HIGH SCHOOLS OF STATE

THIRTEEN CITIES REPRE-SENTED BY 233 STUDENTS

Instructors Also Guests at First Smith-Hughes Week-end Held at OAC.

Thirteen Oregon high schools ent 233 students and instructors to the first Smith-Hughes weekend at Oregon Agricultural college recently. This week end of instruction and entertainment, planned and sponsored by the Agricultural club of the college, was the levelopment of an idea conceived by H. H. White, supervisor of agricultural education in the Corvallis high school. He hoped to bring the Smith-Hughes students of the state to Corvallis once a year to show them the work of he college. He and Donald Hill, hen president of the Agricultural club, cooperated with the heads of departments and instructors of he school of agriculture in arranging a program and laid the oundation for an annual evert for the high school' boys of the s'ate who are studying scientific agriculture under the Smith-Hugh-

Saturday morning the boys in pected the animal husbandry and dairy departments. After 10:30 o clock, they were free to visit the greenhouses, farm mechanics buildings, or any other department of the college in which they were interested. Saturday aftermoon they saw the May day festival on the lower campus, and from until 9 o'clock at night they swam in the big tank in the men's /mnasium.
