IRRIGATION NEEDS DISCUSSED

OLYMPIA, May 28.—Holding in effect that riparian owners on a non-navigable lake are entitled only to such waters from the lake as they can use beneficially for irrigation and domestic purposes, and that any surplus waters are subject to appropriation for irrigation of non-riparian lands, the supreme court today affirmed the Okanogan court in an action brought by Harry H. Proctor and wife against F. W. Sim and others, involving the waters of Duck Lake.

GRAIN HELD CURSE TO FARMERS OF VALLEY

SOIL ROBBED OF STRENGTH, DOERFLER DECLARES

Alfalfa Advocated to Re-Vitalize Ground; Is Grown on Land Said Worthless

The Marion-Polk County Realtors were given a practical talk by a practical farmer Thursday noon by F. A. Doerfler, field representative for the First National bank, and stockman of the Waldo Hills.

"Grain raising has been a curse to farmers of the Willamette valley," declared the speaker. "The soil has been robbed of its vital element by the crop and nothing put back to give it strength. The grain crops have taken out more than they put in, and often the farmer has paid more money to raise the crop than he has secured from the sale of the product."

Alfalfa is one of the newest crops in the Willamette valley which is doing much to revitalize the soil that has been robbed by the grain crops, according to the speaker.

"Alfalfa is one of the most important crops which can be grown on some of the now worthless land of the valley. It is a fairly permanent crop which, by judicious care can be made profitable. Then, too, the farmer is saved the overhead of plowing, which is important when it is realized the crop will last from 20 to 100 years," continued the speaker.

"Flax can be grown profitably here, even if it is hard on the land. The proper rotation of crops will allow for more successful farming methods, consequently, their efforts will not be a failure, and over-production of crop will not follow in some cases."

Mr. Doerfler exhibited several specimens of leguminous crops that could be successfully raised by farmers on soils that had been depleted of its plant foods.

"LURE OF ALASKA" SHOWS REV. PHILIP BAUER

"The Lure of Alaska" is the title of a lecture to be given in the First Congregational church Sunday evening. This lecture is illustrated by seventy beautiful colored pictures depicting the scenery, industries, gold mining, and religious work of our most fascinating territory.

Of unusual interest to the people of Salem is the fact that one of our former citizens, Rev. Philip E. Bauer, figures in the pictures garbed in his Alaskan winter apparel. Mr. Bauer spent some time in religious work in Alaska and during that time was photographed for a set of most beautiful stereopticon pictures illustrating Alaskan scenery.

While a citizen of Salem several years ago Mr. Bauer was pastor of the First Congregational church and later parole officer of the state penitentiary under Governor West.

FUNDAMENTAL IS MINING; FARMING

Only Two Fundamental Sources of Wealth, Asserts Mining Paper

("Mining Is Fundamental" is the heading of a leading editorial in the May number of Mining Truth, of Spokane. The following is the editorial:)

"There are only two fundamental sources of wealth — mining and agriculture. All other branches of human endeavor are dependent on those two basic industries. Without the products of the mines agriculture would still be in its infancy.

"In the history of the world mining has paid far greater rewards than any other industry. It is still making fortunes and will to the end of time.

"There are those who take great pleasure in parading losses suffered by investors in mining stocks. It is a well established fact that more money is lost every year in Wall Street by the so-called 'conservative' investors than is wasted in mining in 50 years.

"Many a man has won wealth in mining only to lose it by investig in railroads, manufacturing enterprises and other 'conservative' investments. He probably would have doubled his fortune if he had made judicious investments in the industry that gave it to him.

"When the people become aware of the merits of the mining industry and the profits that can be made by investing in properties where the element of risk has been reduced to the minimum, this country will enter into a period of development, prosperity and production such as it has never known before."

(That there are only two fundamental sources of wealth mining and agriculture, will be disputed. Some authorities will say there are four, mining, agriculture, timber and fishing, and some will add a fifth, hunting. However, mining and agriculture are two great fundamental sources of wealth.—Ed.)

DR. FINDLEY TO STUDY

SALEM SPECIALIST ATTENDS PORTLAND LECTURES

Dr. M. C. Findley of Salem has been attending lectures in Portland each evening of the current week.

He is a member of the Portland eye, ear, nose and throat society, which organization, with similar one throughout this country, honor each year some member who has done an original or outstanding piece of work or has made a discovery worthy of the gratitude of suffering humanity.

This year the man so honored is Dr. Henry Prentiss, of Iowa City, Iowa. His specialty and outstanding work is in connection with the anatomy of the eye, ear, nose and throat, and the lectures of the whole week are given to his exposition of this important part of the human body.

NEW POLICE COLLEGE TO TRAIN RECRUITS FROM OTHER CITIES

NEW YORK—A piece of detective work appropriately underlies the newly established Police academy which Commissioner Enright has dedicated as the future West Point of the nation's bluecoats.

Last year police headquarters was agog over the mysterious and prolonged absence abroad of Inspector John J. Noonan, now the academy's first commandant. He had slipped away with no one knowing it, and the question was: who was he after?

The question was never answered, for it developed that the inspector's secret mission was merely to do some quiet and correspondingly freer sleuthing the police the world over, in order to make the present Police academy the sum of the latest international ideas in police training.

Inspector Noonan, it has been explained, was sent overseas by Commissioner Enright with credentials to Scotland Yard and the police chiefs of Paris, Vienna, Berlin, Rome and other capitals. He was ordered to keep lips sealed and eyes and ears open, and saturate himself with the best in training facilities and methods to the end that the West Point" dream might be realized.

Commissioner Enright announces that the academy will be open not only to New York police and police recruits, but also to those from other cities. A limited number will be accepted from outside New York who will be trained to serve as instructors at home.

The academy will have special departments devoted to training men as police clerks to do the highly specialized police paper work; to prepare traffic experts to meet the growing complexity of motor transportation problems; to teaching the art of fingerprinting, Bertillion measurements and other phases of criminal identification, and to the special training of officers and instructors.

The academy also will contain the first training department for policewomen anywhere in the world. It will retain and enlarge the existing training schools here for recruits, detectives and mounted men.

The academy opened recently with an initial enrollment of 350. The course is for three months.

INDEPENDENT GROCERS FORMING ORGANIZATION

NEARLY 50 HEAR PRELIMINARY PLANS LAST NIGHT

Banding Together to Combat Inroads of Chain Stores is Main Purpose

Independent grocers of Salem met last night at the Chamber of Commerce for a preliminary session before organizing here. About 50 grocerymen of the city were in attendance to hear the proposition explained by Robert G. Duncan, promoter and organizer from Portland.

The name of the proposed organization is the Independent Grocers' Association, Inc., with offices in the Couch building, in Portland. No officers were selected.

The grocerymen of the Willamette valley and Oregon are being forced to organize by the inroads of the chain groceries, which by their collective buying are able to shade the prices of many of the staple articles of merchandise, it was explained. Under the new plan, local independent grocers will be able to compete with the chain stores, it is claimed, in offering lower prices to the customers. As it now stands many differences in the prices between the two stores can be discovered. The chain stores always give the better price, it was claimed.

Many Chix Shipped—

Thousands of tiny baby chicks have been shipped through the local postoffice department, according to the receipt of the last last of a large shipment yesterday afternoon. During the past six weeks, several cartloads of the chicks, packed in patented carriers have been mailed through the parcel post division. Many of the local hatcheries have disposed of the major portion of their stock by the use of the government mail service. Shipments have been going on since the first of March.

Birth Reports Filed—

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jess M. Orford, 160 Court street May 11; Edith Mary Schifferer to Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Schriff of Turner, at 1780 Center, May 23. Mary Jeanne Lynch is the name given to the baby daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. John L. Lynch of route 2, at the Salem hospital on May 1. A baby girl to Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Luckey, who has been named Mildred Edna, and Teddy Charles Levitt is the name given to the baby son born to Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Levitt of 497 South Capitol, May 26, according to the certificates filed with the city health officer yesterday.

HAVE A CARPENTER DO YOUR PLUMBING

RIDICULOUS! you say. Yet that is what hundreds of people do every day when they engage the services of other than a trained RECTAL SPECIALIST to cure their Piles. No wonder they receive no benefit and continue to suffer, and condemn the doctor for their time and money wasted.
My years of training and experience treating RECTAL and COLON ailments alone enables me to give a written life-long GUARANTEE that I will cure your Piles or REFUND YOUR FEE.
