WAR: WHEN WILL IT END?

By Mary B. Kells

Our God—the human wreckage groans
In agony of hunger, birth, and death,
Alone, shut off from all,
Save misery and Thee!
When will it end?
War, desolation vast, and every
Hideous sin has been enacted,
Man stealing, pillaging,
His brother's birthright,
Has grown immune to cries of human anguish.
Oh, God, that we, whose shekels
Fired the guns, to mow our brothers down,
Might have a vision of the part we played
In putting halters on the babes unborn—
Shall we play Shylock,
And demand our pound of flesh?
Better for our Nation's worth
That Mercy season Justice!
If they shall fall, our doom we seal,
And as the hands of Time move on,
Our hopes in ashes, too, will lie,
Because we have not grasped our opportunity,
To be a Savior to a crumbling world.
Yet it is their Great Plan,
Who knowest best our need.

THE SALEM CHAPTER OF WAR

Mothers is anticipating with both pleasure and interest the arrival here during the course of the week of Mrs. Marguerite N. McCleuer of Kansas City, national head of the American War Mothers, who is on an official tour of the country. Mrs. McCleuer is scheduled to arrive in Portland tomorrow morning, and her visit to Salem will be made somewhat later in the week. Doubtless some attractive social function will be arranged in her honor which, in all likelihood, will take the form of a hotel luncheon. A number of prominent matrons in the local chapter may go to Portland to meet Mrs. McCleuer even prior to her arrival here.

Through "The American War Mother," the official publication of the organization many have made the acquaintance of this prominent woman who is as charming personally as she is active in national affairs.

In the current issue of the publication, an interesting column of Oregon state news, written by Mrs. F. A. Elliott, appears.

Mrs. McCleuer's visit this week will be her first to the Salem organization, which was the first chapter of War Mothers to be organized in the west.

The Lady Muscovites held an interesting initiation service last night in their hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Weis attended the meeting of the Pharmaceutical association in Corvallis during the last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Glover and daughter, Miss Maxine Glover, are on a motor trip into the Puget Sound country. They will motor through Rainier national park and into British Columbia. They are planning stops at both Tacoma and Seattle.

Mrs. Allan Bynon and son, Allan Junior, of Portland, will join Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Hofer at Agate Beach this week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brown are at Seal Rocks for the summer.

The annual congregational meeting of the members of the First Congregational church at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Miller at 1500 South High street on Friday was one of the outstandingly successful and enjoyable events of the week. Following the missionary meeting of the afternoon covers were placed for more than one hundred and sixty guests at the dinner hour. The girls of Mrs. Mark McCallister's Sunday school class served.

William McGilchrist, Sr., was the toastmaster of the evening. Among those responding were: Reverend W. C. Kantner, Reverend Charles E. Ward and Dan Fry, Sr.

Hostesses with Mrs. Miller were: Mrs. E. L. Donnell, Mrs. H. W. Bross, Mrs. Vera Shattuc, Mrs. W. I. Staley, Mrs. Robert Fleming, and Mrs. Mark McCallister.

ing. This morning Mr. Poling will preach in place of Rev. Poling at the First Evangelical church, leaving early in the afternoon for his engagement at the Gladstone Chautauqua.

In connection with the Sheridan festival, which is signalized this theatrical season by the revival of Richard Brinsley Sheridan's comedy, "The Rivals," with a brilliant cast headed by Minnie Maddern Fiske, an address on "Sheridan, His Plays and Place in the Theater," will be delivered at the Oregon theater at 11 a. m. Saturday, July 18, by Mr. Clayton Hamilton, a writer and lecturer who stands foremost on the roster of American theatrical experts. The lecture is to be without charge, sponsored by the university women, and all will be welcome.

This Sheridan stage play, which comes to the Grand theater Saturday night, July 25, has been undertaken in commemoration of the 150th anniversary of the original production of "The Rivals" by Sheridan, the most famous playwright in the English theater of the 18th century. "The Rivals," his first play, was originally done at Covent Garden, January 17, 1775. The commemoration of that event is appropriately sponsored by American artists, since Sheridan, like Burke, was a staunch friend of the American Colonists, a foe of Lord North, and in the course of his career in parliament made many brilliant speeches for American conciliation.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zelsdorf and children, Robert and Lois Marie, left Saturday for their new home in Oakland, Cal. Mrs. Zelsdorf, who is a talented singer, will be greatly missed by a large circle of friends who wish her success in her new home.

A group of prominent Corvallis ladies spent yesterday with a number of Salem friends. The congenial company motored to Chemawa for a picnic outing. From Corvallis the guests were: Mrs. J. B. Horner and daughters, Misses Vera and Pearl Horner, Mrs. Lulu Smith, Mrs. J. O. Wilson, and Mrs. Minnie Lee.

Captain and Mrs. Earl Coulsen Flege and little son, Earl Coulsen, Jr., are spending the week end in Portland.

Mrs. D. G. Forgy of Gresham left on Friday for their home after visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reeves.

A group of friends of Mrs. Anna Underwood of 670 North Front street, entertained in her honor with a surprise party on Monday afternoon, celebrating her 80th birthday, which falls on the 5th of July. A pleasant social hour was enjoyed with delicious refreshments of punch and cake served at the tea hour. A feature of the occasion was the cutting of the birthday cake which was frosted in white and prettily decorated with pink roses interlaced with the words "Happy Birthday, 80 Years." Mrs. Underwood received a number of attractive gifts.

In the group present were: Mrs. Stella McReynolds, Mrs. St. Clair, Mrs. I. T. Moore, Mrs. Henry Hendrickson, Mrs. Julia Davis, Mrs. Ida Keene, Mrs. George O'Neill, Mrs. Ross, Mrs. Fishborn, and the honor guest, Mrs. Anna Underwood.

Mrs. Josephine Stewart, whose Salem friends are welcoming her into their circles with pleasure, is now a house guest at the home of Mrs. R. J. Hendricks. Mrs. Stewart is a popular chaperon in Corvallis where she is house mother at the Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lampert are on a motor trip into the Puget Sound country.

One of the most interesting of the summer musicales was the recital given by the pupils of Mrs. Jessie Bush at the Leslie Methodist church. Mrs. Bush presented a selected group of her students, including several by those well advanced as well as the younger players. The church auditorium was tastefully decorated, and the presentation of flowers to the players added still more color to the occasion. Awards of merit were presented at the close of the program. Of special interest was the concluding number for two pianos, in which Mrs. Bush appeared with Miss Alberta Bohrnstedt. The program was as follows:

- (a) The Dream... Helen L. Cram

Miss Zella Hopson, an instructor in the Seattle schools, has arrived in Salem to spend her vacation weeks at the F. C. Hopson home on Oak street.

WRINKLES, LINES OR CROWS-FEET

Lemon Juice Tightens Skin

Squeeze the juice of two lemons in a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents, shake well and you have the very mildest anti-wrinkle lotion to tighten relaxed skin, erase fine lines and eradicate crows-feet. Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion into the skin at night. By morning most of the tell-tale wrinkles, tired lines and crows-feet are smoothed out, giving a more youthful contour to cheeks, chin, throat. It leaves the skin velvety soft, clear and fresh. Beauty experts use this astringent lotion for enlarged pores, also to bleach and whiten sallow, tanned skin. Mix this harmless lotion yourself since it acts best immediately after prepared.—Adv.

MARION LAWRENCE CLASS OF THE FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

The membership of the above class, one of the largest and most active in the First Methodist church, numbers a total of ninety-six persons, with an average regular attendance of sixty. The class was first organized in 1908 by a group of twenty-six charter members, six of whom are still in attendance at the present day. In the front row there are

J. C. Junk of Olympia, Wash., accompanied him on the trip to Salem. Mr. Junk was much interested in the canning and woolen industries here as he handles quantities of that class of merchandise.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Berry and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bryan were domiciled at the Benton hotel in Corvallis during the convention of pharmacists.

Mr. and Mrs. Max O. Buren are home from a motor trip over the McKenzie Pass as far east as Bend.

Mrs. William McGilchrist, Jr., and children, William, Jr., and Josephine, left yesterday morning for Newport for a ten-day vacation at the McGilchrist cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Runyon have returned home from an interesting motor trip to Reedsport.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hart and daughter, Arthur White and Miss White of Cottage Grove, Oregon, and Chico, California, are weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Conner.

The regular meeting of Sons of Veterans, Camp No. 6, will be held Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan J. Fry, Sr. and daughter, Miss Priscilla Fry, are home from a month's excursion into the interior of Alaska.

Mrs. W. N. Savage and Mrs. George O. Savage have had as their house-guest for several weeks, their sister, Mrs. Ellen Merrall of Long Prairie, Minnesota. Master Don Kelly, a nephew, has also been a guest at the Savage homes. Mrs. Merrall left late in the week for Tacoma where she will be the guest for a short time of her son, Dewayne Merrall, before returning to Long Prairie. Master Kelly accompanied Mrs. Merrall as far as Portland.

The announcement of plans for the mid-summer garden "at home" of yesterday on the attractive grounds surrounding the Homer Smith residence on North Summer street, was the incentive for an early morning excursion that led to various other interesting gardens throughout the city.

The garden of Mrs. Arthur M. Vassall at 1820 Chemekeka street was one of the loveliest of all those visited, leading down as it seven members of the group who are more than eighty years of age. During its history the class has had two teachers, Mrs. Emma Cornelius and Mrs. M. C. Findley, Mrs. Findley is the present teacher. William Cummings, too, has taught the class at different intervals. Among the presidents of the class have been: R. F. Kumlter, E. J. Swafford, and U. G. Holt, Mr. Holt filling the office at the present time.

does through great shade trees to the water's edge. The first view from the street is particularly effective, the visitor, or the mere passerby, for that matter, gaining at once full view of the colorful curves of the border. At this time of the year, the erytholium, clarkia, carnation pinks, and late Canterbury bells give the chief color. Swinging around the corner one comes to the wild flower garden notable for its sedum. Protected seed beds, in which Mrs. Vassall is growing some choice specimens of bella donna are also back of the house.

In the garden of Professor Florian Von Eschen at 1775 Court street, an interesting border effect has been worked out to take the place of the solid beds. The attractive fence at the rear of the place has been added this year and now Professor and Mrs. Von Eschen are planning on garden benches for the three largest trees. An expanse of lawn stretches from the back of the house to the wide border that forms but one side of the court of new grass from then to the fence. Professor Von Eschen has now replaced his tulip and iris bulbs with gladioli. A clump of Peruvian daffodils give a dash of color to the northwest border.

In leaving the Von Eschen home, and just before reaching the attractive garden surrounding the home of Mrs. W. E. Anderson, the president of the Salem Garden club, one's eye finds the window box at the home of Dr. and Mrs. D. X. Beecher, 1546 Court street, probably one of the most beautiful in the city. Hall Cane geraniums, blue lobelia, and calceolaryum give an uncommonly satisfactory effect.

Mrs. W. E. Anderson's garden, to which one comes next, is well-located at 1491 Court street, with the owners having the joy of a lot covered only with oak trees and a high hedge of fir trees screened the building from Center street. The white water lilies in the Italian garden, with its pool and cypresses planned by J. W. Maruny, as Salem people will remember, are in exquisite mid-summer bloom. Deep borders of phlox, marigolds, and clarkia have been arranged under H. V. Bateham's direction. Pleasing arrangements of salvia, marigolds, colas, asters, and red geraniums have been planted in well-placed beds around the east front of the receiving ward. At the back of the state hospital a series of triangular beds have been defined, with the apex all meeting around a smaller square bed of cannas.

Two attractive homes in the Oaks addition are those of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lee and Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Davis where yards will soon be places of beauty.

In passing the Parrish Junior High school, the flowers and shrubs both next the walls and in the window boxes are flourishing satisfactorily. The Salem Garden club having had charge of the work. Mrs. R. H. Cooley's yard, in this part of the city, shows both interesting rock-work and a tea-garden.

Of course, one of Salem's most distinctive gardens is that of F. G. Deckebach at 940 D street where the white fences, the artificial lake of running water, iris borders, and rock work make of half a block the show place of the neighborhood. A variety of plants have been put in around the edges of a pool which fills from a spray.

One is interested in going now from north to south Salem. Within the past few weeks the exceptionally beautiful landscaping that is being done on the Curtis Cross place on Fairmount Hill has grown consistently effective. The plantings between the rocks have already been made, and a lush lawn is already growing. The new home of Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Shipley will be surrounded with attractive grounds as is the Cradlebaugh home nearby.

Going back toward town once more, the really new garden around the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Kirk, at 985 South High street, compelled attention. With the knowledge that the Kirks moved to their new home only last September, the landscaping in surprisingly well-developed with brick walls, and walks of scattered segments of cement embedded in the grass, already arranged. A single deep terrace takes one to
