BANKERS SWAMP HENRY'S

The Valley Motor company baseball team lost to the United States bankers last night in a one-sided game as shown by the lopsided score of 14 to 1. The Forts were weak on the infield and the outfield, while Proctor was the whole team. He scored the only run the losers gained, on a simple straight baseball play. Nothing exciting was put across during the game, except that the Bankers clearly demonstrated that they were in the championship class to meet the American Legion in the semi-finals.

"If it works, it's true!"

But it doesn't prove out in practice—this legend about salt as an aid to bird-catching.

Neither does the superstition that there is something mysteriously "better" about eastern lubricants—merely because they cost more. Every quart of Zerolene you buy proves the groundlessness of this superstition.

Pacific Coast Crude Is Best
Zerolene is a western oil—and a better oil even if it does cost less.

As a matter of fact, the best crude petroleum so far discovered for the manufacture of a motor lubricant is obtained from Pacific Coast wells, and the most advanced refining process is this Company's patented high-vacuum process during the use of which Zerolene is submitted to 15 positive checks for quality.

Experienced Drivers Prefer Zerolene
Experienced drivers know this—that Zerolene lubricates more cars in the Pacific Coast states than any other oil made—heavy-duty trucks and high-priced cars alike. Superstitions don't work out in practice—Zerolene will increase the gasoline mileage of your car, reduce carbon accumulation in the cylinders and lengthen your car's working life.

Why pay tribute to a superstition? Insist on Zerolene—ask for it by name.
