrich and hat to match of straw ecreu lace with touches of velvet ribbon. Her corsage was orchids and lilies of the valley.

The mother of the bride, Mrs. Yantis, wore a blue and gray crepe fabric ensemble; her flowers were lavender sweet peas and pink roses.

A wedding breakfast at the Statler hotel was held for the relatives and friends. The wedding cake, surrounded with smilax, made up the center piece, candleabra holding white tapers and cunning place cards were the only decorations. The out of town guests included Mrs. W. M. Kerchoff, grandmother of the groom, Miss Violet Kerchoff, Daniel Kerchoff and Richard Kerchoff, all of St. Louis.

Mr. Kerchoff and his bride are touring Canada and eastern states for a two months' honeymoon. They will make their home with the groom's father, Daniel C. Kerchoff, Crescent, Mo., for the summer.

The success of the first garden "at home" of the year, as given last week at the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Clements, is ample justification for the announcement of a second, similar affair for this week when the George Putnam, the E. Y. Lansing and the William Hamilton gardens, adjoining on the west crest of Lincoln hill, will be open to all those who desire to call on Thursday, May 21, between 3 and 7:30 o'clock. These three gardens whose landscaping merges in a pleasing manner, illustrate what is probably the most extensive rock garden work in the entire city, especially the complete series of terraces in the former garden. The scenic beauty of the landscape from these three gardens is at sunset time quite unsurpassed. Those who call at the three "open" gardens will also have opportunity to observe the extensive first phases of work on the grounds surrounding the T. A. Livesley home.

Two charming dinner parties, complimenting Mrs. J. Vincent Meherin were enjoyable affairs of Friday and of last night. Mrs. Walter J. Kirk entertaining on Friday and Mrs. Karl Becke at 7 o'clock last night.

On Friday Mrs. Kirk placed covers for ten. A cut glass bowl of cerise sweet peas centered the table with tapers in crystal holders, and the dainty place cards to harmonize. In the group were: Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Farmer, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. McMechan, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Becke, the honor guest, Mrs. J. Vincent Meherin, Bert Ford, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Kirk.

Last night covers at the Becke home were placed for six, including Mrs. Meherin, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Farmer, Carl Gabrielson, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Becke.

Mrs. W. C. Kantner has been made the recipient of an exquisite memento in needlework in token of seven years of faithful service in the interest of the Near East relief work. The memento, the dainty handwork of a refugee mother in the Near East, has come to Mrs. Kantner with a personal letter from Charles V. Vickrey, the general secretary, in deep appreciation of her unflinching cooperation. In the letter Dr. and Mrs. Kantner also receive the secretary's congratulations upon the termination of a long and fruitful pastorate—the end of 50 years.

The beautifully made handkerchief came enclosed in a tinted Mother's day folder bearing the legend of the gift's origin.

A large group of Salem literature lovers motored to Portland on Friday evening for the meeting of the Northwest Poetry society with Professor M. E. Peck and J. R. DeSpain, featuring on the program.

Those motoring down for the event were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Paulus, Mr. and Mrs. John Clifford, Mrs. W. F. Fargo, Dr. and Mrs. F. G. Franklin, Prof. and Mrs. M. E. Peck, Miss Edna Garfield and J. R. DeSpain.

Seventy-five members of the eighth grade and chorus at McKinley junior high school appeared in an operetta Friday night at the school auditorium. The performance was prepared and directed by Gretchen Kremer, supervisor of music. A crowded house greeted the event and may be turned away for the lack of seating capacity.

"El Bandido" (the Bandit) by Dodge, and operetta with Spanish settings lent itself to colorful costumes and attractive scenes.

Bertha Babcock, as Cyrilla, the leading lady sang with assurance and gave a specially dance in characteristic costume.

Nitabel Craft as Zaida was most pleasing in her interpretations and singing. Austin Walker played the dual role of Don Manuel and the Bandit, was entirely satisfactory in his singing and acting. The part of Grandeeo, Governor of Andalusia was taken by Deibert Viesko in a fascinating manner. Other special parts were taken by Max Pemberton, Harry Nelson, Alfred French, Ellsworth McClary and Burton Randall.

Accompaniments for the operetta were supplied by Mrs. Nell M. Doege, pianist and Margaret Kaster and Peter Fockl, violins. The dances by the chorus were coached by Miss Grace Snook. Marjorie Marcus was a reliable assistance prompter. The proceeds are for the benefit of the music department.

Two of the past week's attractive parties were given by Mrs. George A. White, one, a bridge tea on Thursday afternoon, and the second, a 1 o'clock luncheon in the Chinese room of the Gray Belle on Friday.

Seventeen guests were entertained on Thursday at the White home with a profusion of vivid wild flowers used in myriad colors about the rooms. At the tea hour, refreshments were served at the small tables, with Mrs. Vincent Diaz assisting the hostess. Mrs. Leo Page won the afternoon's high score, with second place going to Mrs. Paul Hauser.

On Friday, sixteen prominent matrons were guests of Mrs. White at the Gray Belle. Wild flowers, this time in pink shades again predominated. The delightful effect was completed with the use of a great ivory art basket of pink snapdragons and with ferns about the walls of the rooms. Pink candles were effective on the table, on which two large baskets of woodland flowers were used, in gleaming crystal holders. The place cards adorned with exquisite French bouquets, were also used as tally cards when the guests assembled following the luncheon for bridge at the home of Mrs. White. The first prize was won by Mrs. Henry Meyers and the second by Mrs. C. H. Robertson.

Mrs. A. M. Dafrymple has as her house-guests over the weekend Mrs. Anne Randall White and Miss Virginia Clay, both of Portland.

At one of the loveliest of the season's home weddings Miss Johanna Mildred Lange became the bride of Mr. Richard Adam Thom as of Aberdeen, South Dakota, at the home of the bride's brother, Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Lange. The ceremony took place yesterday at high noon with Reverend Charles E. Ward, pastor of the First Congregational church, officiating. An attractive color scheme, entirely in yellow, completely transformed the rooms, with the fireplace banked with flowers and foliage to form an improvised bowler.

Immediately preceding the ceremony Miss Elizabeth Levy, accompanied by Miss Ruth Bedford played as a violin number, "Oh, Promise Me," following with the impressive strains of the Lohengrin wedding processional.

The bride, in a beautiful gown of white crepe-back satin worn with a filmy veil and adorned with the orange blossoms that were her mother's, carried a lovely shower of bride's roses, lilies of the valley, and pink sweet peas. Miss Lucile Lange, her sister, as maid of honor, was the only attendant. She was charming in a frock of pale green and carried a tulip-tied bouquet of roses and lavender sweet peas. The groom was attended by Dr. F. W. Lange, a brother of the bride. During the ceremony Miss Levy softly played "At Dawning."

Report to date given by chairman of circles is as follows:
East Central, Mrs. H. Vandevort $257.98
South East, Mrs. E. J. Swafford 235.25
Lucy Ann Lee, Mrs. B. Blatchford 135.73

At 2 o'clock a charmingly appointed wedding luncheon was served to the group of relatives and intimate friends who witnessed the impressive ceremony. A cut-glass bowl of yellow roses centered the table where covers were placed for: Mrs. Louisa M. Lange, mother of the bride, Miss M. E. Daniels, of Portland, Mrs. William T. Thomas of Portland, Miss Florence Gilbert, Harold Hoppe, Miss Lucile L. Lange, the bridal couple, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Adam Thomas, and the hosts, Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Lange.

The young couple left at 4 o'clock for Aberdeen, South Dakota, where they will make their home, planning their honeymoon enroute. In Aberdeen, Mr. Thomas is engaged in the furrier business.

Large groups of Salem friends are welcoming with pleasure Mrs. Charles E. Ward and three sons who arrived here on Wednesday to join Reverend Mr. Ward in the new pastorate. The family is now at home in the parsonage of the First Congregational church.

A reunion of former Roseburg residents was the plan of two of the week's most delightful hostesses when on yesterday afternoon Mrs. O. P. Coshow and her daughter, Mrs. K. H. Pickens entertained for a congenial group of friends at the Pickens' home. Little Pauline Nelson pleased with her songs after which the entire afternoon was given to an enjoyable social time. An attractive color scheme of yellow and white was carried out throughout the rooms, with delicious refreshments served at the tea-hour.

Sharing in the pleasure of the afternoon were: Mrs. J. W. McCallister, Mrs. J. W. Nelson, Mrs. W. S. Marsters, Mrs. Errol Kay, Mrs. R. W. Masters, Miss Vivian Masters, Mrs. Ronald Glover, Mrs. W. H. Byars, Mrs. C. P. Bishop, Mrs. George M. Brown, Miss Marjorie Brown, Mrs. H. A. Bellows, Mrs. Alvie Bellows, Mrs. T. A. Rafferty, Miss Gladys Rafferty, Mrs. S. W. Thompson, Mrs. John McClintock of Lebanon, Miss Doris Coshow, of Brownsville, Mrs. F. W. Poorman, Mrs. W. C. Pickens, Mrs. John Hatfield of Roseburg, Mrs. C. K. Haynes, Mrs. J. D. Taylor, Mrs. Allan Carson, Mrs. George Stannard, Miss Alice Zielke, and the hostesses, Mrs. Pickens and Mrs. Coshow.

A number of those invited including Mrs. William McCall and Mrs. Charlotte Selden, whose absence occurred on account of illness, were unable to attend.

An enjoyable event of the past week was the club dinner on Friday evening at the Gray Belle at which members of the Friday bridge club entertained for their husbands. Snapdragons and poppies were used effectively in the decorating at the dinner hour, while at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. White where the guests met later for an evening of cards, red hawthorne and blue iris were attractive. Dr. and Mrs. H. K. Stockwell were special guests for the evening. The four hostesses of the evening were Mrs. U. Scott Page, Mrs. L. W. Gleason, Mrs. David Wright and Mrs. H. O. White. Prizes of the evening were won by Mrs. P. E. Fullerton and Mrs. U. Scott Page.

One of the most inspirational gatherings of the month of May was the regular meeting of the W. H. M. S. of the First M. E. church. The members and friends of this organization who had been working and praying for the success of the Sunbonnet campaign filled the church parlors. Not only was the routine business attended to but it was mite-box in gathering which netted some $80. This was followed by the opening of the sun bonnets distributed from Firri church proceeds of which are to be used in paying the debt on O. P. H. Bonnets came from every direction for every lady wanted to share in this Mother's Day love offering. Even the little folk had a part for the children of the primary department of Sunday school under Mrs. R. L. Farmer gathered in in honor of their mothers the sum of $12.21.

Prof. and Mrs. T. S. Roberts entertained a group of 50 friends in their studio last evening for an interesting musicale given by Little Miss Cavelle Abbott of Portland who, at 6 years of age, shows interesting musical development. The little girl was presented at the piano by her teacher, Kate Dell Marden, and has been taking lessons since last October.

The studio was attractive with Maytime flowers in pink and gold. Refreshments were served with Miss Edith Haun, Miss Ella Rus-
