"RELIEF" WILL BE KEPT ON REGULAR SCHEDULE

Channel of Willamette Is Being Dredged; Appropriation for Work Provided

Announcement was made yesterday by Fred Karr, owner of the Northwestern river steamer which has maintained a regular service between Portland and Salem for some time, to the effect that service between these two points would not be definitely postponed for any length of time. It is expected that at the rate that work is progressing with dredging the channel that service may be recommenced some time within the next ten days.

There has been a crew of men under the direction of federal authorities working on the channel since May 9. It is felt that it is only because this crew so recently commenced work that it is now necessary to temporarily abandon regular service. An appropriation, said to amount to $40,000, for the express purpose of keeping the channel between Salem and Portland clear, still remains untouched, according to report.

Jetty work will be done soon in the vicinity of Grand Island, a spot 12 miles down the river from Salem, according to recent reports. A pile driver will come up from Portland to do this work, it being understood that a federal appropriation has been made to cover the expense incurred. The Montecello, government dredge, has been working on Eldridge bar for several weeks but has now cleared the channel at this point and will go next to the upper Weston bar, a spot two miles below the present location.

Trio of Young Artists to Appear

Chautauqua Brings Charles M. Mixer, Violinist.

Charles Mitchell Mixer, eminent young violinist of Chicago, who heads the Mixer Trio on the Chautauqua program this season, is one of the most talented and finished violinists of the present musical day. Former pupil of Herbert Butler and of the celebrated violin master, Leopold Auer, Mr. Mixer has combined his good training with his own natural musical ability, resulting in playing marked by fine technique and sympathetic tone of great beauty. One of the especially satisfying features of his performance is his remarkable ability to play the most difficult compositions from memory. Mr. Mixer will appear at Salem Chautauqua Tuesday evening, July 14.

George Taylor, cellist, and Lucile Dunbar-Mixer, talented young artist who excels in pianoles and is also a pianist of established reputation, are the other artists in Mr. Mixer's trio. Outbursts of applause invariably await this favorite combination of artists. The excellent program is made up of popular, standard and classical numbers, which pleases the ordinary audience as well as those educated in music.

SONG SERVICE SPLENDID

IMMANUEL MALE QUARTET AND SAXOPHONE HERE

The Immanuel male quartet and Saxophone club, a Van Nuys, Cal., organization, gave the Sunday morning worshippers at the First Congregational church a rare treat last Sunday in a program of sacred vocal and instrumental numbers. Composing the quartet are Messrs. Joe J. Kleinsasser, first tenor and manager; Joe A. Kearnes, second tenor; A. L. Reimer, first bass and accompanist, and P. D. Eitzen, second bass. In the introduction of the singers it was disclosed that two of them, Messrs. Kleinsasser and Eitzen, are sons of ministers. Mr. Reimer is the son of a devout Christian father, and Mr. Kearnes a convert and staunch admirer of Billy Sunday.

A departure from the customary solemnity of the Sunday morning services was elicited from the listeners in the frequent and hearty applause which followed many of the quartet's renditions. With excellent ensemble effect and impressive interpretation, they sang such favorite sacred numbers as "The Rose of Sharon," by Allen; "Crossing the Bar," by Adams; "My Jesus, I Love Thee," Towner, and a splendidly harmonized arrangement of "Remember Now Thy Creator in the Days of Thy Youth," Rhodes. Two negro spirituals, quaint and characteristic of the colored folk's gospel experience, were features of the program. The versatility of the quartet was illustrated by the artistic solos of Mr. Kearnes, tenor, and Mr. Eitzen, bass. Mr. Kearnes sang "In the Dawn of Eternal Day," Roth; Mr. Eitzen sang "Flea as a Bird," Dana.

As instrumental numbers, the male quartet played "Stars and Stripes Forever," Sousa, and a sacred selection specially arranged for the saxophone by members of the quartet. Enthusiastic accounts of their personal experiences in Christian work were given by each member of the quartet.

The Boys' and Girls' Club Summer School at O. A. C. Was Great This Year

Over 500 in Attendance, Some From Marion County, Which Should Have Been Represented by a Larger Number—One Who Attended Gives Good Description

Editor Statesman:

This is a short story of my experiences at the Club summer school at Corvallis, written for the boys and girls of Marion county who did not get to attend.

I have been a member for five years. During this time, I have completed the three grades of sewing, four years of cooking, and one year of canning. Last year I won first prize in the Marion county bread baking contest at the state fair, entitling me to a free trip to the Oregon Club summer school at Corvallis, for two weeks. During those two weeks I had a splendid, happy-go-lucky time.

We arrived in Corvallis about 2:30 p. m. on Sunday, June 14; registered and were assigned to our rooms. It took us only a few minutes to arrange our rooms and then we went out to explore the campus. We found the buildings very beautiful; for they were covered with vines and looked like palaces in the sunset.

At 6 o'clock we had a delicious lunch, and then the rest of the evening was our own.

On Monday morning there was registration, and at 1:30 p. m. there was an assembly in the "Y" hut. There we were assigned to our different sections and leaders. A get-acquainted party was announced for the evening.

Tuesday morning we had "meal planning and table setting," demonstrated by Miss McClay; followed by a talk from Dean Jameson.

Wednesday morning we had "bread baking" class and did the baking ourselves under the expert direction of Mrs. Humphreys. Thursday there was a campus tour, a prune bread demonstration by Frances and Rosina Callitan, and a lecture by Miss Case.

Friday we prepared a complete meal under the supervision of Miss Burns and Miss Moore. Saturday Mr. Seymour talked to us and we visited the botany department.

Sunday we did as we pleased and in the evening we had a musical program at the "Y" hut.

On Monday of the 22nd we visited the dairy department, where an illustrated lecture was given by Mr. Kirkpatrick, and this was followed by a lecture from Miss Case.

Tuesday we learned how to cut meat and also had a lecture by Miss Case.

Wednesday there was practice in the making of Jello deserts, and later a lecture by Miss Cobley.

Thursday all the girls baked bread baking contest; there were about two hundred and fifty loaves entered. I won first honorable mention in the contest. There were six expensive prizes given to the winners.

Friday Miss Case talked to us again and Mrs. Humphreys showed us how to make several delicious cakes and tarts. That was the end of the classes.

For the boys there were classes in the machine shops, forestry, dairy, and horticulture work.

Every day in the afternoon we had baseball, basketball, volley ball, horse shoe pitching, tennis, and swimming contests. These sports all followed immediately after our 1:30 assembly. In the evening we had either a party or a picture show. Friday afternoon we all went down to the White-side theater and enjoyed a picture show.

At one of our assemblies we had the honor of hearing and shaking hands with Secretary Jardine of the United States department of agriculture and with Governor Pierce.

A moving picture camera was on the job taking pictures of the various activities. Perhaps you will see some of them in the movies.

This was our greeting song:

"How-do-you-do, Club folks, how-do-you-do? Is there anything that we can do for you? We'll do the best we can, standing by you like a man. How-do-you-do, Club folks, how-do-you-do?"

I had two wonderful weeks there, and there is only one thing for which I am sorry: that there were not more the Marion county club members taking advantage of such a wonderful vacation time. I hope that will see many more of you there next year, and here's wishing you great success for the coming year.

NEVA L. STOLHEISE, Salem, Or., July 3, 1925.

(There were over 500 in attendance at the Boys' and Girls' Club summer school mentioned in the above. Salem Heights was represented by Grace Carlson, Donald Foster and Neva L. Stolheise.—Ed.)

Americans Fired on By Chinese

Mr. and Mrs. K. Montgomery Ogden of Orange, N. J. (above) and Mrs. Frank Crampton of New York City (right) are reported to have been fired on by Yunnanese troops while in a launch flying the American flag near Canton, China, and Mrs. Crampton wounded. Another American was in the boat. U. S. consular officials are investigating the matter, which is one of a series of incidents that are causing foreign governments grave worry.

THINKING ABOUT PEARS

CROP LIGHT IN THE WILLAMETTE VALLEY THIS YEAR

With the end of the cherry crop in sight, local buyers and shippers are arranging for delivery of pears, the next fruit on the fruit buyers' schedule. It will be some time, however, before any activity in this line will be noticeable as picking will not begin for several weeks.

The crop this year will be light in the Willamette valley, especially near Salem. Young & Wells will be in the market for all of the pears that they can get. They have contracted for 150 tons from Vancouver, where the crop is much heavier than it is here. Buyers are lamenting the fact that there are so few pear orchards of any size in the country around Salem. It is evident that there would be local sale for far more of this fruit than is raised in the locality.

STORKS will live ONLY in REPUBLICS

—Or so people used to think in the 16th century. This is the 20th century. But we are still superstitious; for example, when we pay fancy prices for eastern lubricants in spite of the fact that the best crudes so far discovered for the manufacture of a motor oil are obtained from wells on the Pacific Coast.

Experience explodes the anti-western oil superstition. A longer working life for your motor. Zerolene will increase the gasoline mileage of your car, reduce carbon accumulation and lengthen its working life. Why pay tribute to a superstition? Insist on Zerolene—ask for it by name. Zerolene actually lubricates better—and because it does it lubricates more cars in the Pacific Coast states than any other oil made—low and high priced cars alike. The most advanced refining process is this Company's patented high-vacuum process, during the use of which Zerolene is submitted to 13 positive checks for quality. Zerolene's special filtration through 40 tons of Florida Fuller's Earth gives you an oil that's absolutely pure.
