

FOG IN CALIFORNIA
RETARDING PRACTICE

COAST ARTILLERYMEN PRAY
FOR CLEAR WEATHER

Headquarters Men From Salem Given Definite Assignments
at Fort Barry

FORT BARRY, Cal., June 18.
(Special to The Statesman).
Heavy sea fog which completely obscures the target from the observation posts and from the batteries has seriously interfered with the target practice held here during the past few days by the Oregon men. The target at which the large 12 and 6-inch batteries are fired consists of a small raft and is towed by a government tug over the area of water commanded by the guns. During the past few days the fog has obscured the target during several firing intervals and Friday the fog itself was not visible even through the high power glasses used by the observers.

With conditions such as this it is, of course, impossible to do any effective shooting and when service ammunition is used an attempt would even endanger shipping as it would be impossible to tell whether or not a ship was in the field of fire.

Friday the Newport and Marshfield companies were scheduled to fire the service ammunition from the 6-in batteries. The fog was so dense, however, that the target was not seen until during the morning and although it went out in the afternoon the fog drifted in to the extent that shooting was not advisable.

No firing will be attempted Saturday as the men are to be given leave early in the day and will be allowed to stay over in town until Monday morning. The work will commence again Monday and will continue till the last of the prescribed number of service shots have been fired or the time allowed for the encampment has expired.

A number of the members of the headquarters detachment, of Salem, have now been definitely assigned to their work for the next ten days. The two special details are those to go on board the tug Barret, which is to tow target, and those to man the observation and commander's station.

The men to go on the tug are as follows: Sergeant Haines, Sergeant Earl Urruh, Sergeant Jas-koski, Corporal Dennis Heenan, and Privates Adams, White, Mast and Hicks. Those to take charge of the observation posts will be Sergeant Lee Crawford, Sergeant Lanke, Corporal McDonald, Corporal Hester, and Privates Young and Baker.

OLD PEOPLE HONORED
WILL ATTEND MEETING

SPECIAL SERVICES HELD AT METHODIST CHURCH

"Old Folks' Day" was observed at the First Methodist Episcopal church Sunday. There were 45 persons present in the large congregation who were 70 years and over. Bible book marks were presented to them by the pastor through a class of little girls—Mary Hickman, Irene Moore, Ethel Nichols and Hortense Taylor. Special tokens of honor were presented to Mrs. M. A. Hampden, 594 North Liberty, who, at the age of 90 years, was the oldest person present. Rev. Dr. J. R.
Lisle, 1041 South Thirteenth, was the highest in number of years in the Christian life at 78 years.
Mrs. Mary Litterer, 589 South Twelfth, celebrated her 86th birthday Sunday, and had been a member of the Methodist church for 75 years. Mrs. E. E. Fields, 150 North Twenty-first, had been a member of First church, Salem, for 54 years, and was awarded the token of honor.

The sermon by the pastor, Rev.
F. C. Taylor, was in keeping with the day, and was on "The Sugar in the Bottom of the Cup." He dwelt on the sweetness of life in advanced years and attributed it to keeping young by being active, putting the sugar of love and joy and service into life as it went along, and the hope and happy assurance of an eternal crown in the world to come.
The church was full to celebrate the presence of the old people.

KIWANIANS DINE WIVES

ANNUAL "ZERO HOUR" IS OB-SERVED AT MARION HOTEL

Sixty-five members of the local Kiwanis club and their wives gathered at the luncheon room of the Marion hotel last evening to celebrate the annual "zero hour," or the hour at which their national convention opens at St. Paul.

Justice John L. Rand, as toastmaster, gave "The Zero Hour" address, following the invocation by E. C. Hickman. Music was the feature of the evening.

Musical numbers by the Alica McElroy quartet were especially fine and frequent encores proved their playing was appreciated.
Special mention should be made of the solo numbers. A violin solo by Kathryn Sharkey, a cello solo by Propsera Pozzi, and a flute solo by Margaret Laughton were enthusiastically received.

The Apollo four, with popular music, was repeatedly cheered and their little song with verses for individual members caused considerable comment.

Scott Page is the local club's representative at the St. Paul convention.

CHILDREN WILL PARADE
FLORAL SHOW AT ARMORY TO OFFER ATTRACTION

A special floral parade for children from four to six years old has been arranged for the floral show tonight at the Armory. Fifty prizes suitable for boys and girls have been donated by local business firms interested in the youngsters.

There will be no regulation in the type of costume worn. Children wearing coveralls and overalls will stand the same chance for prizes as those wearing more elaborate costumes. The only requirement for entrance is that the youngster be at the Armory by 7:30 o'clock carrying a small basket of flowers.

Firms contributing prizes for the parade are: The Spa, The Grey Belle, Davies' Sweet Shop, Patton's Book Store, Anderson's Sporting Goods Store, Hauser's, Shipley's, Woolworth's, Sheldon-Sherwin, and Browning's.

A charge of ten cents will be made from all adults attending to cover the cost of the Armory.

SCHOOL DAYS By DWIG

WOMEN PERSISTENT LOSERS BECAUSE OF
PAUCITY OF POCKETS

LOS ANGELES.—Women are persistent losers; they drop, mis-lay or walk off and leave purses and parcels with a frequency ten times as great as men, says Alfred T. Clothier, custodian of the lost and found department of the Los Angeles street railway and student of the losing habits of mankind.

Nine out of ten lost articles been lost by women, Clothier relates. His theory is that women lose more than men because they have fewer pockets, but he admits he has not yet discovered why mothers will get off street cars with their babies and leave baby buggies behind.

Men make more fuss over what they lose, however, than do women, according to records of the lost and found bureau. An outstanding case was the man who lost his false teeth and would not be consoled until he recalled that "if they don't fit the finder any better than they did me, they won't do him much good."

Traveling bags and suitcases left on street cars frequently contain puzzling combinations of articles, Clothier says. One recently found, belonging to a woman, contained two dainty silk under-garments, a long, sharp butcher knife and a pearl necklace. Another, the property of a man, held a pair of rubber boots with $4.75 in currency stuffed in the toes, a bottle of whisky and a suit of athletic underwear.

One of the most unpleasant find reported was a box containing a live rattlesnake boasting thirteen rattles. It was claimed by an Arizona who said he had brought it here to be stuffed. Another parcel contained half a man's head. A student of anatomy was taking it home under his arm for further study, but left it on the seat when the conductor called his street.

PRINCE EITEL NOW A FARMER POTSDAM.—Eitel Friedrich, second son of ex-Empress William II, calls himself farmer in the new city directory of Potsdam. He omits the long list of military and hereditary titles which the Hohenzollerns have thus far added to their names in the city and telephone directories. The designation of prince is part of his name under post-revolutionary German law, and not a title.
