BALLOONS

Oh, love is a bunch of balloons, my dear,
And life is a country fair,
And whether I choose me a red or a blue,
I do not really care.

For any may fly as high as the sky,
Or even out of sight,
But few there are who may bring one home,
A balloon at night.

ONE OF THE MOST elaborate weddings ever solemnized in Salem is that scheduled to take place at 6:30 o'clock this evening in the First Methodist church when Miss Joy Turner will become the bride of Mr. William Edward Moses.

Honoring those who will be attendants at the ceremony, Miss Turner was hostess at a charmingly appointed 1 o'clock luncheon yesterday at the Colonial Dame Tea Shoppe. A basket of Dorothy Perkins' roses centered the table where covers were placed for Mrs. Rex A. Turner of Seattle, who will be matron of honor, Mrs. George Warner (Marah Hatch) of San Francisco, Mrs. Charles Neimeyer (Blanche Liston) of Seattle, Mrs. Claire Vibbert, Mrs. Ivan Martin, and the bride-elect hostess, Miss Joy Turner.

Miss Margaret Fisher plans to leave on the 10:10 Shasta Tuesday morning for California where she will spend the summer. Miss Fisher will be accompanied south by her sister, Mrs. E. J. Herman, who has been a house guest at the D. W. Fisher home at 790 N. Church street. In San Francisco Miss Fisher will be met by Miss Cora Talkington and will be entertained as a house guest at the home of Mrs. Talkington's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. E. Snyder at the Glendora apartments. Miss Fisher will visit during the summer with her brother, Dr. W. L. Fisher in Pomona. The larger part of the time, however, will be spent in Hollywood and Los Angeles, Mrs. Herman's home being in Hollywood. During the weeks she is the guest of her sister, Miss Fisher will have the privilege of attending many interesting musical events at Hollywood Bowl. After numerous other visits she will return to Salem in September.

Mrs. R. W. Hartman has as her house-guests her sister, Mrs. A. J. Ains and daughter, Jane, of Omaha. Mr. and Mrs. Hartman invited to Grants Pass early last week to meet Mrs. Ains and daughter who plan to spend some time in Salem.

Mrs. Merrill D. Olling and little son, Merrill D. Jr., left the Salem hospital for their home at 1840 South High street, on Thursday of last week.

Mrs. Frank Power entertained Thursday evening with a dinner in honor of her sister, Mrs. J. D. Houston and daughters, Matilda Ann and Margaret Jane, and son Joseph, all of Lattrobe, Pa. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Barnes, Florence Power and Mrs. Frank Power, hostess.

Mrs. C. T. Roberts and daughter, Imogene, who have been the house guests of Mrs. C. P. Bishop for the past week, left Friday for their home in Hood River. This week-end Mr. and Mrs. Bishop will have as their guests Chauncey and Robert Bishop of Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Churchill are entertaining at their house guests, Mrs. J. S. Elton and small daughter, Jane, of Portland, and Mrs. George C. Welton and small son, Gordon of McMinnville.

The many Salem friends of Miss Marian Emmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Emmons will be happy to learn that she will arrive home this evening from Chicago to spend the remainder of the summer. Miss Emmons had the distinction of being soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra last Monday night at the American Conservatory of Music commencement exercises, carrying the honor in a notable manner. W. W. Emmons, father of Miss Emmons, was in the audience for the event. Mr. Emmons will visit relatives in Toronto before returning home the last of next month. For the coming week Mrs. W. W. Emmons and daughters, Miss Lucille and Miss Marian Emmons, have taken a cottage at Neskowin.

Mrs. W. S. Lambie (Ruth Wallace) and little daughter, Ruth, left Friday for their home in New York city after having been house-guests at the home of Mrs. C. A. Park.

Mrs. William Brown writes interestingly of the tour of the Canadian Rockies she is enjoying with Mrs. R. F. Prael of Portland. Late last week they were at Lake Louise.

Mrs. J. E. Law was the guest last week of her mother, Mrs. J. W. Beveridge, in Portland.

Mrs. D. A. Hodges, Miss Frances Hodges, Mrs. A. A. Kreamer, Mrs. Gretchen Kreamer, and Mrs. Yvonne Hanna are home from a vacation spent at Newport.

The seventh annual convention of the Oregon Department of Union Veterans of the Civil War was held in Oregon City June 23 and 24. Salem is again honored in that the new department president, Mrs. Mary Entress, is a member of the local tent. Mrs. Entress has taken a very active part not only in state work but also in her own tent. Barbara Fritchle, No. 2. She is a person thoroughly capable and has unusual executive power. Other executive officers from Salem are: Department secretary, Madeline Nash; department council member No. 2, Julia K. Webster, and alternate delegate to the national convention in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Other department officers were elected as follows: Senior vice president, Bernetta Eaton of Portland; junior vice president, Josephine Smith of Astoria; chaplain, Mary Browne of Grants Pass; treasurer, Rachel Hollock; council member No. 1, Lucy F. Loose of Portland; council member No. 3, Ida M. Phelps of Portland; patriotic instructor, Frances Warner of Marshfield; department instructor, Margaret Becker of Portland.

Loose of Portland; Olive Williams of Portland; Ver-netta Eaton of Portland; Ida Ad-ams of Oregon City; Marie Pen-nett of Portland; Rose Green of Grants Pass, and Bernetta John-son of Portland. The alternates are as follows: Nellie Lerum of Portland; Harriet Mellon of Port-land; Olive Ahlfstrom of Portland; Leona Mercer of Marshfield; Alma Fischer of Salem, and Nellie Mar- tin of Portland.

While the national president was unfortunately unable to ar-rive until after the sessions had closed, a reception was held for her on the day following by the Portland tent, Mrs. Mary Entress of Salem was among those in at-tendance.

The last day of the session, Mrs. Lucy Loose, the retiring pres-ident, was presented with a beau-tiful electric percolator, while Berntha Bergman, also a retiring officer, received a beautiful gift. A large parade was held at 10 o'clock in the morning in which the WRC and GAR delegates, also meeting in Oregon City, together with the Daughters of Veterans, participated.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kugo are spending the week-end with Mrs. C. K. Spaulding and Mrs. Walter Spaulding at Newport.

A large and appreciative audience attended the concert given by students of Minnetta Magers at the First Baptist church Friday evening. Two numbers on the program were omitted—Lawrence Deacon was necessarily absent and Ruth Bedford was partially over-come by the heat and unable to sing.

The first soloist on the program was a young high school girl, Ar-butus Rudie, who not only showed a good contralto voice, but indi-viduality in the interpretation of her songs.

Eva Roberts has a high soprano voice of lovely quality which was well suited to her selections. The "Madame Butterfly" aria in Ital-ian was unusually well rendered. The duet from "Madame Butter-fly" in English, sung by Flora Fletcher Hedrick and Ruth Bed-ford, was well sung and exquisi-tely blended in the high notes.

Kenneth Allen, a general favor-ite whenever he sings, delighted the audience with his fine ren-dition of the well-loved "Caro Mio Ben," sung in Italian, his winning personality and his ex-celent interpretation in "Tally Ho" and "Irish Names."

George Armitage of Portland, formerly of Salem, has a rich baritone voice and his easy stage pres-ence and good presentation of his songs won him unstinted recognition from the audience, who ap-plauded him heartily.

Della Amstler Hjort and Flora Fletcher Hedrick, artist pupils who have appeared on many pro-grams rendered their difficult areas, and English songs with fine style and excellent voice.

The concert throughout was well balanced, showing careful study and good talent, and was greatly enhanced by the beautiful work of the Schubert octette, who sang most artistically some of the new selections they are preparing for chautauqua. Bertha Vick's accompanying gave excellent sup-port. The audience was much interested in and enthusiastic over their work.

Ruth Bedford, always par-ex-celence in the role of accompan-ying, played with great skill the difficult accompaniments of the program. The beautiful tone quality of the Steinway grand pi-ano sent from Portland for the concert added greatly to the beau-ty of her work. Flora Hedrick, obliged to play the difficult ac-companiments of Mrs. Hjort at a moment's notice, did so in a very creditable manner.

One of the most delightful so-cial affairs of the week past was the 20-cover bride luncheon given by Mrs. Henry W. Meyers, hon-oring her house guest, Mrs. F. M. Jordan of Seattle. The luncheon table was beautiful with its cen-terpiece of blue larkspur and gold-en coreopsis. In the draw-ing-room Canterbury bells and Shasta daisies were used.

Miss Salome Socolofsky com-pleted her mother, Mrs. D. D. Socolofsky, in a delightful man-ner when she entertained in hon-or of her birthday, on Friday in the Chinese room at the Gray Belle. A long, low basket of vari-hued June flowers centered the table where dainty hand-colored place cards marked covers for Mrs.

"Rippling Brook," the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Martin, was the scene on Wed-nesday, June 10, at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, of a very beau-tiful but quiet wedding when their only daughter, Alta Lois, became the bride of Marvin A. Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Wells of Salem. Reverend R. L. Putnam of the Court Street Christian church conducted the impressive wedding service.

Mr. Alva Morris played the wed-ding march from "Woodland Sketches." The bride wore a dress of cream flat crepe embroidered in pearls and carried a shower bouquet of Cecil Brunner roses and white sweet peas. As her only adornment she wore a string of pearls, a present from the groom.

Little Jean Lenore Beers of Woodburn, cousin of the bride, and little Marjory Hilborn of Sa-lem unwound yards of pink silk molenie ribbon to form an aisle for the bridal couple. Miss Ruth Draper of Salem, a friend of the
