

VALLEY POSSIBILITIES ARE HELD OVERLOOKED

MANAGER OF PORTLAND CHAMBER OF COMMERCE CONSIDERS BY NATIONAL ASSOCIATION

Agriculture and Merchant Marine Considered by National Association

"The potential values of the Willamette valley have been overlooked," declared W. D. Dodson, manager of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, in a rapid-fire address at the Chamber of Commerce Monday, discussing the "Influence of Chambers of Commerce in National Affairs."

"The attitude of the present business man is one eye on the cash balance, and one eye on the golf ball, but a third sight is needed in which the business men will consider the public problems," declared the speaker.

"The business men have a right of expression in the public affairs, and the western business men have quickened action on the agricultural problem. They have secured action that will continue. They have not arrived at a satisfactory basis, but newer ways are being pointed out. This is not reflecting upon the farmer, because he has only 16 hours each day to give to farm work, and he is not able to solve the problems that are confronting his industry."

"The business man has given him aid, and is profiting to the extent that he has aided. It is only when representative men of the nation assemble and an average expression is secured that progress is attained in solving the problems," he stated.

In commenting upon Herbert Hoover, one of the greatest economists of the world, Mr. Dodson said: "It is only when such business men organize and put their thoughts towards these problems that relief is secured."

"Mr. Hoover has given figures on the duplicating and overlapping of the governmental departments, and through his efforts much of the bad business methods can be eliminated and lower costs of efficiency secured."

"The largest constructive minds must be used in solving the problem, and after a complete study of the issue."

"The marine question should be settled by the man who produces instead of the man who operates the steamship," was the suggestion of the speaker in speaking of the merchant marine question of the United States. "Bring all the points together and present the problem to the nation and do not leave it to a small group."

"Let the producer, the merchant, the exporter and the importer declare for or against the merchant marine," declared Mr. Dodson.

"In this manner our export problem will be solved. It is a big one because during the time since 1913 a net income of twenty billion dollars has been received by the United States. It is an element of prosperity in this country."

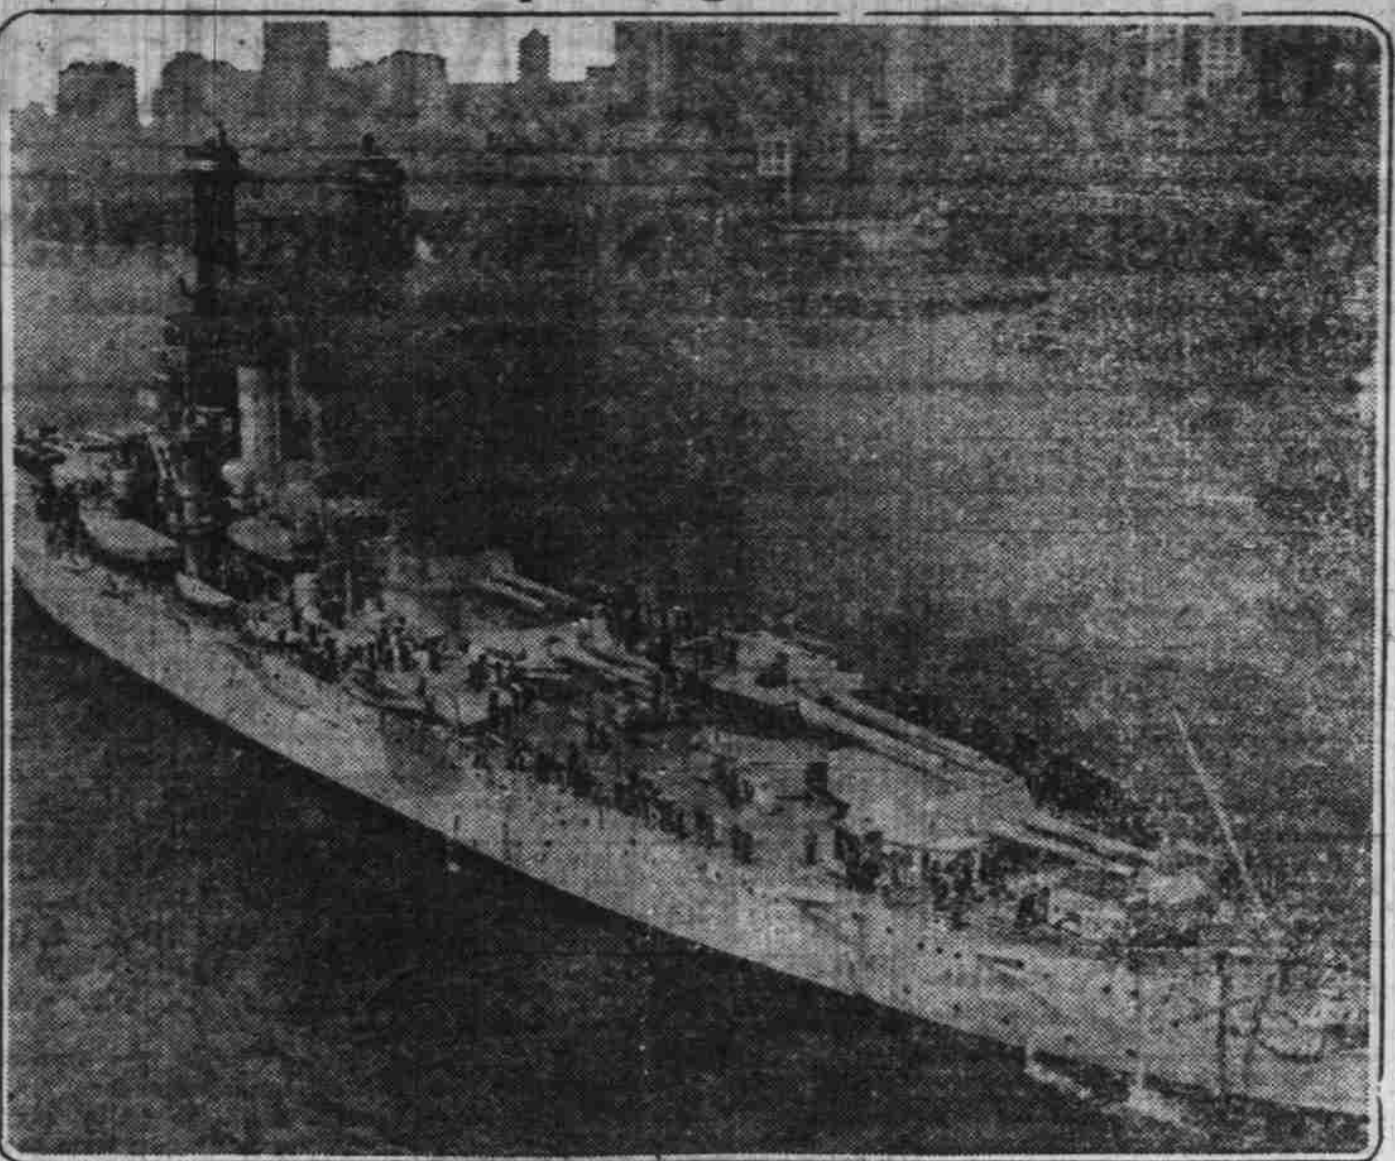

The speaker also urged instant action on the reforestation problems of the northwest and pointed out the advantages of the McNary-Clark bill, which would appeal to the business man. He also pointed out the resulting problems of the transportation question, and the rapid shifts taking place in the short haul lines, due to the competition of the motors.

"No one has a solution of these problems, but intelligent thought on the part of the business men will help point towards a solution. If the business men organize they will be of great influence in this country," declared Mr. Dodson.

The speaker emphasized the problems confronting the people of Portland when shipping, state development and factory problems were before them. Now the problem has changed until state development is the greatest issue, and shipping and industrial development following.

"If the farmers will organize the potential values of the Willamette valley can be realized. They must specialize on their land, and then other settlers will be attracted here by the success of the efforts. Lands here are cheap in comparison with the lands of California. They have greater producing power, yet the products are barely supporting the farmers here.

"The payroll must be given serious consideration in Oregon and one way to bring it to a safer level is the development of the pulp industry here. The two million dollars sent to foreign countries for pulp should be kept here, where there is a natural supply for permanent use."

The speaker also pointed out the effective means to be used against the paper companies that have threatened to move outside the boundaries of the United States.

named Shepherd as the chief beneficiary.

Shepherd also told her of his study of typhoid fever, said Miss Pope, and practiced duplicity in telling Billy before he lapsed into the unconsciousness which preceded his death that the presence of both the youth and Miss Pope would be necessary at the bureau for them to obtain a marriage license.

The youth was taken ill while at her home, Miss Pope testified, and she drove him home and insisted he go to bed.

"That night, Shepherd drove her home, she said, and told her he had given Billy some pills.

"He said Billy was troubled with his stomach because he did not take care of himself and always was out late."

She told of the trend of the youth's illness, until five days later she was permitted to be with him 30 minutes and forced to sit six feet away. The next day she was permitted in the room only a few minutes.

"I was very unhappy about Billy and I told Mr. Shepherd I was willing to marry Billy if it would do any good," said Miss Pope, whereupon Shepherd informed her of the necessity of the presence of both in obtaining a marriage license. Two days later, however, after Billy had become delirious, she did obtain a license.

The young woman admitted that Shepherd had not told her the

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE GREETES NEW PRIESTS

REV. CYRIL LEBOLD, O. S. B., SALEM, IS HONORED

Sunday Mass Accompanied by 25 Boys From Abbey Church at Mount Angel

The Rev. Cyril Lebold, O. S. B., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lebold of Salem, sang his first solemn high mass in St. Joseph's church at 10:30 Sunday morning. Rev. Father Benedict was assistant priest and the Rev. Fathers Thomas, O. S. B., and Varley were deacon and subdeacon respectively. The pastor, Rev. Father Buck, preached the sermon, while Rev. Father Keenan, assistant of St. Joseph's, and Mr. Albert Grantz acted as masters of ceremonies.

Twenty-five boys from the Abbey church at Mt. Angel sang the beautiful Gregorian music accompanying the mass. At the appointed hour the procession, headed by twelve altar boys, entered the church and proceeded to the sanctuary which was beautifully decorated with spring blossoms and lights, and took their places before the high altar. Here the mass was sung in perfect accord with surroundings, benediction was given and then Rev. Father Cyril as well as three other newly-ordained priests gave their blessings to the vast throng that crowded the church to the sidewalk. The three new priests were the Rev. Fathers Norbert, Sabastian and Augustine, all of the Benedictine order.

FRIENDS HOLD SESSION

EMPHASIS IS PLACED UPON NARCOTIC PROBLEM

PORTLAND, June 15. — (Special to The Statesman.) — The Friends of Oregon Yearly meeting are this afternoon holding the last business session of their 33rd annual gathering at First Friends' church, East 35th and Main street, Portland. Business of a routine character occupied most of the meeting.

The temperance committee this morning made its report through Nate L. Wiley of Rex, superintendent of this department. And following the report an interesting program was given, the most important part of which was a stirring address by Mrs. Mary B. Mallett of Portland, president of the state WCTU.

The most startling part of her address was that which had to do with the narcotic evil. She declared that while Italy uses only one grain of habit-forming drugs in a year, England only two grains, Germany three and France four, India uses 24 grains per capita a year, and the United States the startling amount of 36 grains per capita. Her call to war against this evil was a stirring one.

SHERIFF HURT IN FRAY

AUTOIST HELD UP BY TRO; BANDITS RETURN FIRE

KLAMATH FALLS, June 15 — Ed Kendall, deputy sheriff, and an unidentified man were wounded in a shooting fray at Olen, 12 miles from here, tonight as the result of an alleged drunken orgy in which three men held up and robbed an autoist and fired on a woman driving another machine. The three men were captured and placed in jail here.

Sheriff Burt Hawkins and Kendall left here earlier in the evening after they had received a call, informing them that three men in a truck were approaching Klamath Falls on the highway and that they had fired on a woman, passing by in a small car. When the officers arrived at the scene one of the men began shooting and Kendall was struck in the right leg and left arm. Kendall returned the fire and wounded one of the men in the ankle.

Sheriff Hawkins covered the other two with his pistol but the three had to be clubbed into submission before they could be brought to the jail here, the officers said.

Between the time that the men fired on the woman and the arrival of the officers on the scene they had held up and robbed F. O. Poole, an Olen rancher.

The officers said that they believed the names of two of the men to be Jim Burke and Ed Fuller.

Fathers Benedict, Ambrose and Thomas were Salem men, having made their homes in this city prior to their ordination.

In the evening a program and reception was given honoring the young priest, at which two other clergymen, Rev. Fathers Alcuin and Odilo, were present. A luncheon was given to the clergy, relatives of Father Cyril and immediate friends following the mass.

Vienna Blocks Progress With Uncontrolled Talk

VIENNA, June 12.—A committee of the Austrian National Assembly for a period of two months past, has been giving a striking exhibition of obstruction of the public business by a process of talking a measure to death. There is no regulation to prevent the committee men from speaking over, and some of them have declared their intention to talk until they gain their point, irrespective of the merits of the case.

There came before the committee the question of nominating a chairman to look into the question of city rents. The Social Democrats were opposed to Dr. Klenbock, former minister of finance, who was desired by a majority of the committee. They began a series of endless speeches on the duties of the chairman, and have kept this up for eight weeks. Any accomplishment has, of course, been completely obstructed. One member, Herr Witternigg, has spoken for 48 hours, spread over a period of seven days: He re-

SHRINE CONVENTION

— PRAISED BY PATTON

DELEGATE RETURNS FROM LOS ANGELES SUNDAY

Many Houses Empty But Building Continues; Real Estate Found Slumping

Mr. and Mrs. Hal D. Patton returned Sunday afternoon from a tour of Southern California, where Mr. Patton was a delegate to the Imperial Council of the Mystic Shrine. According to Mr. Patton, the largest, most gorgeous exhibition of pagentry and music ever witnessed in the United States was staged at Los Angeles during the convention. The entertainment, luncheons, trips, receptions, drives, and other details were lavishly given the delegates. Opportunity was also given for them to meet and hear personally many of the noted film stars of America.

The civic, floral, motion picture, electrical, the Shrine parades, and other affairs were stupendous. The brilliant costumes of the Arab patrols, the 95 different bands, drum corps, and the chanters provided entertainment beyond the ordinary convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Patton visited for two days following the convention in order to determine the business conditions of the city. Despite many empty houses much building is going up, and it is reported that $3,000,000 of building permits were issued. Many sales were in progress at the stores, with the larger stores crowded. Real Estate is slower than in former years, but some movement.

He also described traffic conditions in Los Angeles, which are controlled mechanically. "The best part of the journey arid country there does not appeal to me. The green covered slopes of the Willamette valley are wonderful," declared Mr. Patton, was returning to Salem, the dry cently announced he would "mumble" for seven days more. His method is to utter a word every 30 seconds, or two words a minute, and thus to prolong indefinitely his discourse.
