CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

LIFE LINES

By Fred Taylor

Christianity—Its Ten Points of Power. The disciples were first called Christians. What is the content of Christianity? It has at least ten points of power.

It reveals the Fatherhood of God.

It reasons with man in his mental concepts.

It redeems the soul from the effects of sin.

It recovers the lost idealism of the world.

It reforms the purposes of the human will.

It revives the spirit of faith in God.

It restores the life to the likeness of God.

It regenerates the heart to love the truth.

It relates the actions of man to his God.

It rewards the faithful for work well done.

With these and many other points in favor of Christianity we resolve to be not only almost persuaded but wholly persuaded to be a Christian.
