SEVENTY-FIFTH YEAR

SALEM, OREGON, THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 28, 1925

PRICE FIVE CENTS

SALEM ELKS WILL LAY CORNERSTONE

Appropriate Ceremonies to Mark Rites Beginning at 7 O'Clock Tonight

LODGE FORMED IN 1896

From 47 Charter Members Organization Increases Until 1410 Names Are Now Listed on Roster

The laying of the corner stone of the new Elks temple at 7 o'clock tonight will mark another chapter in the history of the local lodge. Fitting ceremonies are to be observed with William S. Levens, state prohibition commissioner, as orator of the day.

Members of the lodge are to gather at the old temple at 6:45 o'clock and will march to the new temple, headed by the Elks band.

Following the exercises the Elks will march back to their old quarters for their regular Thursday evening lodge session.

The Salem Elks lodge was organized April 21, 1896 with 47 charter members, using the old YMCA building as lodge room.

Several important documents are to be placed in the corner stone. The most important one will be a paper containing a brief history of the local lodge, in addition to the roster of 1410 members, blueprints, which have been officially approved by the grand exalted ruler, a letter bearing his signature, and acknowledgment of the plans, a copy of the June Elks, the latest issue of the Pacific Coast Elk and of the Salem Elk-let.

A picture of the old Liberty street temple will be included in the list. A copy of the contract used in constructing the old temple, which has been signed by C. Van Patten, and members of the building committee. Other articles to be included are the Oregon Statesman, the Portland Oregonian and the Capital Journal.

Members of the building committee who directed the construction of the new temple are Charles R. Archer, Dr. H. H. Olinger, W. D. Evans, E. W. Hazard, Homer H. Smith, T. B. Kay, and F. T. Wrightman.

BOARD PLANS FAVORED

SCRAPPING OF OLD VESSELS SAID BEST FOR SHIPPING

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(By The Associated Press.)—The shipping board took a step today toward weeding out obsolete vessels and placing its fleet on a more compact basis, adopting a resolution recommended by its scrapping committee specifying that 200 designated ships should be advertised for sale as scrap.

The action was hailed by Chairman O'Connor as enabling the board to turn its attention more definitely to the sale of ships for operation. He left immediately after the board meeting for Detroit to keep an appointment with Henry Ford, who is expected to bid for the ships to be scrapped and in addition has indicated that he might buy 20 or 30 others for operation.

Mr. O'Connor intends to discuss the refrigerator vessels situation with the manufacturer and also the possible purchase of other ships for operation along lines indicated in a conversation with Mr. Ford a few weeks ago.

The refrigerator ships have been idle for several years, but it has been said they could be used to carry automobile parts to South America and bring back fruits.

FLIGHT TO ALASKA SAID INTENTION OF AMUNDSEN

PROLONGED HOP CONTEMPLATED AT POLE

Head of Appointed Relief Corps Declares Intention Was Announced

NEW YORK, May 27.—(By Associated Press.)—Amundsen planned to go on to Alaska if successful in his quest of the north pole, it was announced today by Bernard S. Prentice, New York stock broker and brother-in-law of Lincoln Ellsworth, the explorer's companion.

"I happen to know it was Amundsen's intention, if conditions were favorable at the pole to go on to Alaska," he said. Prentice announced that he was chairman of an American advisory committee, appointed by Amundsen and Ellsworth to take relief measures if necessary. His statement is considered important in the discussion which has arisen concerning the expedition's intentions in the event it reached "the top of the world."

Vilhjalmur Stefansson, Arctic explorer and Wrangell Island colony founder, told The Associated Press last Saturday that he was certain Amundsen expected to extend his flight to Alaska after reaching the pole. This assertion was met with a number of denials, several sources giving the assurance that Amundsen and Ellsworth planned to return to Spitzbergen directly after the polar flight had been accomplished.

Prentice made no comment on these conflicting assertions beyond stating that he "happened to know" the Alaska trip had been Amundsen's intention, and adding: "I know that he (Amundsen) sacrificed the advantage of having a radio apparatus with him in order to be able to take on additional gasoline."

TITING BILL ATTACKED

PETITIONS FILED FEW MINUTES BEFORE MIDNIGHT

Ten minutes before midnight referendum petitions bearing 9356 certified signatures attacking the so-called titing bill were filed with the secretary of state. Time for filing expired at midnight, but when no word was received from the sponsors at 5 o'clock, when the office closed, it was believed that the petition would not materialize. The signatures are barely sufficient to carry the petition.

The titing bill provides that 10 per cent of the fees received from self-supporting departments and commissions be turned into the general fund. It is sponsored by Tom E. Shea of the Portland News.

The other petitions were filed earlier in the week. These were the referendum on the bus and truck measure and the cigarette and tobacco tax measure. All three will come before the people at the general election in November, 1926.

MANY LAWS IN EFFECT

STATE OFFICIALS MUST WALK OR DRIVE OWN CAR

More trouble for the common citizen is expected today with approximately 235 new statutes going into effect at midnight last night. A majority of these, however, have little effect upon personal rights.

Of the new laws, 23 pertain to school matters, while state officials and employees must either walk or drive their own automobile, for private use or state-owned machines is under the ban.

Beginning today justices of the supreme court, district attorneys and a host of county officials will begin to draw increased salaries as a result of acts passed by the 1925 legislature.

WOODMEN ORGANIZED

DEVELOPMENT COMPANY IS LAUNCHED LAST NIGHT

The organization meeting of the Woodland Development company was held last night, at which members of the Woodmen of the World appointed incorporate officials and laid plans for providing for share holders to the organization.

J. A. Mills, Dr. O. L. Scott, M. J. Stewart, E. L. Hamilton, and C. K. Haynes were appointed as incorporators. The organization has secured an option on Spang's Landing, and are proposing to build one of the most up-to-date summer resorts in the Willamette valley.

Directors for the organization will be elected at a later meeting, with J. A. Mills, president; E. L. Hamilton, vice president; Dr. O. L. Scott, secretary, and C. K. Haynes, treasurer.

NEW INDICTMENTS MADE IN OIL CASE

Fall, Doheny, and Sinclair Are Charged With Criminal Conspiracy

CHARGES TO BE PUSHED

Indictments Declared to be More Comprehensive Than Previous Case Quashed by Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(By The Associated Press.)—Determined that the oil scandal case shall go before a criminal court, the government today obtained new indictments against Albert B. Fall, E. L. Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair.

The indictments charge conspiracy in connection with the leasing of the Teapot Dome and Elk Hill naval reserves, and in this respect are more comprehensive than those quashed recently in District of Columbia supreme court.

A charge of bribery, which the original indictment attached to Fall, E. L. Doheny and E. L. Doheny, Jr., was omitted and E. L. Doheny, Jr., was not reindicted.

Atlee Pomeroy of government counsel said the indictments were asked for as a precautionary measure and that the government would fight through the supreme court to have the original charges go to trial. For this reason, he said, re-indictment on the bribery accusation was not sought. There also has been a question as to whether the statute of limitations has expired on the bribery charge.

The new indictment covering the oil leases charges that the conspiracy included the sale of oil to the government without competitive bidding, the purchase of storage of facilities, buying of kerosene, lubricating oil and petroleum and the adoption of a credit sale method of purchase by which no cash passed to the United States.

In the Doheny indictment the alleged payment of $100,000 to Fall is covered, while in the charges against Sinclair is the alleged passage of $230,500 in Liberty bonds from Sinclair to Fall. This count was not in the original indictment.

An effort was made by the government's special oil counsel in the Cheyenne, Wyo., civil proceedings for annulment of the Teapot Dome lease to bring out an alleged passage of bonds from Sinclair to Fall, with the now defunct continental trading company, Ltd., of Canada as intermediary. The indictment returned today against Sinclair and Fall, however, did not attempt to specify how the alleged $230,500 transaction took place.

Other new charges specify executions of the lease of April 7, 1922, to Teapot Dome and the execution of a construction contract of February 8, 1923.

The original indictments were quashed because of the presence of a department of justice agent in the grand jury room. The court held that inasmuch as the case could be turned over to special government counsel by act of congress, the department should not have been represented in the room.

Virtually the same witnesses who testified before previous grand jury in the oil cases were called by the jury returning the indictments.

Frank J. Hogan, counsel for Doheny issued a statement declaring the "striking thing" about the indictment was the absence of the name of E. L. Doheny Jr.

"By the failure to re-indict young Doheny," he said, "the prosecution admits the utter lack of any justification for the original indictment against him."

Wednesday in Washington

The shipping board voted to offer 200 ships for sale for scrapping.

The government filed an appeal in the Chemical Foundation case with the supreme court.

Hope for the return of the Amundsen expedition was held out by Donald MacMillan, veteran Arctic explorer.

Former Vice President Marshall continued to recuperate from what attending physicians described as a complication of severe cold and exhaustion.

New indictments charging conspiracy were returned by a federal grand jury against Albert B. Fall, Edward L. Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair in connection with the naval oil leases.

AMUSEMENTS MAY 30 CONDEMNED BY VETS

MEMORIAL DAY HELD SACRED TO DEAD COMRADES

Capitalizing Not Good Amusement; Military Tourney to Be Held at OAC

Representatives of military and patriotic organizations of the city, particularly the older ones, are unalterably opposed to baseball games, motorcycle and automobile races, dances and the military tournament at the Oregon Agricultural college in particular being held in connection with Memorial Day. Such events, they claim, are not good Americanism on May 30th.

"There is too much significance in the day to capitalize it by making it a gala occasion," Charles J. Lisle, Spanish American War Veteran and a member of the Sons of Veterans, acting as spokesman for a number of the military organizations, said last night. "This day, of all days of the year, should be set aside in memory of departed soldiers who gave their lives for their country in times of need."

Holding it too late for any official action, Governor Pierce yesterday told a committee from the Sons of Veterans and its auxiliary that he would not interfere with the military tournament at Corvallis Saturday. The Grand Army of the Republic also joined in the protest of the Sons of Veterans.

"I deeply regret," the governor said, "that the tournament was dated for Decoration Day. I have studiously tried to prevent automobile races and similar amusements on this day. Hereafter I shall request that the OAC military tournament be held at some other time."

LIQUOR PARTY JAILED

MEN AND WOMEN COME TO GRIEF LATE LAST NIGHT

Powerful liquor, a drive to the bright lights of the city caused two men and two women, residents of Silverton, to land in the police station last night, charged with illegal transportation of liquor, drunkenness and disorderly conduct, according to police records. Ray Able, 21, was charged with the possession of liquor and his woman companion is said to have been placed in the city jail to sober up.

Delos McVay, also with the party, was not charged specifically with possession of liquor, but was brought to the station as a member of the party.

CATHOLIC EDUCATOR DIES

SPOKANE, May 27.—The Rev. Father Francis Burke, S. H. 65, who has been prominent in Catholic church school work in Washington for 26 years, died here late today. He was vice president of the Seattle college two years and was connected with Gonzaga university for several years.

QUOTA QUICKLY RAISED

LEGION WORKERS OBTAIN $4000 IN SHORT ORDER

Practically without a hitch, Salem's quota to the American Legion endowment campaign within 48 hours after the opening hour, and Capital Post has the honor of going over the top with a bang. At 4 o'clock $3500 had been subscribed, while several teams were in the field and had not reported. From all indications it is safe to say that the quota was realized, and the city will be among those listed as subscribing more than their share.

The American Legion endowment move is to secure $5,000,000 with which to care for the orphans of ex-service men, especially of those who died during the war.

BREAK IS THREATENED

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 27.—The 137th general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America ended here today with the moderate faction asserting that if its actions are not ratified by the church body generally, a split in the denomination is inevitable.

STORES CLOSE SATURDAY

BUSINESS TO BE AT STANDSTILL MEMORIAL DAY

Stores of Salem will close Memorial day, according to the statements by the Associated Merchants of the city yesterday. Only one exception remains, however, and that is the matter of closing for the butcher shops. Some desire to open part of the morning, while others desire to remain closed all the day.

The restaurant and hotel demand for meat supplies is responsible for creating the snag in the closing arrangements, according to the report.

COUNSEL CLASH DURING IMPANELING OF VENIRE

SHEPHERD CASE DRAGS AS JURY TROUBLE CONTINUES

Extreme Difficulty Experienced in Completing Assembly of Twelve Men

CHICAGO, May 27.—(By Associated Press.)—Extreme difficulty was encountered today in efforts to obtain a jury to try William Darling Shepherd for the alleged feeding of lethal germs and poisons to his millionaire foster son, William Nelson McClintock, and adjournment examination of 24 veniremen had produced no additional juror.

Three jurors, one man temporarily passed by both prosecution and defense and eight veniremen who had not been interrogated were locked up. Apparent ill feeling between the prosecutor, Robert E. Crowe and Chief of Defense Counsel William Scott Stewart, indicated in clashes since Crowe ordered an investigation of jury fixing, flared today.

The prosecutor once demanded Stewart be reprimanded after Stewart had objected to the state's examination of a venireman, and appealed for "protection of the court."

"You will need it," and "you are no longer on the bench, and Judge Lynch will make the rulings in this case," Stewart retorted. The only tangible charge of jury tampering was held in abeyance today when Judge T. J. Lynch gave counsel for James Callan an additional 24 hours to prepare replies to 23 interrogatories as to whether Callan had represented himself as employed by Stewart and tried to "fix" a venireman.

Prosecutor Crowe looked toward New York tonight for the arrest of Robert White, missing witness claimed by both state and defense although New York detectives reported they had been unable to trace White beyond a fictitious address.

COOLIDGE ENDORSES POPPY DAY PROGRAM

SALE FOR DISABLED VETERANS HELD APPEALING

Emblem Is Symbolical of Services and Sacrifices Made During Conflict

Endorsement of the "Buddy Poppy" day of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, which closes today, has been given by President Coolidge, according to a letter to the commander in chief of the organization at Washington, D. C. The letter is as follows:

"The annual sale of poppies, made by disabled ex-service men, throughout the country under the auspices of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, has seemed to me to reflect a particularly appealing sentiment of regard for and interest in the disabled ex-service men. It is calculated to perpetuate the fine sentiments which have made the poppy so peculiarly symbolical of the services and the sacrifices of the men who gave so much that freedom might survive in this world.

"I am glad to comply with your request for a word of endorsement and approval of this campaign."

TWO DIE IN CAR CRASH

MAN AND WOMAN KILLED WHEN AUTO DIVES IN RIVER

PORTLAND, Ore., May 27.—Mrs. Ethel Newton, 36, wife of A. F. Newton, of Portland, and Allen Bishop, 28, a salesman, were killed today, when an automobile driven by Bishop plunged 200 feet from the baseline road into the Sandy river. Mrs. Newton was drowned and Bishop died later after he had been taken from the river and removed to a hospital here.

Cause for the accident was not known as no one saw the car plunge from the road. Bishop was rescued by persons who heard his cries and found him clinging to a log. He lapsed into unconsciousness when taken from the river.

PLEASE SPARE THE TREES

"Woodman, spare that tree! Touch not a single bough!" A good Salem woman came to The Statesman office yesterday for the life of the trees in the Odd Fellows' cemetery. This is the beginning of that plea, which is gladly made. If anyone thing more than another is appropriate to a cemetery, it is a tree; or many trees.

This is only the opening of the subject. The Statesman will be glad to give space to all pleas for the lives of the beautiful trees in Salem's historic cemetery.

LIQUOR CARS CAN NOT BE SEIZED, NOW SAID

MUST BE TRANSPORTED FROM PLACE MANUFACTURE

Court Holds Federal Men Can Not Hold Cars Unless Proof Is Given

SPOKANE, May 27.—Seizure of automobiles by federal prohibition officials has practically stopped in the eastern Washington district. H. S. McClure, prohibition enforcement officer for eastern Washington, declared here today in discussing the effect of a recent ruling of United States District Judge J. Stanley Webster.

Mr. McClure said that under Judge Webster's ruling it is necessary that an automobile be transported from its place of manufacture before it is subject to seizure under the internal revenue law. Under the Volstead act, he said, the federal officers cannot accept an automobile on a seizure made by state officers or private citizens.

Our federal force is too small to give us much of a chance to do patrol work, McClure said, "and now that we are unable to avail ourselves of the help of the state officers, practically no cars are being seized."

STUDENTS WANT CO-OP STORE CONTROLLED BY TRUSTEES IS NOT DESIRED

A great amount of discussion was aroused at the regular Willamette University student body meeting Wednesday regarding the committee report submitted on the advisability of securing a student co-operative store on the campus in place of the present student store controlled by the board of trustees.

The committee favored the enterprise and declared it to be a sound business. The plan presented is to buy the present store from the Willamette trustees and to pay for it in three or four years, if possible out of the earnings of the store.

In the discussion it was pointed out that the question of whether or not such a project would arouse the antagonism of the local business men was of paramount importance as it is necessary to secure the support of these men if the school publications are to be successfully managed.

The meeting adjourned before definite action was taken as a quorum was not present at the close of the meeting.

60 MEN ENTOMBED BY BLAST IN MINE

Fate Is Undetermined; Hope Is Held That Some May Yet Be Alive

SIX BODIES ARE FOUND

Coal Mine Tragedy Occurs One Thousand Feet Below Surface; Fresh Air Is Sent to the Victims

COAL GLEN, N. C., May 28.—(By The Associated Press.)—Hope that any of the three score or more miners entombed in the Carolina coal company mine near here yesterday would be found alive was abandoned by rescuers early today.

Members of the rescue crews, who had recovered six bodies from the mine expressed the belief that if the miners escaped the three explosions which wrecked the shaft, they have succumbed to the aftermath.

COAL GLEN, N. C., May 27.—(By Associated Press.)—The fate of three score miners buried at 9:30 o'clock this morning by an explosion below the 1000 foot lateral of the Carolina Coal company's mine near here, was undetermined tonight. Mine workers who had the main shaft in relays during the day succeeded in bringing to the surface six bodies, the first to be taken from the pit.

Records of the mine showed that 59 men, 39 white and 20 negroes, had comprised the crew which went into the mine this morning while mine officials reported that 71 mines' lamps were out and it was believed the entombed list might be increased when finally checked.

Hope was expressed tonight by Bion H. Butler, vice president of the mining company, and William Hill of the Cumcock Coal mine near by, that the entombed men might still live. Miners from the Cumcock company aided throughout the day in rescue work.

Mr. Hill said that the air was clear in the mine below where the bodies were found and this was held to indicate that the entrapped men might still be alive. The fans were going all day, purifying the inner recesses of the mine, that eager fellow workers and those from nearby points might penetrate farther into the dark passages.

Mr. Butler told newspaper men tonight that his information was that the first explosion was in the second right lateral of the mine, approximately a thousand feet from the entrance. He added that it was true the main shaft may not have filled with gas but merely was blocked with debris.
