SALEM, OREGON, SUNDAY MORNING, AUGUST 23, 1925

RINGLING BROTHERS AND BARNUM & BAILEY COMBINED CIRCUS TO BE HERE SATURDAY 29TH

Spangleland—the land of the circus—abounds in quaint contrasts and curious little incongruities proving the old truth that human nature is the same the world over.

For example, beautiful Rose Rieffenach, the Hungarian equestrienne with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey combined circus, would never think of entering the arena before John Slater, the faithful old clown, came to give her milk-white steed, "Pico," a friendly pat and a lump of sugar. This is a daily occurrence and the bond of comradeship between the veteran "Joey," the horse, and the fair rider is strong, human and free from sentiment. In a corner of his dressing room trunk, John Slater keeps a store of the succulent morsels and he never fails to give his equine friend his daily treat. Miss Rose smiles graciously and exchanges friendly greetings with the old clown before riding into the ring. She regards him as a harbinger of good luck.

With her sister Mitzel, Miss Rose has ridden in all the principal circuses of Continental Europe. Unlike the majority of "brother" and "sister" teams on the stage, where the ties are merely professional, the Rieffenach sisters can lay claim to genuine bonds of kinship. So also can the famous Clarks, those marvelous aerialists; the Nelson family of acrobats; and the Mijares brothers, the duo of reckless wire walkers who fairly electrify beholders of their thrilling somersaults on a slender strand of steel wire. "The Greatest Show on Earth" is a veritable congress of happy families. Of the more than 800 performers traveling with it this season, 85 per cent are bound by family ties. All will be here with the great circus next Saturday, August 29.

ROOSEVELT PARTY MAY EXTEND TRIP

Expedition in Search of Rare Animals May Push Into Chinese Section

AMRITSAR, India—The Roosevelt expedition, in quest of rare animals of the mountains and jungles of Asia, had not decided when it passed through Kashmir on its way to the Pamirs, by just what route it would return or how long its trip would last. There was some prospect, it was said, that the tour might be extended to January and that it was possible the expedition might be continued into China and not return to India.

The expedition, including Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, Kermit Roosevelt, George Cherrie and Mr. Cutting, a cinema operator, made the first part of its trip into India without incident. The members traveled over the well-known route from Srinagar to Leh and Ladakh. There is abundant game in that section of the country, but the expedition was interested in getting the ovis poli on the lofty heights of the Pamirs and the long-haired tiger in the Thianshan mountains of Chinese Turkestan.

The ovis poli, or Pamir sheep, is not so rare as some may think, but as it habitates the high part of the Pamir range, the shooting of it is made difficult. This animal is the largest of the sheep family and sometimes weighs 300 pounds. Its head is beautified by its horns, each of which grows into a spiral form, five to six feet around the curve. The long-haired tiger is found in the Chinese Turkestan regions, often grows to a length of 12 feet.

The ovis poli, or Pamir sheep, is Rawalpindi by train in the blazing heat of May and reached Punjab when the thermometer registered 115 degrees in the shade. From Rawalpindi the party went by automobile 202 miles up and down the mountainside. The travelers while in the Kashmir valley were guests of Sir and Lady John B. Wood but they remained only sufficiently long for their transport arrangements to be made. Their haste in getting away was due to the fact that this year there is a cholera epidemic of more than ordinary proportions. Deaths have been occurring at the rate of 1,500 to 1,700 a week since April.

In the preparation of their equipment Colonel Roosevelt and his associates were ably assisted while Kashmir by Major A. J. Hinde, assistant resident of Kashmir and British joint commission of Ladakh. In the transportation of their equipment and supplies coolies and yaks were used during the first stages of the journey throughout the Leh regions. Coolies are hired for 24 cents a day and ponies for 30 cents a day as far as Leh.

During the first 100 miles to Leh the expedition met Rev. and Mrs. Heber of the Moravian mission; Mr. and Mrs. Owen Jones of Chicago, and Major George Van B. Gillan, consul general at Kashmir, who represents the American as well as British interests.

In order to go into Chinese Turkestan the Roosevelt expedition was obliged to obtain permits from the Peking government which enabled them to enter territory which is truly a sportsman's paradise and very little traveled by white people.

Only 12 passes a year are given to travelers to visit Leh and Ladakh, six for the first half and six for the latter half, this being necessary because of transit difficulties and also because of food problems, much of the food having to be taken from Srinagar.

In addition to their interest in the hunting of rare animals members of the expedition always were confronted with food problems and some of them, especially Kermit Roosevelt, took every opportunity to help solve these. He always had ready his fishing rods and used them to good advantage for the entire party in the Dras and Tarkand rivers.

The progress and success of the Roosevelt expedition is being watched with considerable interest by English sportsmen now in India, although the news that filters through is very meager. It is much the same as it was on the last Everest expedition when the news Indian received of the mountain climbers was dated London. Most of the dispatches that have come through up to this time merely said: "All's well with the Roosevelts," or words to that effect.
