ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Bertha Vick, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Vick, and Mr. Roy F. Jacobson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Jacobson of Little Falls, Minnesota. Miss Vick has chosen Sunday, August 30, as the date for her wedding, the ceremony to take place at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at the bride's home. Rev. H. F. Pemberton, pastor of the Leslie Methodist church, will officiate. The bride will be attended by her cousin, Miss Hollis Vick, while Mr. Bert Johnson of Eugene will act as best man. Little Miss Harriet Marie Vick, sister of the bride, will be flower girl.

On a recent evening Miss Vick was the guest of honor at a delightful miscellaneous shower which the members of the Schubert Octette, of which she is accompanist, gave for her in Hager's Grove. A picnic supper preceded the giving of the gifts.

The hostesses included: Miss Eva Roberts, Mrs. Glenn Gregg, Miss Ruth Bedford, Miss Helga Amsler, Miss Grace Fawk, Miss Myra Gleason, Miss Ruth Reid, Mrs. Halldon Hyort.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Phillips and son, Billy, are leaving this morning for Chicago with stops enroute in Nebraska and Iowa. They plan an absence of several weeks.

Mrs. Harry M. Styles and daughter, Miss Maureen Styles, returned over the week-end from a five-weeks vacation in Eastern Washington. The entire trip was by motor. In Pullman, Washington, where Mrs. Styles and her daughter spent the first two weeks of their vacation, they were extensively entertained by their friends with dinners and motor trips. In Huntville they were guests of Mrs. Styles' mother, Mrs. S. J. Hill. They also visited in Walla Walla and Spokane, going on into Idaho before their return.

Mrs. W. H. Steusloff, Mrs. G. F. Chambers and sons, Richard and Douglas, are home from Pacific City where they have been domiciled for a number of weeks at their summer home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bragg have as their house guests this week Mrs. D. J. McLellan and children, Dan and Sally, of Bend, Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Devers and family are home after a delightful vacation at Rockaway. Mr. Devers is attorney for the state highway commission.

The 16th annual meeting of former Wisconsinites was held at the state fair grounds August 21, with all partaking of a picnic dinner spread in the machinery building. A smaller attendance than usual was reported, due to the busy season. Election of officers for 1928 resulted as follows: President, Edward Dunigan; vice president, George Cummings; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Noyes. A rising vote of thanks was given to the outgoing officers. A. C. Bohrnstedt and Mrs. P. T. Bouffleur, for the splendid service rendered the past four years. A short program of comic readings by Mrs. Jennie Jones; a group of songs by Lorraine and Theodora Bouffleur; readings by Mrs. Noyes, Mrs. G. Ed Ross, Mr. Bunn, Mrs. Hofma, and impromptu speeches from various members; a little poem by Merle Harvey, and a collection of songs which all knew completed an afternoon of social pleasure. A mid-winter gathering was voted, every one voicing approval of these get-togethers.

Circus Kiddies Have Tiger Playmate

"When I am teaching I like to have a youngster or two around," says Alf Loyal, master dog pedagogue with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circuses. "It always makes training easier."

He makes the assertion that all animals are fond of children.

"Take Judy Jahn for example," says Loyal. "While her father was perfecting his thrilling perch act in quarters last winter, Judy usually spent the mornings with me in the dog barn. I was for the first time teaching police dogs to scale absolutely perpendicular walls. Once they got the hang of what I was after, all of them wanted to climb at one time. But that wouldn't do. As you probably know, this species are essentially 'one-man dogs.' Also, they are powerful animals. My assistant could hardly keep them in leash. Yet Judy had simply to smooth their heads and they would remain in a corner of the barn with her until I called them forth one at a time."

Salem friends of Mrs. W. H. George (Hazel Downing) are happy to know that she has arrived here from Los Angeles for a month's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Downing.

One of the most attractive week-end dinner parties was that last Friday evening at the Gray Belle when five members of the Alpha Xi Delta sorority entertained for the pleasure of a group of the younger girls who will enter college this season. Snaxdragons, delphinium and asters were used in the attractive centerpiece. The favors and place cards were in shades of yellow. The honor guests were Miss Edith Brotherton, Miss Janice McAsse, Miss Genevieve Elkins, Miss Ethelva Elkins of Eugene, Miss Faye Wassam, Miss Dorothy Baker, Miss Doris Loveland and Miss Mary Drager.

The hostesses were Miss Myrtle Pelker, Miss Odile Matthews, Miss Ruby Drager, Miss Mildred Hansen and Miss Danta Robbins.

Mrs. W. H. Byrd had the pleasure of an interesting guest during the early weeks of August in the person of Miss Marie Emge of Austin, Texas. Miss Emge is director of schools at the Texas children's training school.

Word from Judge and Mrs. P. J. Kuntz, who are en route east for a two months' vacation, announces them at Lake Louise—where the scenic beauty is well-nigh indescribable. Mrs. Kuntz writes that the falling snow gives the whole place the air of Christmas-tide.

Neskowin has had its veritable Salem colony during the late summer weeks, many having been domiciled at this favorite resort during practically the entire summer while others have taken the advantage of holiday week-ends and week and ten-day periods. During last week Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Kay, Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Lee Steiner, Mrs. J. W. Harbison, Mrs. Carlton Smith, Mrs. Prince Byrd, and Dr. and Mrs. L. S. Griffith and daughters, Miss Margaret and Miss Ruth Griffith, were enjoying periods of recreation at the beach.

Under the caption of "Kinds of Assistance Which Might be Offered," the management at the Oregon State training school for boys yesterday presented members of the institution committee of the Salem Woman's club with the following clarid suggestions:

1. Live and inspiring programs for voluntary Sundays.
 2. Month-old magazines for reading room.
 3. Games and toys for younger boys and for the hospital convalescents.
 4. Phonograph records.
- In making a survey of the institution, members of the committee were given a systematic insight into the creditable work being carried on. In printed form such a guest was presented with an ample idea of what a daily schedule may mean. Grouping the program under five heads, the women received their information in the following order: 1. Knowledge of the general program of the day from the time of rising—5:45—to the hour of retiring—at 9 p. m. 2. An understanding of the health program, including regular visits by both the doctor and the dentist. 3. Recreational work—programs, plays, moving pictures, etc. 4. Religious program, the

Translation of Commandments by Jews One of Interesting Features

It is interesting to note how the different commandments are translated. For instance there is the second, "Thou shalt make no graven images." An artist tells the following tale. He had made a three-quarter portrait of an old gentleman. "I wanted to model a bust of him," he explained, "but being an orthodox Jew, he refused. It seems that when Moses was descending from Mount Sinai with the commandments, and saw the golden calf which the children of Israel were worshipping, he crashed the tablets on a rock and strode back for a revised version. The new commandments contained a new clause—"Thou shalt make no graven images." Good Jews follow the commandment to the letter, an refusal to have busts or statues made of themselves."

Moses smashing the tablets in his wrath is one of the scenes in Cecil B. DeMille's screen version of "The Ten Commandments," which is now showing at the Grand theater at popular prices. In the picture, Theodore Roberts plays the part of Moses; Estelle Taylor, Miriam; Charles de Roche Ramesses the Magnificent; and James Neill, Aaron, priest of Israel. The story of this cinematic masterpiece was written by Jeanie Macpherson, and introduced such popular players as Leatrice Joy, Richard Dix, Nita Naldi, Rod La Rocque, Edythe Chapman, Robert Edeson, and Agnes Ayers.

ner miner and prospector and pioneer of the Coeur d'Alene district, died here early this morning. Keating came to Wardner 40 years ago and was the original locator of the Caledonia property and owned other mining groups here. He had acquired a fortune estimated at between $250,000 and $300,000 through mining operations.

Despite the fact that he had acquired riches, Keating lived in the same humble cabin at Wardner, in which he resided in 1885.

WILSON FILMS ARE BACK

LIFE OF WAR PRESIDENT IS OFFERED TONIGHT

So many were unable to get in to the First Christian church on Sunday, to witness the Woodrow Wilson Film-Memorial, and such favorable comment has been passed around about these unusual pictures, that quick arrangements have been concluded to have the films shown here again, while they are in this vicinity. They are to be presented again tonight, in the First Methodist church, at 8 o'clock, and the public is cordially invited by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Taylor, to attend. There is to be no admission charge. A silver offering will be taken toward meeting the expenses of presenting the films, which are always exhibited with special equipment and with operators and musical accompaniment sent along by the Woodrow Wilson Memorial society.

An added feature of this repeated presentation will be an address upon Woodrow Wilson by Mrs. Louise Palmer Weber, of Portland, who was associated with the war-president in his campaigns, and who will come to Salem from Portland for the occasion. So anxious were some of the local citizens to have the Wilson films shown again in Salem that the effort was made to have Eugene cancel one of its two screenings this week, but that could not be done on short notice and then Corvallis yielded its place to Salem. Last night the films were shown in a crowded auditorium at Albany, in the Methodist church. They are never exhibited commercially in theatres. Churches and educational institutions have the right to present them exclusively.

GRADE MATTER SETTLED

RAIL COMPANY NOT OBLIGED TO PAY ENTIRE COST

OLYMPIA, Aug. 25.—(By Associated Press.)—The supreme court today affirmed the Walla Walla court in holding that the Oregon-Washington railroad and navigation committee could not be obliged to pay the entire cost of constructing a grade crossing at the intersection of the Inland Empire highway with the Oregon-Washington line near the town of Attala.

The state which was the appellant in the case, contended that such payment could be exacted under the statute which makes such provisions in cases when newly constructed rail lines cross established highways, "circumstances which did not obtain in the instant case, the courts ruled."

BUDGET MUCH HIGHER

SEATTLE, Aug. 25.—Tentative totals for the city budget announced by city council clerks after footings were completed tonight were $9,509,144.51 for 1928 or an increase of $1,454,469.14 over last year. This represents an increase of approximately 17 mills in the next year's tax levy over the present figure.

WING IS DEFEATED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.—Mike Siegel, Oakland lightweight, won a 10-round decision over "Tuffy" Wing of Portland in the main event of a boxing card here tonight.
