Soloist "Discovered"

Dale Dalton, the wonderful boy singer, the 10-year-old marvel who sang with the Salem Boys' chorus during the past week, is making an outstanding record in musical circles. It was by chance that the little fellow was discovered entertaining a group in one of the parks of Portland. A passing musician heard the deep baritone voice and instantly recognized the prodigy that he had discovered. Since his first appearance before audiences, Dale Dalton has captured honors in every city of the Pacific northwest. Attempts are to be made to secure his appearance in Salem on another occasion.

WOMAN KILLS ANNOYER

YOUNG MECHANIC FATALLY WOUNDED AFTER QUARREL

EVERETT, Wash., May 28.—Exclaiming "There, you've got what's coming to you," Mrs. Adele Johnson, 38, fatally shot Perry Walters, 27, mechanic, in the office of M. H. Forde, an attorney, where a conference had been arranged late this afternoon.

The woman explained to the police that Walters had been "bothering" her since her marriage two years ago. She had been acquainted with Walters since the death of a former husband five years ago.

Prosecuting Attorney T. C. Roscoe asserted that he had urged Charles Johnson, the woman's husband, to have her committed to an insane hospital some time ago.

Introducing Wearplus Ties To Salem Men

A New Invention in Men's Smart Tailored Neckwear

—The advent of the WEARPLUS unlined tie marks a new era for the well-dressed man so far as neckwear is concerned.

—Wrinkles have always wrecked the old style flannel-lined ties long before the fabric gave away—sent good ties into the discard long before they were worn out.

—This tie, made by a new method of folding and tailoring without any flannel lining, will tie neatly in a firm, fashionable knot.

How to Wear a "Wearplus"

—To get the maximum service from your WEARPLUS tie, it should be worn not oftener than every other day. This allows the silk to "rest" to regain its original smartness, due to the natural resiliency and special weave of WEARPLUS fabrics.

Carefully Selected Patterns

—The manufacturers of WEARPLUS have made us a complete line of carefully selected patterns — of the newest mode — real man patterns. They're here now, come in and see them. Buy several WEARPLUS ties, and wear them alternately, for greatest service and satisfaction.
