Russian Nobleman, Once czar's Consul General would like job as cook

Baron Antoine Volkoff, former Russian Consul General for the Central Department of the United States at Chicago, had jurisdiction over 1,000,000 Russian subjects. For 25 years he served the late czar and held appointments at many of the principal cities in Europe and the Orient. Once Central Western social circles marveled at the beautiful jewels and gorgeous parties dispensed by this nobleman. With the beginning of the Bolshevik regime the expenditures of millions ceased and today the nobleman is a meager apartment in a cheap section of Chicago. He wants a job and would be pleased if he could secure work as an assistant cook on the largest of hotels of the culinary art.

Miller, Miss Edna Worden, Miss Frances Plov, Miss Ruth Walker, Miss Pauline Patterson, Miss Regina Claggett, Miss Doris Bowden, Miss Irene Boje, and Miss Bertha Miller the hostess.

Miss Della Amsler, whose marriage to Halfrid J. Hjort of Portland will be solemnized at 8 o'clock this evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Amsler, was the honor guest at a miscellaneous shower planned by the members of the Schubert Octette, and held in the studio at Derby Hall.

Orange blossoms were used in decking the room where a sprinkling can was suspended by a bow of meline with narrow pastel ribbons running from the perforations in the sprinkler-cup and leading to the gifts for the bride-elect. Dainty refreshments were served at a late hour.

Mrs. Frank Churchill, Mrs. B. J. Miles, and Mrs. W. W. Moore were among those in attendance on Thursday at the state PEO convention in Oregon City.

Reverend Ward Willis Long was the officiating clergyman at the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Edna Davis and Mr. Richard Slater, the service being read at high noon at the First Presbyterian church Manse. The young couple were attended by Miss Lorraine Fletcher and M. Claire Geddes. The bride wore an attractive ensemble suit of brown crepe worn with an orange hat. Her corsage artistically combined bride's roses, carnations, and sweet peas. Mrs. Slater graduated from the Salem high school with the class of 1923. After a wedding trip to Newport, Mr. and Mrs. Slater will go to Roseburg to make their home.

Invited guests for the afternoon were Mrs. Edwin Baker, Mrs. A. B. Selee, and Mrs. Sam Adolph. At the tea hour the hostess was assisted in the serving by Mrs. O'Leary.

The club members in the group were: Mrs. Lester Schlosberg, Mrs. McDewitt, Mrs. C. O'Leary, Mrs. Victor McKenzie, Mrs. Kenneth Brown, Mrs. E. H. Hobson, Mrs. Inez Eckerlin, and the hostess, Mrs. Allan Carson.

Miss Naomi Phelps, Mrs. Guy Fitch Phelps, and Mrs. Carrie M. Chase make up a trio of Salem folks who have been well-received in a number of concerts in and around Salem. Yesterday afternoon Miss Phelps and her assistantants left for week-end engagements in Portland.

Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Hobson plan to motor to one of the Tillamook beaches for the week-end.

Probably as many as one hundred and twenty-five Salem women had the delightful privilege of hearing Grace E. Hall, staff poet on the Oregonian, yesterday afternoon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Clements, when she came to Salem for the successful silver tea sponsored by the members of the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid society.

The Clements' home, the ideal setting, for a program of uniqueness and charm was a veritable garden indoors with the lovely blossoms that were arranged here and there. Blue iris gave the dominant motif in the artistic centerpiece on the tea table with small crystal vases of dainty blossoms supplementing the scheme. Deep rose candles were used in crystal holders.

During the first hour, Mrs. D. A. Hodge and Mrs. H. J. Clements presided at the urns their places being taken at the second hour by Mrs. J. W. Harrison and Mrs. C. P. Bishop. Mrs. Chambers was in charge in the dining room.

For a program of unusual delight Mrs. Hall read numerous of her poems, many being from her books "Homespun" and "Patchwork." The author added immensely to the pleasure of the day by telling the circumstances, the thought, or the incident that led to the writing of a certain poem.

Mrs. Hall mentioned that a question often asked her is, "What is the method you use?" But Mrs. Hall knows no method in any mechanical sense of the word. She only takes a pencil and thinks on paper—that is all.

Mrs. Hall philosophized in the pleasing way she has on the satisfactions of life, on happiness, telling how persons so often overlook the very brightness of little things.

As if to show her only gift is not in the field of verse, Mrs. Hall read a story she has written called "The Hunch-back." Like practically everything she has written, it too, has been published. Mrs. Hall, the only salaried woman poet in the country related many human little incidents that have come out of her career—even to the proposals that have come to her by mail.

The committee in charge of the tea included: Mrs. J. E. Whittig, Mrs. Max O. Buren, Mrs. F. G. Franklin, Mrs. C. P. Bishop, Mrs. Mohr, and Mrs. Probert.

The meeting of the Lady Muscovites, announced for Friday evening, has been postponed on account of the proximity of Memorial day.

Miss Carolyn Wilson, after completing a successful year of teaching on the high school faculty at Coquille, Or., has arrived in Salem to spend the summer as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wilson.

The first of the commencement festivities at St. Helen's hall will be the French play, "La Poudre aux Yeux," which will be given tomorrow afternoon. Saturday afternoon the glee club will give an operetta, "The Egyptian Princess," after which school honors will be awarded. The senior tea will fill the remainder of the afternoon.

Sunday morning at 11 o'clock Bishop Walter Taylor Sumner will preach the baccalaureate sermon at St. Stephen's pro-cathedral, after which luncheon will be served at the school.

Monday afternoon the elementary department will give an entertainment. In the evening the senior promenade will be held in the outdoor gymnasium of the school. The graduation exercises will be held Tuesday evening in Trinity church.—Portland Telegram

RADIO TALKS ON DRESS SELECTION

By E. Belle Alger

The following talk by the extension specialist for the State College of Washington will be of interest to a large number of women:

Charles G. Galpin says that "Clothes are social as well as protective. No single utility of living has been seized upon by the human race and made to express social and aesthetic ideas more generally than clothes." If we are to put clothes to this social usage and through them show the world where we stand, their selection is a very important factor.

Experience of designers and creators of wearing apparel have demonstrated that harmonious dress is simply the result of a proper knowledge of color, basic modifications of design, the kind of fabric you employ for a given purpose, and the lines of the human figure; therefore, instead of being a perplexing question, harmonious dress is simply the result of good judgment used in selecting colors in fabrics, and choosing and adapting styles that suit the lines and proportions of your figure.

Your figure controls the lines of your garments, your complexion and even your temperament and color, and your occupation or station in life the fabric.

The attractiveness of dress is often due in a large measure to its color. One should choose a color because it is becoming and suited to the needs and personality of the wearer. By studying and analyzing color and understanding its effect, it is thereby possible to be guided into the choice of hues that bring out the best in the appearance of the wearer.

Where there is light there is color. Color is light broken up into its component parts. This may be demonstrated by letting a ray of sunlight pass through a glass prism and fall on a white surface. The result is a band of prismatic colors, blended almost imperceptibly into each other, forming a rainbow. This is also called the spectrum, the principal colors of which are red, yellow, green, blue and purple, with their intermediate gradations in the order given. The sequence of the colors in the spectrum suggests a color circle. By using a second prism, placed in a position to catch the refracted rays of light from the first prism, the spectral colors will revert to white light. This is Nature's clue to color study.

The following facts may be a general guide in the choice of color:

1. White is becoming to most people because it does not absorb color. It makes the figure look large.
2. Black absorbs color, thus making the wearer look paler than do other colors. It calls attention to the boundaries of the silhouette and should be worn only by people with good figures.
3. Grayed colors render boundaries indistinct and reduce the apparent size. For large people, all dark, dull colors are good, especially grayed blue, blue purple, purple and blue green. Warm and advancing colors tend to increase size and are therefore to be avoided by large women.
4. Color should never be so bright and dominant as to eclipse the personality of the wearer. It should be a background, a setting for the face and figure.
5. Where light and dark values of the same hue are used they should never be the two sides of an analogy, as light purple-blue with dark green-blue.
6. People with delicate, pale coloring look best in light or gray-

Every Smart Wardrobe Includes Shoes Of Black Kid

Every smart wardrobe has kid shoes this season, and at least one pair must be of black. In order to maintain youthful lines, the world of women have turned to walking. Thus kid shoes have found popularity because they embody the three essentials of style, comfort and durability. The porous qualities of kid leather permit the foot to breathe freely and its soft pliancy assures comfort. Quite the smartest and most recent innovation is a simple slipper of black kid piped with narrow bands of white in either the plain opera pump or colonial style.
