MRS. MARGARET McCLUER, National War Mother, of Kansas City, brought her official visit in Salem to a close last evening. Following Mrs. McCluer's arrival here on Wednesday she was entertained at a reception in Willson park. The high school orchestra, "The Blues Boys," of which Marvin Headrick is the director, furnished the instrumental music of the evening, while the vocal numbers were given in a pleasing manner by Mrs. Harry Harms, who was accompanied by Mrs. Frank Zinn. The playing of the electric fountain was a festive feature of the evening. Mrs. McCluer responded in an appropriate manner when called upon to address the audience assembled.

Yesterday at noon covers were placed for 40 at the luncheon served in the Chinese room at the Gray Belle, honoring Mrs. McCluer. No arrangements were made for a luncheon hour program due to the limited time available. The important business of the day was the board meeting which followed at which every member, with the exception of Mrs. George H. Alden, for the past seven weeks, Mr. Douglas having joined the family on the fourth of July at Newport. The following week Mr. and Mrs. Douglas left for a trip to Seattle, Tacoma and British Columbia, returning to Portland over the past weekend. On Sunday they enjoyed a trip up the Columbia highway. Since their arrival in Salem again on Monday evening these popular visitors have been treated to enjoyable shorter excursions, on Tuesday going to Mehama.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Evans and daughter, Joan, of Fruitland, and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Pugh of Shreveport, La., are home from ten days at Cannon Beach and Seaside. Mr. and Mrs. Pugh are now in attendance at the Elks' convention in Portland, after which they will return to the Evans home for another month. A little later in the season Mr. and Mrs. Evans and Mr. and Mrs. Pugh are planning a motor trip into southern Oregon before the Pughs return to Shreveport, where Mr. Pugh, the brother of Mrs. Evans, is internal revenue collector.

The annual all-day picnic at Mountain View, three and a half miles west of Salem in Polk county, is being anticipated with a great deal of interest by numbers of local people. The picnic will be an all-day affair of tomorrow—Saturday, July 18. The general public is invited to participate in the festivities of the day.

Among Salem visitors in Portland yesterday for the Elks' parade were: Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Cross, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dyer, and Dr. and Mrs. George R. Vehrs.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Douglas (leavel McGilchrist) and their children will leave on the 10:12 Shasta this morning for their home in Berkeley, Cal. Mrs. Douglas and the children have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William McGilchrist, Sr., the parents of Mrs. Douglas, for the past seven weeks, Mr. Douglas having joined the family on the fourth of July at Newport. CAMP PARTY TO LEAVE

ADVANCE GROUP OFF FOR NESKOWIN ON MONDAY

The Salem YMCA boys camp, advance party leaves Monday in charge of Ben Kimber of the Marion County YMCA. He will be accompanied by Ray Miller, John Sills, Warren Keeney and Dwight Adams. They will go ahead to set up the camp and have it in readiness for the regular campers who come Thursday.

This year's camp is located on one of the most beautiful spots in Oregon. It is about two miles above Neskwon, in a smooth, fine sand beach. A short hiking distance from the camp is Fletcher's Lake.

The camp program this year is one of the best and strongest yet planned. Practical talks and lectures in first aid, forestry, nature study, bible study and pioneer and scout tests will be given. All of the swimming and hiking periods will be strictly supervised. There will be on hand at all swimming periods.

Bits For Breakfast

The Elks had the floor— And they had about everything else in Oregon yesterday. And welcome as the flowers of spring.

Flax tours and experiments are all right; there is a great deal to do in deciding upon the best soils and locations, and in developing methods to get a larger tonnage of fiber from each ton of straw. But the fact that the Salem district can produce as fine a quality of fiber flax as can be grown in all the world is now and was long since commonplace. What we need most is work along the lines of treating and manufacturing the flax when it is grown; getting down to brass tacks. There is a world of room in this respect.

Mrs. Margaret McCluer, national war mother, last evening placed a wreath at the base of the soldier monument on the Marion county court house grounds. She represents the organization that is carrying on with the needs of the World War men and their families after a great many others have forgotten them. Mrs. McCluer says the soldier monument here is one of the most beautiful in the United States; and especially one of the most beautiful in its setting, with the court house and the blind lady with the scales of justice in the background, and the living Christmas tree a part of the picture. The wreath was made up at the state hospital, with red, white and blue flowers. It is worth going to see.

Rome Building Church to House Sacred Stair

Rome Building Church to House Sacred Stair

ROME—The dream of three-quarters of a century to erect a church worth of the ecclesiastical dignity and solemnity of the world-famous Sacred Stair is at last about to be realized. Thanks to the small offerings of thousands of Holy Year pilgrims, who go up the 28 steps on their knees, saying a special prayer on each, most of the necessary funds for the edifice have been raised. These offerings have been supplemented, of course, by a number of large donations.

Rome Building Church to House Sacred Stair

The architectural plans have been drawn up and the cornerstone was laid recently by Cardinal Pompili.

Rome Building Church to House Sacred Stair

The Sacred Stair, for centuries situated in a small unobtrusive building just across the square from the great basilica of St. John Lateran, is according to church legend, the same one on which Jesus trod when he came before Pilate. Some centuries ago one of the Christian Roman emperors went to Palestine, purchased the staircase and had it brought to Rome as a perpetual sacred relic. A special indulgence of nine years is granted to devout worshippers who ascend the steps on their knees.

Rome Building Church to House Sacred Stair

Nearly 75 years ago Pope Pius IX began to interest himself in erecting a larger church to house the sacred staircase, and the project has been furthered by each succeeding pontiff, including Leo XIII, Pius XI, Benedict XV and, finally, Pius XI. The church is to be on the style of a basilica, 31 meters long and 20 wide. It will have three naves set off by marble columns, and much of the ancient decorations, such as rare frescoes, will be preserved from the present church to help decorate the new structure. A prominent place will be allotted for the inscription of the church's motto: "There is no more sacred spot than this in the whole world."
