of very much help to you. I trust that you may, as the years go by, find an increasing satisfaction in the long list of honors that were conferred upon Senator La Follette by his countrymen.

As soon as he heard of his colleague's death, Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin, one-time follower of Mr. La Follette but of late opposed to him, politically, called at the home to extend his sympathy to members of the family.

Another who offered condolences was Senator Wheeler of Montana, who as vice presidential candidate shared the independent ticket with Senator La Follette last November. In a statement Senator Wheeler declared:

"La Follette dead will be even more powerful than La Follette living," and predicted that "the fight for the principles for which he has advocated these many years will be carried on by the people with the same indomitable courage which he has always manifested."

From Secretary Kellogg came the tribute that Mr. La Follette had "a long and distinguished career of public service and was a man of great ability and extraordinary energy and force."

Senator Borah of Idaho, whose proclivity for independent voting frequently put him in the same fold with Mr. La Follette, declared the latter had been devoted to the public good, and in all his plans and ambitions a patriot, declaring that "he boldly led." Senator Borah added, "human suffering, human misery, oppression, injustice, could at all times and under all circumstances enlist the uncompromising support of this gladiator."

AMUNDSEN IS SAFE; ENTIRE PARTY BACK

(Continued from page 1) mechanics. In their trip from Advent Bay to Kings Bay they functioned perfectly and were said to be in the best of condition to start at any minute on a long flight over the ice regions to discover, if possible, the whereabouts of Amundsen and his party.

When Amundsen flew away the greatest load in the planes consisted of gasoline, each machine having aboard about 5000 pounds. This quantity was considered by Amundsen as sufficient for the expedition to reach the pole and return to Spitzbergen, still have a small supply in the tanks.

OSLO, Norway, June 18.—The Norwegian government has sent the following message to Roald Amundsen:

"The government sends you and your brave companions hearty greetings and congratulations on your wonderful journey. Welcome home."

The Seidt Aeronautic association sent the explorer this dispatch:

"Welcome. Great enthusiasm over your brilliant journey."

LONDON, June 18.—(By Associated Press.)—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Copenhagen gives a message received from Oslo saying that when the first brief report that Amundsen had returned was received in the Norwegian capital, the news was posted in windows. Crowds gathered in the streets and cheered loudly. The restaurants suspended their musical programs in order to enable their bands to play the national anthem, after which the patrons cheered Amundsen.

NEW PROCESSOR SEATTLE.—Ten years ago mining companies had to send ore valued at $10 a ton or more to the mill to receive a profit, but new methods make it possible to mine and mill ores at a small fraction of the former cost. Felson Joslin, a Seattle milling operator, has explained the innovations. "New milling methods permit the working at a profit of low grade ores that are to be found throughout certain sections of the United States in almost unlimited quantities," said Mr. Joslin. "A large gold mining company operating near Juneau, Alaska, is taking out and milling gold ore at a net cost of 49 cents a ton, and expects within a year to reduce the cost of 40 cents. This demonstrates the practicability of working low grade ores that have not been regarded as worth development."
