PLANS ARE ANNOUNCED FOR CATHOLIC PARISH

WORK ON MODERN SCHOOL TO BEGIN IMMEDIATELY

Hope to Have Building Ready to Occupy by Opening of 1925-26 Season

Details of the new Catholic parish of St. Vincent de Paul, with the establishment of a parochial school and parish house, which was announced by the pastor, Father Thos. V. Keenan, some months ago, are to be realized in the very near future. Due to the death of the late Archbishop Christie, who had placed the Rev. Thos. V. Keenan in charge of the newly created parish in Salem, building operations were stopped temporarily. However, the present administrative authority has approved all the plans and the building program will be continued as started.

The immediate plans call for the erection of a modern parochial school. Work will commence in a week or ten days on the school, which will be located on the corner of Columbia and Myrtle streets, in order to have it ready for the September term. While the school is under construction the erection of the new church will be under way. This will be of the Spanish renaissance style on the exterior, with the Roman finish on the interior. The construction of the parish house is not contemplated at the present time, but will be built at a future date.

The new parish has purchased a square block of property containing one and five eighths acres of ground or 175x300 feet on Highland avenue, two blocks west of the Pacific highway and two blocks east of the Oregon Electric station, at the extension of Myrtle street. The division line of the new parish of St. Vincent de Paul from St. Joseph's parish in the city is at D street and the new parish extends northward including the old parish of Brooks. Msgr. Hillebrand is acting archbishop of the archdiocese of Oregon City.

BARK-ROOT PATRON BACK

DAVE WARVHAM RETURNS TO HIS NATIVE HAUNTS

Dave J. Warvham of Gates, self-styled "traveling tramp and the champion bark-root drinker of America," is back in Salem after four months spent in Seattle. Mr. Warvham received much publicity over the alleged use of the tonic in both Marion and Linn county papers.

A reconciliation has been effected with his wife, he said, and intends to make his home in the city, if possible.

During the time that Mr. Warvham is accused of having the "long distance drunk" championship, he operated a for-hire automobile over a period of more than a year. In spite of the allegations that have been made, he operated his vehicle without a single accident, and was not reported to state officials by any of his passengers. This record is pointed to in refutation of the newspaper stories that he was a constant patron of the tonic.

The Spa, is spending her two weeks vacation visiting a sister at Seaside. Hazel Newhouse of Springfield was dismissed from a local hospital Tuesday.
