Building Leased to County Health Demonstration Effective in September

Routine matters concerned the Salem school board last night at its regular meeting. School Director Simeral reported upon the electric lighting needs of the various schools, while recommendations were made for the coming year. His report is to be embodied in the recommendations of the principals of the schools and acted upon at a later meeting.

A 60-day notice of expiration of lease is to be given a tenant of one of the buildings owned by the Salem school board. The building is to be occupied by the Marion county health demonstration next September.

A report of the graduating class of the Salem high school was made to the school board by George W. Hug, city superintendent of schools. He stated that 26 graduates are to receive diplomas this year. At the same time he called attention to students who failed to receive their diplomas because they were careless in their class work and failed to pass the examination. Last year, it is stated, five boys were held over for this year at a great cost to the school board.

Recommendation was made by city superintendent of schools to exchange 16 typewriters, which have been in use at the high school during the past three years. Eleven Remingtons and five Underwoods were requisitioned. This requisition and another for athletic supplies was referred to the committee of supplies for action.

Hereafter, teachers who are absent because of emergency crisis are to receive their refund checks each month instead of the fiscal school year according to the action taken last night by the board.

Consideration of remodeling the old gymnasium of the Salem high school to provide additional class rooms was referred for future action last night upon the suggestion of George W. Hug, city superintendent of schools. He stated that by management, unless the increase in enrollment was too great, the change was not necessary.

The report of the school clerk is to be made at the meeting of June 15, when the school board meets to hear the report of the taxpayers meeting, and the financial condition of the school district is made known.

Note Covering St. Paul's Episcopal Church Will Be Burned on Monday

The consecration of the new St. Paul's church will be held Sunday, with Bishop Sumner officiating. This is an outstanding event in that Episcopal churches are not consecrated until free from debt. However, the people here, in less than three years, have built and paid for the new church, rectory and remodeled the old church into a modern parish house for social purposes.

A two days' program has been arranged, and it is expected that several of the Episcopal clergy of the Oregon diocese will be present Sunday night and Monday.

Following the holy communion early in the morning, a flag raising ceremony will be held, at which a new flag will be raised on a new flagpole by the Sunday school and the Boy Scouts.

The dedication of the church will occur at 11 o'clock, with Bishop Sumner officiating. He will also preside at the morning service. F. G. Deckebach will also take part in the ceremony.

Baptism will be made in the church during the afternoon and in the evening Rev. A. Lockwood of Portland will be confirmed by Bishop Sumner.

Monday's activities will be brought to a close by a banquet in the parish house and a big entertainment, furnished by the young people's fellowship of the church.

The burning of the notes will conclude the ceremony of the two days' program.

A radio alarm system is being installed in New York for the police department. As many as 200 receiving stations will be scattered throughout the city, each of which will respond to a particular wave length transmission, or all may be made to respond together. It is thought that this will materially aid in dealing with robbers fleeing in autos. Broadcasting will be through WNYC, the municipal radio station, linked by wire with police headquarters.
