NATIONAL ADVERTISING ONE OF THE GREATEST HELPS IN STABALIZING OUR GROWTH AND PROSPERITY

It does not cost appreciably more in freight charges to reach the 100,000,000 people east of the Rockies than it does to reach the 12,000,000 on the western slope; it costs very much less to land a car of fruit or vegetables or other of our products in New York or Boston or Chicago than to send the same car to Denver-

And this takes into consideration only rail freight charges. The development of shipping in large quantities by water makes the difference in favor of the eastern markets in many sections even more favorable to our producers and our manufacturers and shippers of local products-

And the freight rates to parts of Europe and the Orient on Salem products are lower than to many parts of the United States; and thus the wide world is our market, and it will pay to advertise and otherwise exploit the high quality things we have to sell in all lands, and to market the products of our soil as they are harvested or in manufactured form is one of the best markets for Oregon prunes. England has been taking large quantities of our prunes almost ever since we have produced prunes. The list is extending constantly.

With national and international advertising, Salem is no pent up Utica-

On the contrary, the world is her oyster. We will draw an increasing stream of money from wider and wider distances for the products of our soil-and it will be new money, and the resources instead of being exhausted will increase country's manufactures. The growth of the industry keeps Digges. constantly; and this will come about with the aid of general pace with the development of better roads. The registration advertising.

So national advertising is a subject of vital importance to Salem and the Salem district-

Concerning her loganberry juice, the letter in the Slogan columns of H. S. Gile deserves attention. He likely knows whereof he speaks-

There is a gigantic industry right within the grasp of our people. All that is required is leadership, and the kind of organization that will stay organized.

LET US BE CONSISTENT

It is inconceivable that the local chamber of commerce from the fact that our own peowill endorse opposition to the extension of the Oregon Trunk Railroad into the Klammath section of this state.

The following resolution—in part—in the hands of a gon. committee from the chamber is clearly in the interest of the Southern Pacific railroad and expresses denial of right of back. It will come back through competition from another line:

"Resolved, that the Chamber of Commerce of Salem, Oregon, express its confidence in the intention and ability of the Southern Pacific to adequately serve and develop the territory its construction program penetrates and be it further resolved we oppose duplication of expenditure and operation in territory that is, or will be, adequately served by one line, and be it further resolved that future railroad construction should be directed to the opening of new territory in our productive state."

It is proposed to send copies of the resolution to the I. C. C. and to the public service commission of Oregon.

This section of the state has been and is still friendly to the Southern Pacific but to seek to deny to the people of any section of the state or to another railroad equal rights in regard to patronage is neither right nor good policy for any chamber of commerce.

This matter of competition must be settled by the Inter- immense proportions. It you can state Commerce Commission finally. CONCERT CURTAILED

LEIPSIC .- For the first time since the founding of the Gewandhaus concerts in 1781 a visiting orchestra, the Saxonian State, will be included in the season's program. The extraordinary duties imposed upon the Gewandhaus orchestra by the reconstruction of the Leipsic municipal opera has caused the city council to curtail the concerts. The Gewandhaus orchestra will be available for only 18 concerts during the season. while the Saxonian State will be heard in two.
