

CASEYS WALLOP LEGION BY SCORE OF 5 TO 0

LEADERS IN THE TWILIGHT LEAGUE TAKE FIRST LOSS

Keber and Heenan are Stars; Four Contests Are to Be Played This Week

The Legion met their Waterloo last night at the hands of the Casey's 5 to 0 score.

"Red" Keber, second baseman, and Dennis Heenan, pitcher for the winners, were the two stars of the game. Heenan almost pitched a no run no hit game, allowing Hooper to reach first in the fourth inning.

Jenkins and Heenan both struck out 8 men. The Legion team batted poorly and failed completely at fathoming the K. C.'s field placing.

This is the first league defeat for the Legion nine, and places the K. C.'s in a good position for a chance to battle the Legion in the finals. Mason did excellent service as umpire.

The line up for the game follows:

- Legion—K. C.'s: Parker, 3rd; Ruggles, 2nd; Acton, 1st; Hooper, 2nd; Laird, C.P.; Gibson, L.P.; Lephart, R.F.; Jenkins, P.; Pearmine, C.; Heenan, C. Baseball games will be played according to the following schedule: Tonight: PEP vs. Oregon Pulp and Paper Co. Wednesday: ONG vs. Valley Motor. Thursday: Postponed game probably ONG and Casey's. Friday: Grotto vs. USN Bank.

SENATORS BEAT PEN

FOURTH OF JULY GAME ENDS WITH 5 TO 3 SCORE

Eleven safe hits made by the Salem Senators against the Oregon state prison baseball nine won a well played game Saturday afternoon by a 5 to 3 score.

The prisoners took 12 safe hits off Jenkins, Salem twirler, but the hits were too scattered to take serious effect. Jenkins fanned 14 prisoners and Bittles, relieving Jenkins, fanned one. Foster, for the prisoners, struck out seven local batsmen. Errors were few, two only being made by the Senators, and one by the prisoners.

ALBANY TEAM DEFEATS SENATORS HERE SUNDAY

ERRORS BY LOCAL SHORT-STOP STOP LOSE FAST GAME

Salem Team Still Heading Interstate League Though Lead Is Curtailed

Two costly errors by the Senators' short stop lost a close game to the Albany nine Sunday afternoon at Oxford park, by a score of 4 to 3. Sunday's loss places the Senators in a precarious position, although still retaining the lead in the interstate race.

Wilkinson, a former college player and student at Willamette university, was the star for the visiting club. He handled eleven chances without an error, and shared in the glory of three snappy double plays.

Eouton, the shortstop, made his fatal error in the ninth inning with the score tied at 3 to 3. In this frame Qusenberry got a double and then went third on Gleason's out at first. Beams went out at first and then Wilkinson was safe at first on Bouton's error. Qusenberry scored the winning run.

The summary for the game follows:

Two base hits—Proctor, Maples, Qusenberry. Struck out—Barham, 8; Beams, 3. Base on balls—Barham, 1. Sacrifice hits—Proctor, Brumbaugh. Stolen bases, Wilkinson to Hecker, Wilkinson to Hecker to McReynolds; Wilkinson to Hecker to McReynolds. Time of game—2:05. Umpire, E. Rankin.

APE TRIAL WILL BE STARTED ON FRIDAY

the allegations made in the petition.

"The object of the injunction sought in this case is to restrain the officers of the state from prosecuting the petitioner for violation of an act which said officers are expressly charged to enforce in the only way in which they are authorized to proceed—by bringing criminal prosecution in the name of the state. This is virtually to enjoin the state from proceeding through its duly qualified and acting officers."

The petitions were signed by John R. Neal, Clarence Darrow and Bainbridge Colby, of counsel for Scopas.

Dr. Neal's suggestion that the case will finally reach the supreme court, made before the court's decision was announced today, as a statement for his client in case of conviction in the Rhea county court.

HUMANE SOCIETY ACTIVE

HOFFER INTERESTED IN WEST SALEM DOG POISONING

Col. E. Hofer, president of the Oregon State Humane society, has communicated with Mrs. F. W. Swanton, manager, relative to a dog poisoning case in West Salem on June 22, suggesting that the society be represented at the trial in Dallas at the Polk county September term of court. The letter follows:

"He was arrested on a warrant issued by Sheriff Hooker of Polk county, on complaining after full investigation, by the sheriff and his deputy. The warrant accuses one Frank Einfeldt of West Salem of throwing poison at the door of the kennels of George Brenner, a neighbor, and causing the death of two police dogs and a wolf hound, owned by Brenner, one of the police dogs being about to give birth to ten puppies. Brenner is a breeder, and two more of his dogs were poisoned, but saved by prompt action of a veterinary. High bred dogs were Brenner's only means of making a living, and he is now destitute. He estimates his loss and destruction of his business as a dog fancier at $1,000.

"Einfeldt made full confession of his crime to the sheriff, and the officers have the rest of the poison he bought for this purpose and will use it in evidence on the trial. There should be no failure of the Humane society taking a hand in the prosecution of this case and securing a conviction.

"I am attaching clipping from a local paper at the time of the arrest. Dr. Moorhouse, Salem Humane officer, attended the animals and helped save two of them. There had been some feeling between Einfeldt and Brenner over ownership of a lot. The sheriff has all the evidence in the case and the matter should not be yet so by default for any lack of help on the part of the Humane society."

SPORTS DONE BROWN

None of the broken bones reported among the big league ball players are in the head. Which is a sales boost for ivory.

Give this bird Gene Tunney credit for having considerable confidence in Gene Tunney.

Here are a few of his views on Jack Dempsey and his ability—expressed while announcing the fact that he, Gene, would rather meet the world's heavyweight champion than anybody else.

"Gibbons is a cleverer boxer than Dempsey and I licked Gibbons at long range.

"Dempsey couldn't stop Gibbons with his alleged murderous infighting. He can't stop me.

"Dempsey never uses an uppercut. I'll whip him with a straight right and a right uppercut.

"I can like any man that comes to me and Dempsey comes to his opponent.

"Dempsey parks his brains in the dressing room."

Boys, look that list of cracks over.

That's the proper spirit for an up and coming aspirant for any crown to have. No mental hazard there.

But some of the alleged shortcomings of the champion must be weighed a trifle more seriously by Mr. Tunney if he wishes to avoid a catastrophe.

Dempsey seldom employs a straight left or right. The blows do not fit in to his style of fighting.

This fact, however, hasn't handicapped him noticeably in his rise to fame. A straight left or right sends your opponent back—away from you. Dempsey prefers close range fighting. Then why should he shove his man out of range with the blows named?

Georges Carpentier was a cleverer boxer than Tunney—a cleverer boxer than Dempsey—in fact one of the most scientific men the ring has ever known. You—and Gene—will recall what happened to Carp. Dempsey didn't stop left to the heart and a right to the jaw. Ask Jess Willard.

As for parking his brains in the dressing room. Dempsey can't do that. His fighting brains are in his maulers. He is the greatest natural fighter the modern game, at least, has known. He fights by instinct. No one ever left his instinct lying around.

Outside of those few little discrepancies Tunney has a good line on Dempsey.

Now I don't wish to belittle Tunney as a fighter. He and Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo are the outstanding heavies of the game today, outside of Dempsey. One of these two men, I feel sure, has a good chance to succeed Dempsey. But the way to the throne

Dempsey comes to his opponent, true enough. But he has a way of making you think, instead, that you are coming at him. About the time you think the champ is giving ground he is giving you a short doesn't lie through trying to belittle Dempsey's greatness. Much that is said derogatory of Dempsey is turned loose either in the hope of egging him on to re-enter the ring or to talk up interest in some one of the leading contenders for his crown.

There is no reason today to believe that Dempsey is no longer the greatest man in the heavyweight ranks.

North Vernon Sun—Dr. Shuman of North Vernon was called to the home of Ben Speers one night last week where even had two sick horses. After giving several doses of medicine and sitting around talking for an hour or two, the horses were very much improved.
