ROSS C. MILES ADDRESSES SCOTTS MILLS CLUBS

Flax culture and the lessons which have been learned this year concerning the best methods of growing flax was the subject matter for an address last night by Ross C. Miles, secretary of the new Miles Linen Mill, before the Scotts Mills Community club. The necessity of early planting that has been shown in the yields of this year was particularly stressed by Mr. Miles.

John Porter, county commissioner, was present to speak on the road program of this year and plans for the county market roads for the next five years.

J. D. Dickson, president of the community club, recently notified the local chamber of commerce that Scotts Mills would have an exhibit at the annual corn show in Salem. Scotts Mills was the first community to accept the invitation of the local chamber. Before sending their exhibit to the armory at Salem the Scotts Mills people are to make a display of
