

SAILOR IS SUICIDE
HOZZIAM, Wash., July 29.—Oscar Engstrom, Swedish sailor who shipped recently aboard the steam schooner Helene, jumped overboard and was lost during the vessel's trip north from San Francisco. Captain Holman reported on the arrival of the Helene here today. Captain Holman said he knew little of Engstrom and could not account for the action.

WARNING PLATES PLACED AT BAD INTERSECTIONS

MOTORISTS CAUTIONED TO DRIVE AT SLOW SPEED

Lack of Finances Prevents General Adoption of System Throughout City

Five of the latest type of warning plates have been placed at intersections of streets known to the police as particularly good places for accidents to frequently occur. The new signals are painted a bright yellow and caution the motorist to proceed slowly. These plates are on Miller at Commercial; Lincoln at Commercial; Church at Court; Cottage at Court and Twenty-first at State.

According to Martin Poulsen, city recorder, the plates cost $5 each and only the low condition of the city's finances is retarding the placing of additional plates. When funds are available other of the dangerous intersections will be marked in order to help cut down accidents.

The plates are of malleable metal and are designed to withstand the pressure of many tons. Cast iron plates, it is said, will crumple under the load of a heavy truck. This type is gaining in favor throughout the United States and already Portland has installed approximately 300 of them. Oregon City has its dangerous crossings marked in a similar manner while other cities throughout the state are placing them on the streets. Vancouver, Wash., has designated several of its streets as through arteries and plates demand that motorists bring their machines to a complete stop before driving onto or crossing the main artery.

So far none of the Salem streets have been designated as through arteries and no effort is being made to have automobiles brought to a complete stop.

PEACHES GETTING RIPE

HARVEST IN COUNTY TO COMMENCE IN FEW WEEKS

Peach growers will begin harvesting the yellow Crawford variety within three weeks, S. H. Van Trump, Marion county fruit inspector, stated yesterday. The yellow clings and some of the white varieties are already on the market. Many of the orchards report smaller crops than usual, Mr. Van Trump said, due to the fact that in many cases the buds did not set.

Prospects for excellent returns from Bartlett pears are evidenced by the fact that buyers are promising $70 per ton for the fruit. Last year the price was $55 a ton.

Pear orchards this year are spotty, however, and in only a few yards will a full yield be received. Bartletts will be ready for picking about the middle of August.
