COULD YOU HEAR, MY COMRADE

To H. B.
By Cedric Y. Chang

It is at these hours,
Our parting hours, my comrade,
I like to be away from you
And steal into the depth of woods
Where birds of love and fellowship
Can sing my heartfelt songs for you

Which are too deep for words
And too tender for tears!
O birds, sing, sing, and sing
For my comrade my songs,
And sing me to dreams, O birds,
From this moment on
That the time may pass away
Without sounding the moans of Goodby!

O gentle birds, sing on!

THE SALEM delegates to the 15th annual convention of the Oregon Federation of Women's clubs will leave at 10 o'clock this morning for Marshfield where they will be in attendance at the meeting from Monday until the closing sessions on Thursday.

The trip to Marshfield will be made by motor, a party of five traveling with Mrs. C. K. Spaulding. Representing the Salem women's club will be Mrs. C. K. Spaulding, Mrs. W. F. Fargo, Mrs. Seymour Jones, Mrs. Harry Weidner, Mrs. W. E. Anderson and Mrs. J. A. Churchill.

The sessions throughout promise to be of unusual interest. B. F. Irvine, editor of the Oregon Journal, will speak of "The American Home," the chairman of that department in the federation, Mrs. Jessie D. McComb of Corvallis, presiding.

Dr. Jonah H. Wise, rabbi of Temple Beth Israel, Portland, will speak on "The Future of America," this being a repetition by request of the lecture given by Dr. Wise at the annual guest day meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon club of Portland recently.

Miss Celia Gavin, city attorney of the Dalles, will speak on "International Relations and American Citizenship" at the Tuesday evening session, which will be presided over by Mrs. Charles H. Casner of Hood River, a former president of the federation.

C. C. Colt of Portland, president of the Doernbecher hospital guild, will tell of the need for that institution and of the plans for enlarging it.

Dr. Walter Brown, nationally known sociologist and child health authority, who is conducting a child health demonstration in Marion county, will present some phases of child health.

Mrs. Sadie Orr-Dunbar, president of the federation, will preside at all sessions, assisted by the vice presidents. Miss Grace H. Chamberlain of Ashland and Mrs. Louis E. Bean of Eugene and by Mrs. Ida B. Callahan of Corvallis, a past president, and Mrs. A. Y. Myers, president of the Marshfield club.

Miss Grace Phelps, chairman of the department of public welfare, will report the work of that department, and Dr. Brown will speak on her program. Mrs. Alexander Thompson, chairman for the department of legislation, will report on that department, and Senator Charles Hall will speak. The art division of the department of fine arts will be reported by the chairman, Mrs. E. P. Mossman; Mrs. J. L. Fairbanks will report for the billboard committee, and Mrs. W. H. Braiger will report for the music division.

Mrs. J. A. Churchill, chairman of the department of applied education, will present a report, as will also several of her assistant division chairmen. The department of press and publicity, Miss Vella Winner chairman, will devote considerable time to a discussion of the official organ of the federation, The Oregon Federation News. Luncheon conferences will be held by this department and by the departments of American citizenship and the department of the American home.

The scholarship loan fund, Miss Jessie McGregor chairman, will have a prominent place on the program, as will the report of the endowment fund, Mrs. Arthur H. Johnston chairman. Excellent music will feature all programs, this being furnished by Marshfield and Portland artists.

The North Bend Federation of Women's clubs, the Alert club and the Rainbow club, will give the delegates a dinner at North Bend Tuesday evening. A beach supper will be a feature provided by the Marshfield club. Election of officers will take place Thursday, the polls to be open from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m.

The annual June tea meeting of the Salem War Mothers, for which Mrs. John A. Carson is each year the hostess, will be held this year on Tuesday afternoon, June 2, at the Carson home, 923 South High street. Mothers who are members of the club are asked to bring other mothers as their guests.

Mrs. Allan Bynon of Portland entertained at one of the most attractive affairs of the month-end when she invited friends last Monday for a bridge luncheon at the home of her parents, Col. and Mrs. E. Hofer. Peonies and iris were effective as a color note about the rooms. The high bridge score of the afternoon went to Mrs. Hollis Huntington.

Mrs. Bynon invited as her guests for the afternoon Mrs. Donald Young, Mrs. Paul Hendricks, Mrs. Homer Egan, Mrs. Clifford Farmer, Mrs. William Mott, Mrs. J. H. Carson, Mrs. Karl Becke, Mrs. Earl C. Flegel, Mrs. Hollis Huntington, Miss Bertha Eckerlin, Mrs. Erce Kay, Mrs. Carl Pope Nelson and Mrs. Orris Fry.

Mrs. John A. Carson and Wallace Carson are guests this week-end of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCammon in Eugene.

Mrs. A. N. Moores has gone to Portland for the wedding of her son, Ralph Dickinson Moores, to Miss Lucile A. Elrod, which will be solemnized tomorrow evening, June 1.

The Thursday club for an afternoon that was unusually delightful on their club day with Mrs. B. C. Miles and Mrs. F. A. Elliott joint hostesses at the Miles' home, Miss Eva Miles who has had a year replete with experiences abroad, told in a pleasing manner of the time she spent in Italy and Germany. Mrs. Robert Dann had equally interested experiences to tell of her sojourn in Ireland. Miss Eva Miles added to the further pleasure of the afternoon with her vocal number, "Hopi Indian Song." Yellow and blue flowers were used in the dining room, while a profusion of early summer blossoms, in the pastel colors, decked the living rooms. Special guests of the day were: Mrs. Ferrell, Mrs. W. G. Allen, Mrs. E. E. Carrier, Miss De Young, and as a delightful surprise to the hostess, Mrs. Miles, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Cattell of Pasadena, Cal., who were on their way by motor to Victoria, B. C.

At the tea-hour Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. Miles presided at the urns.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Miles will return this evening from Lonsview, Wash., where they were in attendance at the Lions' club convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan J. Fry, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Slade motored to Corvallis for the Memorial day celebration yesterday.

"Pyari's Rescue"—life scenes of India—has the following cast: Ram Pershad, the husband, Phyllis Oaks; Sara, oldest wife, Chrystalee Maxwell Sonai, second wife, "Muriel White; Kimbai, youngest wife, Carolyn Waterman; Chiman Lal, son of Sonia; Mona, daughter of Sonia, Janette Maxwell; Ratnam, baby son of Kimbai; Pundita Ramabai, learned woman of India, Naomi Warner; Lungabai, one of Ramabai's students, Frances Burns; Miss Sahiba, missionary, Esther Gardner; Sooboo, her Bible woman, Ruth Swafford; Moti, maid servant, Harriet Backley; Pyari, child widow of six years, Phyllis Gardner.

Miss Fay Spaulding will sing between acts.

The Parrish Junior high school "Open House" announced for Thursday will doubtless attract friends and patrons from all over the city as guests during calling hours—2 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon and 7 to 9 o'clock in the evening.

Work from all departments will be on exhibit at this time. The cooking classes will be running continually, the girls demonstrating first the cooking of cereals and vegetables and finally the baking of cakes, pies, and breads.

Another feature will be the fashion show consisting of three different parts—one by the girls of the 7th grade, one by the girls of the 8th grade, and one by the girls of the 9th grade. The first fashion showing, the girls of the domestic art department wearing the dresses they have made, will take place at 2:30 o'clock, and at 7:30 o'clock in the evening will be repeated. The orchestra will play at both times. During the "open house" an art exhibit will be given in the library.

BOOK REVIEWS

By Audred Bunch

"The Painted Veil," a novel by W. Somerset Maugham. Published by the Geo. H. Doran company, New York. Price, $2 net.

The veil that was Kitty Garstin's life was more than painted. It was double-dyed with the undisturbed hues that symbolize the emotions of human-kind, each in its own raw, bitter, pigment, and all unveiled till the very end. And that is only as the reader takes it.

Mr. Maugham has reproduced with pitiless fidelity the stages in teaching a woman a deep and telling lesson. The subject for such a lesson is one whom, in the categories of the many, would be called, without quibble, a second-rate girl. In a book like "The Painted Veil," the heroine would have to be that. No one else would have felled so soundly at every point. No one else could have. And yet when a tremendous book comes to its tremendous close, there may be something more to say for the heroine than could be said at the outset. At least, Kitty could frame in words, and words that were not faltering either, the lesson she had learned.

Mr. Maugham, for this passionate spectacle of human life, involving a government official, a scientist, and an English oldest daughter, which he has chosen to reproduce, took a big situation, a big setting. The atmosphere is Hong Kong.

"Bobbed Hair," a romantic mystery by Twenty Authors. Published by G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York. Price $2 net.

What it does do, through the rollicking, corroborative "all-star" literary cast that plotted the book, is to furnish, for the delight of all who read, a full-length novel of mystery and romance told at a ripping pace, and with enough flamboyance to prove that the company of distinguished authors, each of whom, in writing a chapter, found himself engaged in a huge lark.

And "Bobbed Hair" is just as much a lark for those who read as for those who wrote. It is gay, it is linguistic, it is Connemara's romance. In the story which was immediately snatched for the screen, Marie Prevost is going to be Connemara.

Carolyn Wells, H. C. Witwer, Wallace Irwin, Sophie Kerr, Geo. Barr McCutcheon and 15 others famous in the literary world, joined efforts in this amusing tangled plot.

"Dead Right," a mystery story, by Jenette Lee. Published by Charles Scribner's Sons, New York. Price $2 net.

Such a book as you will want to have in your library so that you may beckon in your friends and show it confidentially into their hands for their pleasure, is Jenette Lee's mystery story, "Dead Right."

Absorbing in plot, straightforward in diction, and unaccountably lucid in descriptive characterizations, the entire progression of the story is in the judicious hands of a detective-heroine with a clear head and a warm heart.

Without redundancy the author succeeds in finding every move excessively clear without disturbing once the effect of the denouement. An idyllic love story, gently told, comes to light with lines as unforgettable as those in an engrossing stage play.

"Dead Right" is a satisfying book to read—and a satisfying book to have read.

NINE LAW STUDENTS TO RECEIVE THEIR DEGREES

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY TO HONOR CLASS IN JUNE

Graduates Are to Apply for Entrance in the State Bar Association

Willamette university college of law will matriculate nine senior students this year, and they will be given the degree of bachelor of law on June 10. Those to be honored are Floyd D. Moore, Clarence D. Phillips, George R. Duncan, William W. McKinney, William F. Coshow, Benjamin F. Forbes, Otto K. Paulus, James B. Young and Allan Jones.

The enrollment for the college of law this year is 48 students, of which 25 are in the first year class, 10 in the second year, and 13 in the third year.

All of the nine graduates will take the Oregon State bar examination, which will be conducted by the state board of examiners on July 14 and 15.

From present indications a larger enrollment is expected next year.

Those on the college of law faculty are I. H. Van Winkle, Ray L. Smith, Walter E. Keyes, Ronald C. Glover, C. N. Inman, E. M. Page, Brazier C. Small, Elmo S. White, Willis S. Moore, Roy C. Harding and Percy A. Cupper.

The Pacific Coast Nightingale

When one of the world's greatest teachers of singing heard "The Pacific Coast Nightingale" on her first tryout, in Tacoma, Washington, the natural untrained voice, of the then unknown Marie Louise D'Arc Kiger, went to the bottom of his heart. He could only murmur, "SHE HAS IT! SHE HAS IT!" She just sings and sings and sings. God has blessed her with a wonderful gift.

That teacher was Professor T. H. J. Ryan, a man who had spent 35 years of his life, searching for just what he found when and where, he least expected it. And for five long years he gave and gave to art for arts own sake. Marie Louise was a child of parents that could not afford to give her the training she deserved, but the Giver of Priceless Gifts does not leave his children in obscurity. From that day to this Professor Ryan has given Marie Louise what all the money in the world cannot buy, undivided, unselfish attention. The gem he discovered in "The City of Destiny." He cut and polished until he accomplished what many in the musical world said was an impossibility, bringing Marie Louise through the voice changing stage, retaining the natural sweetness while increasing strength and adding range until today she is beyond a doubt, "This World's Sweetest Singer." And her's is the highest known voice in the musical world, reaching the last F, in the treble clef.

Oregon, this is your opportunity to all three concerts given within your borders in June. Men and women are coming from Seattle and Tacoma to hear their beloved, "The Pacific Coast Nightingale."

SHE HAS IT

To the hearts of all people
There's only one key,
It's now in the keeping
Of the sweet voiced Marie.

Yours sincerely,
