A home wedding of the week, attractive in its simplicity, was that at which Miss Margaret Collins, one of the most charming brides of the season was united in marriage to Mr. Caryl Carson. The service was conducted at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, July 19, with Rev. Charles B. Ward, pastor of the First Congregational church officiating. The young couple were unattended.

The bride was lovely in her gown of rose satin and lace. Her bouquet was a cascade of sweet peas and Cecil Brunner roses. A two-course wedding luncheon followed the ceremony. The rooms throughout were decorated with sweet peas, gladioli, and ferns.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson left late in the afternoon for Hartford, Conn., where they will make their home. Both Mr. and Mrs. Carson are well-known in Salem. STREAM POLLUTION DECLARED MENACE

A very thorough and scientifically conducted investigation has been made. Dr. Ward has been called upon to conduct this investigation. Dr. Ward said last night the eastern states are realizing now have taken steps to prevent stream pollution. In the Potomac and Connecticut rivers, where a few hundred years ago there were enormous yearly runs of salmon, there are today no runs at all. This condition is brought about by carelessly allowing dams to be built in rivers without provision being made for salmon to mount them when they desire to go up stream to spawn, by allowing city waste to empty into the rivers and by allowing private manufacturing plants to dump their waste into the rivers.

France faced the same problem a good many years ago and met it by prohibiting the dumping of any waste in rivers and by establishing plants to treat all

Today the Rhine river has a larger yearly salmon run than the Sacramento river. The Sacramento is regarded as one of the best salmon streams in this country. The Rhine has been fished for 1500 years and the country surrounding the river has been settled for as long. The Sacramento river has been fished for a very few years, and already the amount of fish is diminishing.

The answer to the problem is easy if met now, according to Dr. Ward. It is a question of spending a thousand dollars now or a million dollars later on. New York City is preparing to spend $100,000,000 in an effort to save the remnant of her fishing industry.

Oregon has an industry worth billions of dollars and unless the people of the state awaken to the danger that threatens this industry, through carelessly allowing the streams to be polluted, and dams over which the salmon can not run to be built, the industry will diminish just as it has in the eastern part of the United States, and finally it will disappear altogether," Dr. Ward said.

FARM CONDITIONS MUCH BETTER, JARDINE SAYS

SECRETARY SAYS AGRICULTURE IS "CONVALESCENT"

Farmers Getting Out of Shadow of Bankruptcy; Cattle and Hogs Good

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(By Associated Press.)—Agriculture is "safely convalescent," Secretary Jardine declared today in a review of the situation as seen from his eight weeks western tour.

Farmers were getting out of the "shadow of bankruptcy" and there was a return of confidence. In short agriculture appeared to be "gradually getting its house in order again," after the post-war disruption.

Declaring the farmers themselves were competent to work out their own problems, Mr. Jardine said that if he got the right impression there will not be any great demand for farm legislation. Many of the farmers told him "to let it alone as things were going along pretty well."

Cattle and hog men are better off than they have been since 1920, and I do not see any sheep men down at the mouth. If the wheat men are careful in marketing their crop they will get good prices and they are learning not to flood the markets.

"Conditions in the corn belt are reversed from what they were a year ago when hogs were still cheap and corn was a poor and expensive crop. Indications are for a large cotton crop and a favorable income in the belt as a whole."

"There are certain dark spots, however, in the general agricultural picture. It is true. The southwest is struggling under prolonged and serious drought. The east does not show marked improvement. This region was hit last year by low prices for potatoes, hay and other important crops, and the dairy crop has had economic difficulties."

Regarding the proposed changes in the operation of the Chicago board of trade to prevent wide price fluctuations, Secretary Jardine declared he had reason to believe that the board itself would
