Not Dem Convention; Slayer's Counsel

THE OREGON BONUS LAW IS AN UNQUALIFIED SUCCESS

Not a Dollar Has Been Lost to the State Out of More Than $15,000,000 Loaned to the Veterans of the World War, Declares Secretary of State Kozser—State Even Has Made $2564 on Bonus Loan Foreclosures

(The following is from the current number of the Pacific Legion, the official organ of the American Legion for Oregon, published in Portland. Secretary of State Kozser is able to make a statement concerning the operations of the soldier bonus law that is most gratifying.)

"An unqualified success, both as relates to the interests of the state and the interests of her ex-service men," was the unequivocal statement of Sam A. Kozser, secretary of state, relative to the operation of the World War veterans' loan act, in a highly interesting paper read before the American Legion convention at Prineville.

"Any effort made to discredit the operation of the act must proceed from a woeful lack of knowledge of the facts, or is an intentional propaganda set on foot for no purpose other than to impeach the integrity of you men who offered your lives in the defense of the nation," declared Secretary Kozser.

In continuing, he showed that out of a grand total of $15,318,000 loaned to ex-service men by the state not a dollar has been lost, and that instead of losing money on loan foreclosures necessary, the state has so far made a net profit of $2,564.82 on the property it has acquired and re-sold to private parties!

Secretary Kozser predicted that it would be unnecessary to sell many more state bonds to take care of demands under the law, that the payments on outstanding loans and the annual tax levy would take care of all needs. Within a short time, he believed 6,308 have been fully approved as to title, and 6,224 have been completed and the amount of the loan turned over to the borrower.

"The loans actually made represent a grand total of $15,318,000, and before proceeding further with this narrative I am going straight to the heart of the subject for the brief observation that out of this total of over $15,000,000 which the state has loaned to its ex-service men, not a single dollar has been lost. It is doubtful if any privately conducted business making loans on real property and handling such a vast amount of money can show a better record.

"Loans to ex-service men have been made on real property in every county in the state. Multnomah county is first with a total of 2,280 loans aggregating the sum of $5,933,700, and Marion county follows next with 338 loans, representing a total sum of $817,500.

"This brings us to the very important matter of delinquencies and consequent foreclosures. The state has thus far found it necessary to foreclose only 65 of the mortgages on real property held as security for the repayment of the more than 6,200 loans from the World War veterans' state aid fund. In addition to this, 21 parcels of real property upon which installments were delinquent were deeded by the borrowers to the state in lieu of foreclosure, thus relieving the state of foreclosure proceedings and costs. The state had loaned a total of $238,618.76 on these lands. In some 30 additional cases by reason of delinquency the foreclosure of the mortgage has been directed by the commission.

"Of the properties acquired by the state under foreclosure and by deed, 22 parcels have been re-sold to private individuals. The remainder are being held by the state and are rented or leased on the best terms obtainable.

"Now, here is an interesting point. Instead of losing money on its loans, the state has so far actually made a net profit of $2,564.82 on the property which it has acquired by deed or foreclosure proceedings and re-sold to private parties. The amount of money which the state had invested in these 22 parcels was $59,962, which includes the amounts of foreclosure and re-sale commissions. These properties were actually sold for a net aggregate total of $61,440.75. Add to this the revenue received by the state in the form of rent pending re-sale, and the amounting to $1,086.13, and we arrive at a total of $62,526.88, which represents the gross proceeds accruing to the state from such properties.

"Enough, I think, has been said to establish indisputable that the World War veterans' farm and home loan act has been entirely successful in its operation even from a purely business viewpoint. Beneficence and reward for patriotic services were undoubtedly among the motives for enacting this measure, but if individuals are in this way being aided toward their goal of financial independence, the state itself has gained immeasurably thereby. So many of the loans have gone into improvements, and the developments, and the development of strictly new properties that the wealth of the state has been increased enormously. New homes have sprung up in every community, workmen have been provided with lucrative employment, adjoining properties have been enhanced in value, and the sum total of the state's prosperity has been augmented by literally millions of dollars."

THE PRICE SHOE CO.

Jersey City, N. J.—"For years my skin would break out every once in a while—and ointments did very little to help me," writes Robert Koenig. "I read a doctor's article stating that pimply skin usually comes from the stomach—and bowels not getting rid of the poisons. I tried Carter's Little Liver Pills for a few days—and since that time my skin is smooth and clear. Now I tell my friends the right way of getting rid of a broken out skin—and also of steering clear of upset stomach and sick headache. Carter's are all you claim for them."
