Stayton

Rev. Hay, pastor of the Christian church, who with his family left here some five weeks ago for a trip to Utah, returned home this week, and met his regular appointment at the church Sunday morning. The trip was made by auto and was an enjoyable one for the family. The purpose of the trip was to visit Mrs. Hay's parents who live in Utah. Earl C. Downing, who is a Bible student at the school of theology in Eugene, and a son of Everett Downing of this place, filled the pulpit during the pastor's absence.

The Willamette Grocers' association held a picnic in the Masonic park here on Thursday of last week which proved an enjoyable event of the week. Business was suspended at noon and a half holiday taken by all the business concerns of the town. Swimming, sports, races, cracker eating contests and other amusements kept the crowd well entertained. A bountiful supply of ice cream and cake and other grocery confections were dispensed freely to the crowd with good effect. On account of the busy season, the attendance was light.

Another outstanding, enjoyable event of the week was the picnic Saturday evening on the banks of the Santiam one mile east of town when the paper makers from Stayton motored out here to enjoy a feed and trollic along the shores of this picturesque mountain stream. At least a dozen carloads of merry makers composed the crowd. Rustic seats and tables had been prepared, where the feast was spread; games and pastime amusements were enjoyed after the lunch. Stayton residents enjoy these visits, and invite them to come again.

Another evidence of the progressive spirit of W. A. Weddle, Stayton undertaker is the new funeral coach which he has just added to his already well equipped establishment. Mr. Weddle went over to Portland Friday and drove the new hearse home.

The new bus has but little resemblance to the old fashioned hearse. The Buick chassis has a body of the limousine order, finished and upholstered in Buckingham gray, and is a handsome coach, as well as one among the best of the hearse family on the Pacific coast. Mr. Weddle is justly proud of his new possession.

It is reported that one of the young women who came over with the Stayton crowd to attend the grocermen's picnic here Thursday afternoon, came near losing her life by drowning while swimming at the park. It is said her cries for help failed to bring aid at first, as there were so many bathers, all thought her calls a part of the fun; however, after she had gone down for the second time, some one realized her need of help, and assisted her to shallow water where she was soon restored.

The owner of the woolen mills was here last week looking over his new possessions, and seemed to be more than pleased with the outlook. The final papers which released Mr. Creith from ownership were but recently transferred and the new management put into possession.

Mrs. M. Hirsztiefen who was run down by an automobile on the highway near the Stayton Cannery company's plant, and sustained serious injury to her foot some five weeks ago is now able to leave her bed, but is unable to walk on the injured member. On account of her advanced age, recovery has been slow.

On account of her advanced age, recovery has been slow.

Andrew Lambrecht, son of George S. Lambrecht of this place who was seriously injured at the Crabtree sawmill near Mohama some ten days ago, has so far recovered as to be on the down town streets again. The young man was struck in the breast by a broken cable, and is still very sore from the force of the blow.

Miss Cecelia Mielki went to Portland Friday for a week-end visit with her brother, George, and sister, Helen. Miss Mielki returned home Sunday night, bringing her small nephew George Edward with her for an extended visit.

Mrs. W. H. Hobson who has been in poor health for some time has been ordered to bed by her physician, and it is hoped by her friends that enforced rest and quiet will restore her to normal health.

Joe Walker, convicted of the possession of the huge liquor still seized near Mt. Angel on April 28, was released from the county jail yesterday on $3,000 bond, pending his appeal to the supreme court. The order of probable cause was signed yesterday by Circuit Judge Percy R. Kelly. The signing of the order was mandatory, under a statute passed by the 1919 legislature, which provided that in case bail or bond is presented, the defendant in an appeal to the supreme court, may be released from jail.

Walker was sentenced to one year in jail and a fine of $3,000 in the circuit court, upholding Brazier C. Small, justice of the peace, who passed on the case as a preliminary to the circuit court hearing. The case was appealed on grounds of illegality in the search warrant.

The re-trial of the other three defendants, Lester Dixon, Henry Johnson and John Andrews, which was set for Monday, July 27, has been postponed until the October term of court. The jury in the first trial disagreed as to the guilt of the three men, tried on a charge of manufacture of liquor.
