ONE OF THE MOST enjoyable affairs of the week took place yesterday afternoon at the First Baptist church when members of the Court-On-Me class entertained for the pleasure of the 35th class at the home of Mrs. Harry Ralph. Assistant hostesses of the afternoon were Mrs. J. J. Newmyer, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. A. C. Linky, Mrs. A. J. Mathis, Mrs. Graham and Mrs. Graham. The devotional was beautifully conducted by Mrs. S. Willis and Mrs. Gile. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Gregg.

The whole theme, in both floral decorations and in program, carried out a delightful old-fashioned atmosphere.

Mrs. Theodore Roth led in a group of old fashioned songs. Mrs. Raffety gave an appropriate reading and Miss Alberta Koozitz sang "An Old Fashioned Garden" and "Silver Threads Among the Gold." Mrs. G. Ed Ross had charge of arranging the program. The Ralph home was beautifully and effectively decorated with a host of old-fashioned flowers.

Guests of the afternoon included Mrs. A. W. McConnell, Mrs. Rose Bronchshie, Mrs. Laura Clark, Mrs. Jennie Brownell, Mrs. S. R. Vail, Mrs. Gile, Mrs. Ringo, Mrs. Page, Mrs. G. Page, Mrs. P. Reed, Mrs. F. E. Zinn, Mrs. K. A. White, Miss L. Haines, Mrs. Zona, Akins, Mrs. George Sup. Ruth Byrne, Mrs. Prudence Crawford, Mrs. Mary Straw and Mrs. K. L. Arnold.

The Colonial Dame Tea Shoppe was the scene on Monday evening of a delightful dinner party, when Miss Nina McNary was entertained by members of her Bible class. The honor guest was made the recipient during the evening of a beautiful bouquet of flowers.

Mrs. C. A. Arpke was hostess at her home on Fairmount hill Tuesday when she entertained the Barbara Frieche Sewing club. After a delightful afternoon of needlework, refreshments were served by Mrs. Flora Clark, Mrs. Fannie Gregory and Mrs. Grace Green.

The Salem Floral society will sponsor the second garden "at home" of the season from 3 to 7:30 this afternoon and early evening when the George Putnam, the E. V. Lansing, and the William Hamilton gardens will be opened to the general public. Those, especially, interested in related landscape and artistic rockwork will find much to win their approval. All three gardens are admirably located from the standpoint of vista on the west crest of Lincoln Hill, just north of the termination of Lincoln street.

Assisting Mrs. Hamilton at the Hamilton home will be Mrs. G. C. Belling, Mrs. Phil Newmyer, and Mrs. Fred Zimmerman.

At the Lansing garden the hostesses will be Mrs. F. D. Thielens, Mrs. Chester Cox, Mrs. Arthur Vassall, and Mrs. Clifford Brown. Hostesses at the Putnam home will include: Mrs. J. D. Cradlock, Mrs. J. A. Churchill, Mrs. E. M. Hoffnail and Miss Mabel Robertson.

Chapter G of the PEO sisterhood will meet for a Mothers' day program this afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. E. Fisher. Mrs. W. M. Smith and Mrs. P. J. Kuntz have arranged the program.

Mrs. Clifton Irwin will entertain today for the members of her bridge club.

The West-North division of the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid society will hold a cooked food sale on

Mr. and Mrs. John H. McNary entertained at an enjoyable meeting of the Merry-Go-Round club at their home on Tuesday evening. Bowls and baskets of roses and coast rhododendron were used about the rooms where 500 was enjoyed, with the high score going to Mrs. H. W. Thielens and Mr. W. G. Allen.

At the next meeting of the club Mrs. Thielens will entertain.

The ladies of GAR will meet on Saturday at 2:30 o'clock at the Armory. A general business meeting with a memorial service for members who have passed away the past year will be held. A pot-luck luncheon will be served.

A particularly delightful meeting of the Writers' club was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Blanche M. Jones, with Miss Grace Elizabeth Smith, the new chairman, presiding. The club entertained Mrs. Valentyne, the house guest of Mrs. F. S. Barton, and Miss Elizabeth Hyde among the special guests.

The evening's program opened with the reading of one of Amy Lowell's poems and a discussion of the life of the late Miss Lowell by Mrs. J. C. Nelson.

Mrs. F. S. Barton read a charming verse, "The Shepherd from Over the Hills," and Miss Marie Roberts read a cleverly conceived story, "Eljah Buys Himself a New Chariot."

Dr. F. G. Franklin contributed again from his book on political subjects, giving the elucidatory chapter on "The No-Nothing Period." Miss Grace Elizabeth Smith then pleased with a character sketch.

The interesting contribution of Mrs. W. F. Fargo was the reading of two published poems, "Blossoms of May Day," from the current issue of "Social Progress."

Charles J. Lisle in a story, "The Tower," dealt with legendary research relating to a historic point on the Santiam. Miss Florence Jones read a pictorial story for which she hasn't yet chosen the title.

Mrs. F. G. Franklin reported on the banquet meeting in Portland of the Oregon Writers' league, while Miss Elizabeth Hyde, one of the guests, read an enjoyable group of her original poems.

Additional members of the club in the group for the evening were Prof. and Mrs. M. E. Peck, Mrs. Elizabeth Sherwood, Mrs. Charles J. Lisle, Miss Reneka Swart, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Paulus, Ruth Jones Smith, and the hostess, Mrs. Blanche M. Jones.

An interesting musicale will take place this evening at the First Christian church when the more advanced violin students of Miss Elizabeth Levy will be presented by their teacher. The interested public is cordially invited.

Assisting at the piano will be Mrs. H. W. Grow, Miss Margaret Hogg and Miss Ruth Bedford. Mr.

Henry Lee will be cellist. A 33-piece orchestra will also add to the attractiveness of the program.

Those participating will be: June Director, Henrietta Blageslee, Norma Greene, Bernice Blageslee, Yvonne Pickell, Nathan Steinbock, Mabel Kullander, Dorothy Clarke, Fay Irwin, Alice Skinner and Ruby Norgard.

Miss Marjorie Brown entertained the ONS club at her home Tuesday evening. Those present were: Herma Plister, Naomi Swink, Lily Pollard, Mrs. Fawc, Greta Boumange, Fannie Hill, Cathryn Bates, Laura Eaton, Lois Reed, Elsie Egans, Ruth Parry, Gladys Paul and Mildred Severson.

Ruth Purdy and Gladys Paul, members of the entertainment committee provided amusements for the evening. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Jackie Coogan in "The Rag Man" came to town Tuesday and standing on a pile of junk heaped up on a rag man's cart, proclaiming again the genius that is his. There is only one Jackie Coogan, though how many sides there are to his amazing art is not yet fully disclosed, for every picture as it comes along shows different phases of his wise, dramatic and comedy appeal.

That "The Rag Man," his fourth Metro-Goldwyn production will prove to be one of Jackie's most popular pictures seems assured from the enthusiasm that was exhibited by yesterday's audience. "The Rag Man" has the advantage of appealing with equal force to the juvenile and to the mature. Its story by Willard Mack deals with an Irish-American boy who becomes the partner of a Jewish junk dealer in New York.

Jackie's role recalls the one he had in "The Kid," with Charlie Chaplin. And Jackie was never better.

The production was supervised by Jack Coogan, Sr., and directed by Eddie Cline.

On Saturday morning at 10 o'clock a special matinee will be held for the school children at the Oregon theater, a day before the film is formally shown for their elders.

The Woman's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Episcopal church will meet on Friday afternoon at the rectory with Mrs. H. D. Chambers the hostess.

Mrs. Donald Young entertained on Tuesday at two tables of bridge complimenting Mrs. Allan Bynon of Portland. Old fashioned spring flowers, anemones, iris and peonies, were used about the rooms. Mrs. Hollis Huntington won the afternoon's high score.

In the group were: Mrs. Allan Bynon, Mrs. Hollis Huntington, Mrs. Paul Hendricks, Mrs. John H. Carson, Mrs. William Rinehart, of Eugene, Mrs. Homer Egan, Mrs. Clifford Farmer, Mrs. Clifton Irwin, Mrs. Orris Fry, and the hostess, Mrs. Donald Young.

FRAT RECEIVES CHARTER

NATIONAL SOCIOLOGICAL ORDER COMES TO CAMPUS

The Oregon Alpha Chapter of the Phi Gamma Mu, national honorary sociological fraternity, received their charter from the national headquarters yesterday. The chapter, located at Willamette University, is the first in Oregon to become chartered.

There are 46 charter members of the fraternity and include a number of the Willamette professors and members of the classes in sociology who have shown unusual ability.

The officers of the fraternity are Professor S. B. Laughlin, head of the department, president, and Danail Taylor, Willamette senior, secretary.

Lamp Shades Are Easy To Make

A wire frame, some silk, several yards of ribbon and a tube of best quality glue are all that one needs to create this lovely lamp shade. The glue is first applied sparingly to the frame by using the spreader in the top of the tube as in Fig. 1. The various sections of the silk foundation are then drawn smoothly over the frame and held in place by the glue which has already been applied to the wire frame as in Fig. 2. Gaily colored oriental motifs cut from cretonne are glued to the lower edge of each section and the whole is finished

Silverton

The Tuesday afternoon session of the Methodist Episcopal church convention which is being held at Silverton opened with Rev. Thomas Acheson leading the devotion.

A short business session was held at which a number of reports were given. The reports showed a prosperous growth in the district. It was also announced that the four superintendents of the district would call at the churches belonging to the district in June. The tour will begin June 18, and will last one week. Those going are Dr. D. H. Leech, A. S. Heisy, A. L. Howarth and S. A. Danford. The inspection tour will begin at Hillsboro, go to McMinnville, Sherwood, Molalla, Silverton, Salem, Albany, Corvallis, Dallas, Willamina and Tillamook. The route will cover 42 charges and the superintendents will remain about one hour at each place.

Following the business session Tuesday afternoon the Commercial club furnished means of transportation to take the visitors to Silver Creek Falls. The tourists went up the long way and returned by the short route on the south side of the creek.

Tuesday evening Bishop William O. Shepard gave a lecture on his recent trip to Africa. In speaking of this trip Bishop Shepard said he went 20,000 miles by boat and 10,000 by line and while there he visited four large mission fields in South Africa. Bishop Shepard said that if Abraham Lincoln's statement that "God loves the common people or He wouldn't have made so many of them," be true, then "surely God loves Africa because there is so much of it." He went on to say that while he didn't go there to see wild beasts he saw one lion a few rods from him. He went on to explain that it didn't frighten him any, however, as it was in a cage. He said that as far as he was concerned, the mosquito was the most dangerous wild beast in Africa.

He spoke of the natives, numbering between 130 and 175 millions, as quick to learn. The figures on the population according to Bishop Shepard, are merely estimates as the inhabitants have never been counted. At first, he said, the missionaries used charts in their teaching but they soon found these inadequate as when a native had read one through he could turn around and repeat the whole thing from memory. The wonderful memory of the black people was particularly stressed by Bishop Shepard.

Bishop Shepard told much of the living conditions of the black men. These were exceptionally poor. "Yes, in Africa I hobnobbed with royalty. At one time I was invited to visit a king in his palace. We had to enter it on all four, the door being but two feet high. There were no windows, no furniture. We seated ourselves on the floor which was the bare earth. In the center of the hut, for such was the king's palace, was a round hole in the ground, containing a number of leaves and sticks. These, to honor me, the king lit. I soon found that I would have preferred that he had not wished to honor me, so much as there was no chimney and the hut soon became smoky." Mr. Shepard said that the smoky huts told on the biary and bloodshot eyes of the natives.

Bishop Shepard also spoke of the roads in Africa which were made mostly by women. In fact it seemed that very nearly all of the African hard labor was done by women. "The roads," said Bishop Shepard, "might be compared to those we traveled to reach Silver Creek Falls. Anyway they weren't very good." The roads were plastered by hand by the women who worked at this ten hours a day. Bishop Shepard had traveled over a 65 mile stretch of road made in this manner.

Many other things of interest did Bishop Shepard tell. He was offered the whole library belonging to 750,000 people. "It consisted of one book—the New Testament of the Bible. There were 110 schools about the first mission I visited but there were no books. Ten million black people are influenced by Christianity. And then there are those who say that the world is getting worse. In former years America stole five million people from Africa. Now Americans are trying to teach many times this number how to live.

"When a native becomes a Christian he at once wants to leave his round hut for a square house such as the missionaries use and also to don clothing. I saw no congregations of unclothed natives. Now and then a naked savage would steal in but as a whole those living in the Christian communities were clothed. Four missions stations are manned and taught by native teachers."

Mrs. R. E. Kleinsorge distributed two quart fruit jars and one pint jar to each member of the Legion Auxiliary at its regular Monday night meeting. The jars are to be filled with fruits and jams and returned to Mrs. Kleinsorge. Mrs. Kleinsorge is chairman of the Legion hospital committee and will use these fruits at the Silverton hospital. Committees in charge reported that two dozen hot water bottle covers had been donated to Hospital No. 77 at Portland and two dozen jars of fruit to the Silverton hospital. Donations of flower vases and baskets were asked for the Silverton hospital as fruit jars were now being used in many cases as flower containers.

Mrs. Harry Benton and Mrs. Charles Johnson were elected as delegates to the convention to be held at Prineville in June.

Alternates are Mrs. Clarence Rosheim and Mrs. Claire Jarvis. Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Loomis are moving to Drain, Oregon, this week. Mr. Loomis will take up work for the Standard Oil company there on Friday. He has been in the employ of the Silverton station for some years. Mr. Loomis was an active member of the Silverton post of the American Legion.

Wouldnt you spend 7% to save 50%?

Lumber, plaster, roofing and other building materials, plus the carpenters' wages needed to build—these make up 50% of the total cost of the average six room frame house.

Then the cost for protection against depreciation and decay—Paint and Varnish, in other words—only 7% of the total cost.

There is only one, to remember in spending that 7%—that is Rasmussen.

Rasmussen Pure Paints and Varnishes excel in covering capacity, lasting finish and protective qualities. They are the safest insurance of property values—and beauty.

Ask your dealer for color cards. Ask your painter for an estimate.
