

Shirts

The selection of haberdashery, to a great extent, rests with the individual and a definite color scheme should be kept in mind when the various purchases are made.

A season or so ago, white shirts with collars attached were the only acceptable types, but this year novelty shirts of neat patterns and pastel shades, figured effects and stripings are exerting an appreciable influence. They are made up in fancy madras, oxford, percale, flannel and silk. Call and look over our assortment.

Mayor Interrupts Meeting—
Because of continued complaints for a period of more than a week, Mayor Giesy found it necessary to call a halt to the meetings being held in the big tent on South Commercial by a religious sect known as the Holy Rollers and headed by R. D. Bullock. Noises, shouting and singing continued until early hours in the morning, disturbing the residents of the vicinity. Last Saturday Miss Lillian Walker was called to the police station and notified that the services must cease at 11 o'clock. She immediately left the city and Bullock took charge of the meetings, which were continued. When midnight was reached and the noise continued unabated, Mayor Giesy and two patrolmen visited the tent and promptly and permanently adjourned the session. According to the mayor, several girls were lying on the floor, throwing their arms and legs around as if they were crazy. It is understood that the Holy Rollers are making efforts to hold their meetings at the state fair grounds.

Will Erect Apartment—
A building permit was obtained from the city recorder Friday by Eda L. Bessoweth for an apartment building at 1330 and 1340 South Fourteenth, to be erected at a cost of $6400. W. H. Street obtained a permit for the erection of a dwelling at 2455 Lee, to cost $1200.

Visitors Are Barred—
Because so many people called at the Rigdon mortuary to view the body of Bert Oregon Jones, convicted slain in a battle with guards at the state prison Wednesday night, that the body could not be prepared for burial, the management was forced to tack a notice on the door Friday morning calling attention that no one would be permitted to see the body. It is estimated that several thousands viewed the remains, a constant stream calling at the building ever since the body was taken in charge by the coroner Wednesday night.

Window Is Looted—
Some time after the Thursday midnight inspection of stores by Harry Rowe, merchant patrolman, robbers rifled the show case in front of the C. P. Bishop store on North Commercial, taking away all the sweaters in the display cabinet, probably half a dozen in all. Sufficient glass was cut and smashed to enable a man to enter
